Mr. Jos. Brown
A Th

Our esteemed townsman, Mr. Jos. Brown, grocer, Kent-st., is alive day, and his friends have reason to rejoice over this. Mr. Brown home on Tuesday morning for Point about 8 miles up the St. Lawrence in his trim little yacht The Net to bring back on Wednesday a number of barrels of apples which he purchased from a farmer in that district. He was accompanied by grandson, Master Hilton Brown. After loading up the craft, Brown, who was on the shore with a pike-pole delivering orders to grandson how to handle the engine while he plied the riverman's stroke to the rear of the vessel, was surprised when the youth gave the engine the "juice" so quick that

Peterboro, Oct. 18.—An affidavit of the inquest, ended Tuesday night, on the late Mrs. Susan Elizabeth Herron, whom it was alleged had her death hastened by an accident which occurred whilst she was undergoing treatment in Nichol Hospital, rumors have been current on the street that the family of deceased were not satisfied with verdict of the Coroner's Jury. To be more exact, Dame rumor states that whilst the verdict was according to the evidence given, that

ONE TOE AMPUTATED.

Mr. Chas. Reid, of Reboro, happened with a painful accident Friday afternoon while putting a silo on his farm, which necessitated the amputation of great toe on his left foot. Reid was engaged in adjusting belt on the engine, when by mistake his foot got caught in gearing, grinding the sole of boot and toe into a pulp.

Dr. White was called up by phone and arrived in 20 minutes from time he received the message. The injured man suffered great pain and bled profusely from the wound. The doctor had his patient removed to the Ross hospital, where the toe was amputated, and this morning reports say that the patient is resting comfortably.
