

IMPOVERISHED BLOOD

A COMMON AND A DANGEROUS TROUBLE—YOU MUST ENRICH THE BLOOD TO ESCAPE DANGER.

Anaemia is simply a lack of blood. It is one of the most common and at the same time most dangerous diseases with which growing girls suffer. It is common because the blood so often becomes impoverished during development, when girls are too frequently allowed to over-study, overwork and suffer from a lack of exercise. It is dangerous because of the stealthiness of its approach, often being well developed before its presence is recognized, and because of its tendency to grow steadily worse, if not promptly checked, that it may run into consumption.

The value of the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be known to every mother in the land. These pills make new, rich blood, tone the organs and nerves, bring a glow of health to pale, sallow cheeks, and drive away the weakness, headaches, faintness, heart palpitation and loss of energy so noticeable in young girls who are suffering from anaemia. To all such Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an actual life saver. Miss Mabel McTavish, Prince Albert, Sask., says: "In my case I can only say that life had lost its magic; all work was a trial, and even pleasure only a task. When I went up a flight of stairs I was ready to drop from sheer weakness, and I had begun to think that life would be a continued burden. But all this is now changed, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These were recommended to me, and after taking them for about a month I found my health renewed. I could sleep better, my appetite returned, and I was so strong and well that housework was no longer a burden to me. My sister seemed to be going the same way last summer and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were at once sent for and two boxes made her as well as ever. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are now the prized medicine in our home, and doctor bills have been fewer since we discovered the virtues of this great medicine."

Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Lesson V.—Fourth Quarter, For Oct. 30, 1910.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxvi, 1-16. Memory Verse, 13—Golden Text, Mark xiv, 8—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

We are to have five lessons in this chapter, the greater portion of which is recorded by Mark and Luke also. The first five verses and the last three are in the regular order of events, two days before the Passover, and Jesus again announces that He is to be crucified (verse 2). The record says that not only had the chief priests, scribes and elders determined to kill Him, but they were actually consulting as to how they could do it in a quiet manner without an uproar, for they feared the people. "Then entered Satan into Judas, surnamed Iscariot, being of the number of the twelve, and he went his way and communed with the chief priests and captains how he might betray Him unto them," and for thirty pieces of silver he agreed to do it in the absence of the multitude (verse 15; Luke xxii, 3-6). Luke also tells us that during those last days He was in the daytime teaching in the temple, and at night He went out and abode in the mount that is called the Mount of Olives (xxi, 37). After such a record concerning Him whose witnesses we are and whose steps we are to follow shall we ever again complain if we are hated for His sake, if one who professed to be our friend joins the enemy against us.

The anointing by Mary is recorded by Mark and John also, but not by Luke. In Luke vii, 36-50, there is a record of an anointing which was also in the house of a man called Simon, but that Simon was no friend of Jesus, and the woman is unnamed and was confessedly a sinful woman.

The event of our lesson today was six days before the Passover, and it was at Bethany, in the house of Simon the leper, and Martha and Mary and Lazarus were all present. They made Him a supper, and Martha served, and Lazarus was one of them that sat at the table with Him (John xii, 1, 2). It was on that evening that Mary took the pound of very precious ointment of spikenard and brake the alabaster box and poured it both on His head and on His feet as He sat at meat, and the house was filled with the odor of the ointment. Compare the three records. Mary, like the other woman, wiped His feet with her hair, but the other wiped her own tears with what she had washed His feet, while Mary wiped them after she had anointed them with the ointment (Luke vii, 38; John xii, 3). In the one case it was the devotion of true worship and an anointing beforehand for His burial, for He said so, and He knew her heart and her purpose. My own conviction is that Mary had received His words concerning His cruel death at the hands of His enemies and knew that it would therefore be impossible for His friends to show any kindness to His body then, as far as she could see, and she had made preparation and had watched for her opportunity, which has now come. Can any one say that He, knowing all things, had not arranged this stop at Bethany specially for her sake? The other women, who, like Peter and John and the rest of His disciples, had not received His sayings concerning His sufferings, bought spices after His death and burial to anoint His body when the Sabbath had passed, but they never used them, for that purpose, so that Mary was the only woman who was privileged to anoint Him for burial.

Those who receive all His words have blessings beyond all others. Some one has suggested that in the three, Martha, Mary and Lazarus, taken together, we have what constitutes a well rounded Christian life—Lazarus, the power of a resurrection life, because that by reason of him many of the Jews went away and believed on Jesus (John xii, 11); Martha, restful service, because that here we do not read of her being cumbered, as on a former occasion; Mary, true devotion and worship, for such is always costly. David said, "Neither will I offer burnt offerings unto the Lord my God, of that which doth cost me nothing" (II Sam. xxiv, 24). Let us ponder, as in His sight, the cost of our worship and of devotion to Him. Financially how does it compare with our worship of self and the world? If we become as devoted to Him as Mary

For Skin Health

A lifetime of disfigurement and suffering often results from improper treatment of the skin or neglect of simple skin affections. Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, affords the purest, sweetest and most economical method of caring for the complexion, preventing minor eruptions from becoming chronic, and speedily dispelling severe eczemas and other torturing humors, itchings and irritations, from infancy to age.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists everywhere. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass. Mailed free. Cuticura Book on the care of skin and scalp.

was not only will some Judas criticise us, but many professedly devoted ones will find fault also, for, while no one will, perhaps, condemn our love for self and this present world, many will protest against too much devotion to Jesus Christ. Well, let them, if only we can have His "She hath done what she could." "She hath wrought a good work on me" (Mark xiv, 6, 8). If fault finders with devotion to missions could by any means hear His voice they would doubtless bear a "Let alone." "Why trouble ye them" (verse 10; Mark xiv, 6). Think of the honor conferred upon Mary in that a testimony concerning her love and devotion is given in all the world wherever the gospel is preached. Oh, how real devotion to Him is needed in our day, when all the world is open to the gospel and the age of unparalleled opportunity is fast closing, and soon He will come again to take His church to Himself. May we abide according to I John ii, 23.

So the Queen Could Walk Across

Daddy's Bedtime Story — Sir Walter Raleigh

ONE day Jack had been very nice to his sister Evelyn and had helped her carefully across a muddy road. When daddy heard about it that evening he said, "Well, I declare, Jack, you are just like Sir Walter Raleigh!"

"Who was he, daddy, and is there a story about him?" asked Jack and Evelyn, who are always on the lookout for stories. "Yes," said daddy, and he told them the story that very same evening.

"Sir Walter Raleigh was a brave, handsome man who lived in England more than 300 years ago. At that time there was a queen in England named Elizabeth. She was a great queen and is considered one of the greatest rulers England ever had. Sir Walter Raleigh was one of her favorites, and this is how it came about:

"He was walking along the street one day just after a heavy rain. At that time the streets were not paved as they are now, and the walks and crossings were quite muddy. Sir Walter was a young man and wore a beautiful scarlet cloak across his shoulders. He was proud of the cloak and of his fine new shoes. But as he walked he came to a puddle which was too wide for him to jump. How was he to get across? As he hesitated there who should be so bold as to come along and look at the dirty puddle and look about for a way to stop it. She saw Sir Walter there also, but I must tell you here that at that time he was not Sir Walter Raleigh—only plain Walter Raleigh without the 'sir'."

"The young man knew, of course, that it was the queen who was waiting at the puddle to find a way across, so he stepped up to her and took off his hat, making a low bow. 'Now,' said the queen to herself, 'I wonder what this handsome young man with the fine scarlet cloak wants of me.' In a moment she was to find out, for Walter Raleigh took off his new cloak and laid it across the puddle, so that the queen and her maids could walk across without soiling their feet."

"But the cloak, daddy," said Evelyn—"wasn't that badly soiled by the mud?"

"Indeed it was, daughter," said daddy, "but that did not bother Raleigh, for the queen thanked him, and the very same day she sent for him, made him a knight, which gave him the right to call himself 'Sir Walter Raleigh,' and gave him a high position at court. And after that time he remained at court and became one of the queen's greatest favorites."
