

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE

CAMERON

It is with regret that we chronicle the death of Miss Sarah Bryson, who departed this life on October 27th after a short illness of a month. For two years previous to her death Miss Bryson had been an invalid but did not take to her bed until a month before her death.

For a number of years she was a member of the Methodist church and of the choir, and corresponding secretary of the Christian Endeavor society. On Wednesday the remains were interred in Eden cemetery. Rev. A. J. Terril conducted the burial service at the house. The deepest sympathy is felt for the bereaved family by all their acquaintances. We trust that comfort be given them in the hour of bereavement.

Quite a number of our young people attended the fowl supper at Powles' Corners. They a excellent time.

A large number of people from here attended the funeral of the late T. Moore of Powles' Corners, on Sunday.

Mr. J. Dundas of Cumberland Mich., is at present visiting his niece Miss Bryson. Mr. W. Free is home again and paid Cameron a flying visit on Tuesday.

Monday evening the shop of Mr. P. Northcutt caught fire and a big hole was burned in the roof. In the engine room the ceiling and wood around the boiler caught fire. Men rushed to assist and after a short time the fire was extinguished.

Miss Dewell of Penetang returned home after a few weeks visit with her cousin Miss Dewell.

Mr. John Henry Copeland has moved to the house formerly occupied by Mr. Wm. Eyles. Glad to see your smiling face one more in our midst, John.

NORLAND

As I have not seen any correspondence from Norland lately I thought I would write to let you know that our little town is not extinct yet, but rather in a brisk state of activity. The mill is doing a rishing business. Merchants and clerks are kept on the jump, and all mechanics also. Also improvements are being made to beautify our town.

Mr. A. Henry is just completing his fine residence on Wain-st., which is indeed a credit to the place. Suffice it to say that E. J. Coutermanche had the contract of building the same which accounts for its fine appearance. We also notice that Mr. Wm. Bell has greatly improved his buildings lately. Mr. D. Ray has put up a large addition to his already commodious house.

Hallowe'en was observed here as usual. Also the 5th of November was duly celebrated by a torchlight procession headed by the brass band and the extermination of old Guy Fawkes.

Mr. Wm. Armour of Oshawa spent a few days with his sister Mrs. T.B. Trick lately.

Mr. Frank Ferguson of Bracebridge is spending a few weeks renewing old acquaintances in Norland and vicinity.

Mr. M. Stephenson of North Bay has lately paid his friends a flying visit.

Hiss Pearle Le Craw has just returned home after a prolonged visit at her aunt's Mrs. J. B. Campbell.

Our villagers were suddenly aroused from their peaceful slumbers on the morning of Oct. 31st by the baying of hounds, firing of guns and other disturbances, intimating us with the fact that the dawn of another hunting season was fast approaching and that a goodly number of our North Victoria crick shots had congregated here, en route for the happy hunting grounds of the North.

A happier crew could not be found in a day's travel than comprised the following: F. Thomas, of Toronto, N. Armour, of Oshawa, Dr. Martin, H. Tremear, Messrs. Ed. and J. A. Le Craw, Frank Armour, F. Burgess, T. O'Brien, and George Day of Parry Sound. We wish them success.

We are sorry that our church circuit is so large that when our pastor goes over to Kimmount, that the roads being almost impassable and perhaps some small attractions intervening he finds it impossible to come back to Norland in time for service here. We would like to find a remedy for the same.

What hasty news brought Herbie home so soon? Were they not the right species of deer, Herb?

At what point is the loadstone west of Norland situated. There must surely be more than one, as we frequently see two young men of our town travelling that way, rain or shine.

FLEETWOOD

The anniversary services and fowl supper in connection with the Fleetwood Methodist church will be held on Sunday and Monday, Nov. 23 and 24. On Sunday special sermons will be preached in the morning at 10.30 and in the evening at 7 o'clock by Rev. G. Marion B. D. of Pontypool.

On Monday evening a grand fowl supper will be served from 5 to 7 in the schoolroom, followed by an excellent program of music, singing, etc. Tickets, 25c, and 15c, which include admission to both dinner and entertainment.

ANOTHER "IMAGINARY" MEETING OF THE ONTARIO MINISTERS

Some of Them were too Busy About Other Matters to Attend

A second meeting of the Ontario cabinet is thus reported in Toronto's humorous paper, The Moon:

Ross: "Past three, and only half the Cabinet here yet, when the Council was summoned for half-past two! Gentlemen, this won't do! It shows great slackness at a time when we ought to be vigilant. Where is Gibson?"

Harcourt—Gone to Hamilton to attend a meeting of the Universal Spoliation Co.

Ross—Well it's too bad. I told him positively he must be here. The way he's involved in corporations surely does us harm enough without his neglecting the public business to look after his own private interests. And where's Davis?"

Dryden—He told me that he was to address a meeting of the Liberal Association at Snooper's Corners.

Ross—This is intolerable! I always thinking of his own petty affairs and looking after votes on the side lines, while questions of real importance to the party—to the province, I should say—are allowed to go to the dogs.

Latchford—Davis is just like all those pious fellows—always seeking his own salvation and caring mighty little about what becomes of the rest.

Dryden—That's a common failing. I don't know that any of you can afford to throw stones at that score. I didn't get much help from anybody when the Tories were jumping on me over that Dakota ranch business.

The best policy was to say nothing and let it blow over.

Harcourt—Well, you didn't deserve any. You got the whole Cabinet in to disrepute over it, and nobody could have made the case any better, like my fellow-countryman's parrot I keep up a devil of a thinking. And there are others.

Ross—Well, we're in for it now, and must play the game for all it's worth.

Dryden—I think you are ungrateful. If we had asked for your resignation about that time it would have been a popular move. You really couldn't expect us to justify your course in view of our policy of "building up Ontario." Don't take an unreasonable view.

Dryden—Well, we're liable to make mistakes. Where would you have backed you up in your school book monopoly deals, which have done the party ten times the harm that my Dakota ranch investment ever did.

Ross—My dear man, you overlook this important difference. The school book monopoly involves certain direct and tangible advantages to the government in the way of substantial contributions to the party funds, which was not the case in your ill-timed Dakota investment.

Dryden—Well, as you all know, my seat has cost me dearly enough. I have put up more of my good money to hold my constituency than any of you, and when I try to recoup myself by an honest business transaction, it's pretty hard when my own colleagues endorse, by their silence, the attacks of the Tories.

Ross—Well, gentlemen, let bygones be bygones. There's an important matter—but where's Stratton?"

Harcourt—Oh, he had a bank meeting to attend down town. Said he couldn't possibly be with us till about four.
