Killed by His Friend's Gun-A Shocking Accident

Mr. C. B. Naylor and party motored to Uxbridge Sunday in Mr. Naylor's speedy "Hup." They spent the day with friends, he having resided in the above town at one time. While there Mr. Naylor was made acquainted with all the details of the shocking shooting accident, which occurred Saturday evening, in which one lad was almost instantly killed by his companion.

It appears that three young lads, all printers in the office of the Uxbridge Journal, rented three guns for the afternoon, preparatory to hunting rabbits in the nearby woods. They were returning to town, and stopped on the road near a coal-shed west of the railway station for one of the party, Arthur Johnson, aged sixteen, to draw the charge from his gun. In the process the gun went off, the full charge striking Charles Cooper, aged nineteen, in the breast, killing him instantly. The young man was a son of James Cooper, an Englishman, who has been in the country several years.

Cooper advanced towards Johnson, saying "I'm hurt," moaned twice and swayed before Johnson caught him. The charge made a hole some three inches in diameter in the young man's breast, and the blood was gushing forth.

Although horrified at the accident Johnson had presence of mind enough to try and stop the flow of blood, but two handkerchiefs placed in the gaping wound could not stop the flow, and the third boy was despatched for a doctor.

The unfortunate Cooper died a few minutes later and before medical aid arrived.

Mr. Naylor states that the entire community is greatly upset over the sad fatality.

Mr. Naylor had a conversation with Arthur Johnson, whom he is well acquainted with, and the latter declares that the accident was purely accidental. The cartridge lodged firmly in the gun, and in trying to remove it, he turned his back on his two companions, and was not aware that Cooper was crossing in front of him. Nor can Johnson explain in what manner the gun went off. The hammer was not up, but nevertheless in trying to dislocate the wedged cartridge it exploded, the charge entering young Cooper's breast.

THE MILD OCTOBER.

Mr. John Flurey, took a ten mile trip by auto in the country on Sunday, and stated that a more enjoyable day he never had in the fall months. The weather he said was ideal, and balmy, that it was a delightful dream, to wander in the rural districts. Most of the harvest he stated is housed, outside of buckwheat, which is still in the stock.

Many a wealthy man turns out to be a poor devil.

The Tour That Failed

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has concluded his Northern Ontario tour. It consisted of a visit to some of the newer towns of the province, notably Cobalt, Cochrane, Sturgeon Falls and North Bay. He had with him Hon. Charles Murphy, Hon. George P. Graham, Hon. Sydney Fisher, and Hon. W. L. M. King. Last night he visited Peterboro. What the Opposition expected to gain by this tour has always been a mystery. It was decided upon during a visit of members of the provincial Opposition to the new Ontario district and was apparently the idea of Mr. Murphy. Many of the Murphy ideas, which seem nowadays to be the Laurier ideas, were also in evidence and strongly in evidence during the tour.

The result can hardly be what the Liberal leader presumably expected. Sir Wilfrid Laurier must have believed that there would be some party or political profit in the venture. It is quite likely that he was told there would be. There are evidences that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not as shrewd a politician or as keen a judge of popular sentiment as he used to be. He allowed himself to be persuaded to go into Ontario and preach reciprocity and to adopt a waiting attitude on the question of the navy. He and some of his colleagues, of all men, had the hardihood to criticize the methods, as described by them, of completing the National Transcontinental Railway. He allowed Mr. Murphy to abuse the minister of railways in a country where Mr. Cochrane is known and where all the people are his friends.

The whole tour seems to have been a losing venture, under the direction of lieutenants who did not know what to do and still less how to do it. There is the suggestion that this tour was so timed as to take the little band of ex-ministers away from Ottawa, from Montreal and from Toronto, in order that they might not be disturbed by the evidences, everywhere manifested, of a non-partisan desire to do honor to the prime minister and his colleagues who have in one short year done so much for Canada. That suggestion reflects little credit upon the sportsmanship of the beaten cabinet and probably has little to do with the real reason. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was led to believe that the Liberal party's chances. It didn't help. Sir Wilfrid was ill-advised, that was all.

Encouraging Agriculture

All of the provinces have now signed agreements with the Dominion Government by which they will receive the subsidy voted last session by parliament. When the new administration came into office it was felt that a broad policy for the betterment of agriculture in Canada through co-operation with the provincial governments should be adopted. It was felt that nothing in this direction could be properly done until a general survey of the agricultural conditions in Canada had been made.

agriculture according to a plan approved by the minister of agriculture. New Brunswick was the first province to fall in line, they have all heartily followed and taken up the plan with enthusiasm.

The following table shows how much each province receives—

Ontario	$175,733.32
Quebec	139,482.40
Nova Scotia	34,288.45
New Brunswick	24,509.93
Prince Edward Island	6,529.86
British Columbia	27,334.76
Manitoba	31,730.05
Saskatchewan	34,296.29
Alberta	26,094.95

To make this survey and to report on a general policy, C. C. James, formerly deputy minister of agriculture for Ontario, a man of undoubted standing in the agricultural world, and with a deep knowledge and experience which peculiarly fits him for such work, was appointed commissioner. He is at present engaged on preparing his report, and it will be ready by the opening of parliament.

When you have earned a right to live you discover that it isn't a patent right.

The most progressive of us are inclined to be reactionary when our prejudices are bumped into.

However as Mr. James' report was not ready last session, it was decided to give immediate assistance to agriculture by voting the sum of $500,000 to this cause by way of a grant to the provincial governments on a population basis. The grant was to be expended for the cause of

OBITUARY.

LATE MRS. PEARSON

The funeral of the late Mrs. John Pearson, which was held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock from the residence of an intimate friend of the family, Mrs. Earle, Caroline-st., was largely attended by Lindsay citizens. Service was held at the house by Rev. Leonard Phelps, of Brighton, Ont., a former pastor of the Queen-st., Methodist church, who referred to the sad loss of a loving and devoted wife and mother.

As pastor of the church which was at one time attended regularly by the late Mrs. Pearson, Rev. Mr. Phelps stated that he could testify to her sterling Christian qualities. She had lived the Christian life and one of God's angels had been removed to her heavenly home.

The deceased woman was highly respected by the whole community and a queen in the midst of her large family of boys and girls. The following gentlemen friends of the family acted as pall-bearers: Messrs. Thos. Stewart, C. H. Hughan, Senator Geo. McHugh, Geo. Nursey, Ed. Armstrong and L. McGregor.

Among the pretty floral tributes noticed on the bier were the following from the family and from kind and sympathizing friends: spray the Misses Lizzie and Mable Howe; spray, Mrs. Earle and Miss Annie Earl; spray, Mrs. McNutt and Miss Minnie McNutt; Cross, Mrs. C. H. Hughan; spray, Mrs. E. E. Sharpe and Miss Mable Sharpe; spray, Mrs. Algar and Mildred; gates ajar, from Mazzie, Lula and Grant; wreath, from boys and girls in Portland, Oregon; sheath, from Mrs. Mrs. and Mr. H. Middleton.

LECTURE ON BIBLE

SCHOLARLY ADDRESS DELIVERED SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

A fair sized audience gathered Sunday afternoon in the Opera House to listen to a Bible lecture by Mr. Haden Sampson, a representative of the International Bible Student's Association.

The lecturer gave a logical and exceedingly reasonable interpretation of God's great purpose of the creation of all things. He cited proofs from the scriptures in support of the fact that God from the beginning has been carrying out a perfect and wonderful plan.

He said man, seeing only a small part of the working of the plan, had been inclined to condemn the unfinished work. As the beauty of a building should not be judged by the unsightly framework necessary to its erection, so God's great plan should not be judged until it is completed; then like the finished building it will be glorious indeed.

It was a lecture all Bible students would have listened to with pleasure and profit and those present expressed great appreciation.

Wedding Bells

CAMPBELL-VAN NOSTRAND

On Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 25 St. John's Church York Mills, was the scene of a very pretty country wedding, when Elsie Margaret, eldest daughter of Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. van Nostrand, was united in Marriage with Mr. Robert Dilworth Campbell, of Lynedoch, Ontario, son of the Mr. Robert Campbell and Mrs. Campbell, of Hamilton.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Canon Marsh, of Lindsay, a cousin of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Richard Ashcroft, the rector of the parish. The church was beautifully decorated with harvest decorations by the members of the congregation.

The bride who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white crepe de chene over white satin, with a fichu of carriage-moss lace, trimmed with seed pearls. Her veil, which was of white tulle edged with pearls, was caught under a Juliet cap of pearls. She carried an ivory prayer book, from which hung lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern, and wore a gold wrist watch, the gift of the groom. She was attended by her sister, Miss Nora van Nostrand, and the maid of honor, who wore a gown of green crepe de chene over green satin trimmed with silver butterflies and lace, and a black velours hat with white spray, and carried an armful of melody roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were Miss Mable Campbell, sister of the groom; Miss Minnie Barry, and Miss Marjorie van Nostrand, a cousin of the bride; Miss Muriel Leishman, the Misses Louisa and Kathleen van Nostrand, sisters of the bride. Their gowns, which were crepe de chene over satin, were yellow and mauve alternately, and all wore black beaver hats trimmed with tulle. They carried sheaves of yellow chrysanthemums. The groom's gift to the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were pendants. Mr. Charles Mewburn, of Hamilton, was best man. An orchestra played on the verandah during the afternoon.

CHALLENGED PICKPOCKETS.

Pickpockets operated successfully at the Millbrook fair on Thursday. One visitor to the fair, hearing that pickpockets had been operating there, flashed a roll of bills and defied the light-fingered gentry to get his money. Alas and alack! The pickpockets must have heard the challenge as they quickly proved that nimble fingers and quick wit were two much for the farmer.

There are people who always are in a terrible hurry to get nowhere and do nothing.

The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Mr. Wallace, pastor of the church. The happy couple were assisted throughout the trying ordeal by Miss Annie Abercrombie, sister of the bride, and Mr. David Dunoon. Mr. and Mrs. McFadyen journeyed on the morning C.P.R. train for Buffalo and other points on their honeymoon.

The Warder joins with their many friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. McFadyen a happy and prosperous wedded life.

Millbrook Fair Was Big Success

Bigger and better than ever, was the annual fall fair of the Millbrook Agricultural Society, which was held Friday last. The crowds commenced to pour in at the gate shortly after twelve o'clock and a final culmination of the receipts indicated that a highwater mark had been attained. This was especially gratifying to the directorate in view of the fact that the fair last year had to be postponed on account of the severity of the weather.

A splendid program was provided, which, coupled with a $3,000 prize list, proved an attractive drawing card to both exhibitor and visitor alike. There was something for everybody, even to the providing of special features for the ladies, such as bread-making and fancy work competitions, for which suitable prizes were given. The display of vegetables, grains, fruits and other small produce was unusually large and excellent in quality. This particular portion of the fair received the attention of a large concourse of people during the afternoon.

There was only one disappointing feature of the whole affair, and that was the unexpected elimination of the trotting races. The racing card, as originally drawn up, contained a free-for-all, with a $125 purse attached, and a 2.40 trot that carried with it a purse of $50. Mr. W. T. Donaldson, chairman of the racing committee, declared that there was a conspiracy among the horsemen to enter both races and split the money. There were six entries and this would have been possible. "We've been imposed upon in this manner for the last ten years and we propose to call a halt," said Mr. Donaldson. He expressed his willingness to allow the six free-for-all horses to enter the free-for-all race, but would not agree to a division of the purse. The horsemen were willing to make two races out of the card, running three horses in each race, but would not agree to race six horses at once claiming that it would be dangerous to the drivers.

The racing committee were willing to compromise to the extent of allowing four horses to enter for one race in the free-for-all. This did not meet with the approval of the horsemen and they withdrew from the race.

The display of live stock was said to be below the average, especially cattle, sheep and pigs. The farmers attribute the lack of interest in this respect to the fact that there has been a marked falling off in live stock breeding throughout the county. This display, however, compared the bigger exhibitions, and the competition was of the keenest order.

The exhibit of carriage and draught horses was the largest in the history of the fair, and was one of the best features of the show. Judging was carried on in two rings simultaneously and the interest of the large majority of those in attendance were divided between the two.

REVEE HICKSON BECOMES C. P. R. VALUATOR

Mr. Joseph Hickson, the popular Reeve of Manvers and land valuator for the C.P.R., will leave for Cobourg and other eastern points on Tuesday, bent on a business trip for the above company. It is needless to say that valuator Hickson, with his breadth of judgment and desire to grant equal rights to all will fill the judiciary role with satisfaction to the company, and parties shareholders have been expropriated. In the meantime the worthy Reeve is keeping a sharp lookout for anything which has a tendency to advance his own people in the municipality which he represents, and the ratepayers of the good township of Manvers must feel elated over possessing a man of Mr. Hickson's business and executive ability.

If some irritating people would keep still long enough to permit us to forget them they would do much to promote our happiness.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED ME

Mr. W. H. Riley, Russell, Sask. writes—"It is with the greatest pleasure that I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all suffering with rheumatism. I was so bad with this terrible disease, I was unable to get up from my bed for four months, and nothing would relieve me until a friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. I had my doubts about them, but was so despondent I would try anything suggested to me. After taking half a box I was able to get up, and after taking two boxes got around quite well. After taking six boxes I was completely cured, and able to work for the first time in five months and have not had a touch of rheumatism since. Anyone who saw me then would not know me now, as I am so strong and active since taking your valuable medicine."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box, or 2 boxes for $1.25, at all druggists. The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
