ATTEMPT TO KILL ROOSEVELT

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—Theodore Roosevelt was shot and slightly wounded here to-night as he was leaving his hotel for the auditorium where he was to deliver his speech of the evening. His assailant, who later gave evidence of dementia, gave his name as John Schrank, of New York. Before Schrank could fire a second time others present grabbed him.

Colonel Roosevelt stood beside the automobile which he had been about to enter when shot. He insisted on proceeding to the hall and going through with at least a part of his speech.

An examination of the wound by Dr. Eaton, of Milwaukee, and three other surgeons showed that the bullet had entered the fleshy part of the right chest. The colonel was at first supposed to have escaped uninjured, for a moment after Schrank had wedged through the crowd and fired at him Mr. Roosevelt smiled as if to reassure the people in turmoil that he was not hurt.

He suddenly, however, put his hand under his coat, and was seen to wince for an instant. Then he moved toward the automobile and stepped into it, said a word to his associates, and the next moment the throng was making way for his machine, and the automobile was whirling toward the auditorium. But when he had reached the auditorium and made his way to the front of the platform those close to him could see a streak of red on his white waistcoat.

"An attempt has just been made to kill me," said the colonel to an audience that had stifled its first cheers and now listened in absolute silence. "I am carrying the bullet in my body now, and so I will have to cut my speech short."

Schrank is a socialist. From the almost incoherent tirade which he delivered after being arrested, and from memoranda found in his pockets, it is evident that he has been following Col. Roosevelt for at least a week. Colonel Roosevelt had reached the step of his car and was climbing in when Schrank broke from the crowd and stepped to the side of the automobile. He drew a revolver, and fired seemingly point blank at the colonel's heart.

The colonel was just letting go the side of the automobile to settle in his seat in the car, but the next moment he was reaching under his coat and rubbing his right breast. The manuscript of his speech doubtless had done much to save his life. When he had come upon the platform at the auditorium and drew the manuscript from his pocket during his first few words, the torn sheet of paper, showing many stains of blood, showed also that the bullet had gone through the manuscript.

After the colonel's address of 50 minutes Dr. Eaton and members of the colonel's party closest to him accompanied the candidate to the hospital. At the hospital the doctors said that although Col. Roosevelt's injury is serious they did not think it dangerous. ALMOST LYNCHED. Schrank, after shooting Col. Roosevelt, had a narrow escape from being lynched by the mob.

"I was in the saloon business with my uncle in New York," he said, at last, "when Roosevelt was police commissioner. Roosevelt closed out my saloon and I have hated him ever since."

exercises, conducted by Miss Mildred Nance Kierell, and a demonstration on hand painting on satin and on a cushion top. Delicious home-made candy was also served and a dainty lunch, after which all dispersed to their homes. The next meeting will be a Halloween party, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Nance Kierell's, on October 29th.

Are Retiring From Business In Lindsay

The citizens of Lindsay and the surrounding district will learn with some interest that the dry goods business conducted by Mr. J. Wakely is to be disposed of shortly. Mr. Wakely purchased the premises occupied by the firm some six years ago and from the day the doors were opened to the public up to the present the establishment has enjoyed a splendid run of business. This is only as might be expected as both Mr. Wakely, who gives personal attention to the conduct of the business on the ground floor, and Miss Wakely in the millinery department, had previously gained the confidence of our people when engaged with other local firms. The announcement that they are to sever business connection here will be received with regret by those who have been wont to buy their needs at this store, as well as by the citizens generally, but all will join in wishing that their new plans will turn out with the utmost of satisfaction.

Before the business is handed over to successors it is the intention to conduct a great discount sale of all goods in the store. It is desired to reduce the stock by several thousands of dollars in order to assist his new proprietors in organizing the business according to their ideas.

At the same time Mr. Wakely wishes to show his appreciation of the patronage the store has been given and is going to give discounts from the regular selling prices that will long be remembered. During the discount sale which starts Saturday morning next goods will be sold throughout the store at a discount of from ten to fifty per cent. off of marked prices. It will prove a great sale and our citizens will not be slow to take advantage. The stock amounts to something over $50,000 and it is Mr. Wakely's earnest intention to at least reduce it by one-half. Such genuine reductions on regular prices should make his task an easy one.

WEDDING BELLS

PETTINGER-TILLY. The home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Tilly, Sussex-st., Lindsay, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon, the 16th inst., when their only daughter, Emily Frances, was married to Mr. William E. G. Pettinger, of Toronto.

Rev. James Wallace, M.A., B.D., pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, was the officiating clergyman. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion with ferns, palms, dahlias, and chrysanthemums, and guests were present from Toronto, Hamilton, Peterboro, and other outside places.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was charmingly attired in a white satin gown and Juliette cap of pearls, and carried a large bouquet of bridal roses and sprays of lily of the valley. She was attended by Miss Louis Brewster, of San Francisco, California, who wore a pretty empire gown of mauve crepe de chene with crystal tunic, a mauve velvet picture hat with mauve ostrich plumes, and carried pink roses.

Mr. Milton D. Coltman, B.A., of Toronto, was groomsman. The wedding music was played by Miss Estelle Matthe, and during the signing of the register Miss Winnifred Purdom, of Hamilton, cousin of the bride, sang very prettily "Because."

The groom's gifts were a handsome diamond and emerald ring to his bride, a faceted gold bracelet to the bridesmaid, a set of gold shirt studs to the best man, with pearl and turquoise broaches respectively to the soloist and pianist.

The bride's mother received her guests in a champagne satn gown, wearing a corsage bouquet of lily of the valley. The wedding gifts to the bride and groom were numerous and beautiful.

After a dainty repast the happy and popular young couple, amidst showers of confetti and unanimous good wishes, left on the afternoon C.P.R. train for Buffalo and southern points.

It's hardly a fair exchange when the other fellow gets your money and you get his sympathy.
