There's No Secret, No Mystery About It

We simply have a greater purchasing power than any other house in town because of the tremendous volume of business of the GOUGH SYNDICATE. Armed with this power we enter the wholesale markets and command a lower price than others do. It's an old and iron-clad rule of business. We'd be very foolish not to use this power. We'd be more foolish not to turn it to your benefit as well as ours.
