

BILIOUSNESS

Caused by a Disordered Liver
Cured by Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

The liver's work is to secrete the bile—that exceedingly bitter fluid which is often called gall. This bile is stored in the gall-bladder and at the proper time it is poured into the upper part of the intestines. There it helps in the digestion of the fatty and oily parts of the food, and regulates the action of the bowels, causing them to move often enough to clear the system promptly of indigestible food.

When the liver gets out of order, as it does with a surprisingly large number of people, the flow of the bile becomes irregular, and the quality of the fluid is changed. The bowels consequently become irregular also, being constipated and loose by turns; the food is only partly digested; the bile gets into the blood, acting there as a poison and demoralizing the whole system. A sudden dizziness is felt on rising, spots sometimes float before the eyes, the tongue is furred, there is a bitter taste in the mouth, and a most disagreeable feeling of sickness and lassitude.

This is Biliousness. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills get right at the root of the trouble and speedily relieve it.

They first put the disordered liver right, so that it supplies a normal quantity of healthy bile. This opens the bowels and clears out the clogged-up system. The blood is purified, the stomach cleansed, all the disagreeable symptoms disappear and the whole delicately adjusted mechanism of the body moves smoothly again.

On the first appearance of bilious symptoms take Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. J. C. McCulloch, a railway conductor of Westport, Ont., writes:

"It is with pleasure I write to inform you that your Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have proved of great value to me. I suffered from biliousness, caused by the improper action of my liver. I tried remedy after remedy but without any lasting good. Having heard of your pills curing such cases as mine, I decided to give them a fair trial. They proved satisfactory, restoring to me perfect health."

EARLY HISTORY OF SCUGOG

Scugog—or Schoogog, as Rev. Peter Jones, missionary to the Indians, spells it—is the Indian for submerged land. In the early surveys of this part of Ontario the lake is not shown, which easily accounts for the Indian name. Mr. Smith, who wrote a gazetteer in the forties, refers to the prosecution by some land owners against those who put up the mill dam at Lindsay. They got judgment, showing that they had a grievance, and the Lindsay millmen were ordered to lower their dams two feet, but this was never done.

The Indians, who roamed over Ontario at will, not so many years ago, have left behind them some very euphonic names as their everlasting epitaphs. None is more pleasing to Ontarians to-day than the word Scugog—the name for both the pretty lake and river and the fertile island, midway up Ontario county's eastern boundary line.

Scugog, some tell us, means muddy water. It is a corruption of the Indian names, just as many other names in Ontario. From the original one would hardly guess the connection. But aspiration and imitation follow no classic rules.

So that while the reader may be disposed to discount this lovely section of Ontario because of its connection with mud, a visit to the spot on a beautiful October day will build far rosier pictures.

The island consists of some twelve thousand acres of first-class clay soil "whereupon anything short of the tropics flourishes abundantly," says the Toronto World. The lake is a body of water half a mile to a mile and a half wide, surrounding the island. The approach, only by a county built bridge from the west, allows the traveler to enter. But the island roads are good. There are six concessions, all laid out into regular lots, upon each of which lives a contented and prosperous farmer.

Originally the island formed part of two counties, Ontario and Victoria but latterly it has been added to Ontario county and made into one municipality. It elects its own municipal council, which meets at Scugog, just about the centre of the island, in a spacious and neat town hall. In all about five hundred and fifty people find living a goodly thing here. At the north end is an Indian reservation, where Chief Johnson exercises some of the prerogatives that the unwritten laws of his people have handed down to him.

In the summer time the wooded shores form choice camping grounds for city and American visitors. The waters until recently abounded in fish. The severe winter of three years ago froze up the fish and since then the Government has protected the waters. It is only a question of time when the big "lunge" and bass will afford the stories of old.

Agriculture is its sole industry. The farms are well laid out, have up-to-date buildings and are tilled in the most approved manner. Substantial residences adorn every concession. As one stands on the eminence and overlooks at the opposite coast line, gold and given the alternate fields of harvest and fall wheat, he wonders that some railway has not crossed the island and connected the shores. As a summer attraction it is not excelled, and for the purposes of exploitation a railway would render this part of rural Ontario an ideal farm community. Grain crop grow luxuriantly. Big yields are recorded every where. The climate tempered by the water, is invigorating and moderate.

Live stock farming is especially favored. The rearing of Chesham horses and Shorthorn cattle has been followed with success. The Graham & Sons, Hope Bros., Wm. Graham, William Redman, Paul Hood & Sons, Holt, and John Jackson, the Sweetmans, John Gerow, the Williamsons and others are all well known prosperous stock raisers. Dairying is followed to some extent also, for which the conditions for production of milk are ideal, although the transportation convenience.

Postmaster John Hewden, of Whitby says Scugog has one of the clearest women of Canada as its resident. Miss Adams richly deserves the compliment. She farms about two hundred and fifty acres of the choice clay lands of the island and does it well. Some years ago her father died, leaving the place in somewhat encumbered circumstances. With a woman's hopefulness and the enthusiasm of youth, Miss Adams not only placed the farm on a good financial basis, but made it a producer of the first-class. It is only another instance of what push and enterprise can do in Old Ontario.

To-day the one hundred acre farm in Ontario offers more opportunities to the bright young man than almost any other occupation. Strange then, that one records so many auction sales on the island. But change of properties from father to sons, from one tenant to another, can account for nearly all. Here as elsewhere in Ontario the farms are suffering from the western drain. The boys in many cases have heard the call of wheat and have followed the lure. But the return tide is coming some day, and then fortune indeed will be the man who can call a farm in Ontario his.

Geo. Jackson, the well-known auctioneer, of Port Perry, and a native of the island, conducts the sales.

Caught Cold By Working In Water.

A Distressing, Tickling Sensation In The Throat.

Mr. Albert MacPhee, Chignecto Mines, N.S., writes:—"In Oct., 1908, I caught cold by working in water, and had very bad cough and that distressing, tickling sensation in my throat so I could not sleep at night, and my lungs were so very sore I had to give up work. Our doctor gave me medicine but it did me no good so I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and by the time I had used two bottles I was entirely cured. I am always recommending it to my friends."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup combines the potent healing virtues of the Norway pine tree with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing medicines of recognized worth, and is absolutely harmless, prompt and safe for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Sore Throat, Pain or Tightness in the Chest, and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

Beware of imitations of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Ask for it and insist on getting what you ask for. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and the price 25 cents.

Last week we had the pleasure of driving with him across to Stone's sale on the east shore, from which the rising shores of Cartwright were admired. Near here Washburn Island forms another break in the lake's upward stretch toward Lindsay. But all the prospect pleased. Rural Scugog is ideal and some day property will not be current at sixty, seventy and eighty dollars per acre, for to possess a farm here will be to be rich.—The Toronto World.

OBITUARY

YOUNG CHILD DEAD.

The many Lindsay friends of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Leddy, formerly of Lindsay, but now of Toronto, will regret to learn of the sudden death of their only child, thirteen months old. The remains arrived in town Saturday morning and were interred in the R. C. cemetery Sunday.

MISS ANNIE JACKSON.

The citizens of Lindsay and vicinity were shocked Saturday when the news spread around town of the sudden and untimely death of Annie M. A. Jackson, second daughter of Mr. Henry and Louisa Jackson, of North Ops.

The death occurred Saturday morning in Nicholl's Hospital, Peterboro, and after an illness of only a few days.

The deceased young lady was attending Normal school at Peterboro, and had spent Thanksgiving day with her parents in North Ops, and was apparently in good health. The cause of her sudden death was due to heart failure.

The late Miss Jackson was in the very prime of life, 19 years of age, and was well and widely known in Lindsay and vicinity, and was very popular. She had been a student at the Lindsay Collegiate Institute for the past three years, and graduated last June. She was a clever and bright student with a disposition that made her popular with all the students who will regret to hear of her untimely death.

She leaves to mourn her loss a loving father and mother, and one sister, Kate, all at home in North Ops. The remains arrived in Lindsay Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. from the home of her parents, lot 23, con. 9, Ops, five miles north of Lindsay, on the Bobcaygeon road. Interment took place at Riverside cemetery.

Mrs. Jackson, mother of the deceased, was at her daughter's bedside at the time of her death, having been sent for early on Friday morning. The loss of their daughter is a severe blow to Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, and the sympathy of the entire community is extended to them in the great loss they have sustained.

CONCERT AT CONVENT.

A delightful program was rendered at the opening exercises given by the pupils of St. Joseph's Convent, in the Assembly Hall of the Convent Friday. The annual event was largely attended by the members of St. Joseph's congregation and by their friends from other denominations, and the recherche event proved highly entertaining to all, as the numerous musical numbers were well rendered, which speaks well for the Mother Superior and the Sisters of the convent.

Venerable Archdeacon Casey presided and made a very acceptable chairman. He presented pretty and valuable medals to Miss Lizzie Dwyer and Miss Maggie Killen for the high honors they had obtained in music.

Make Each Animal Worth 25% Over Its Cost

On 2/3 of a Cent a Day Nobody ever heard of "stock food" curing the bots or colic, making hens lay in winter, increasing the yield of milk five pounds per cow a day, or restoring run-down animals to plumpness and vigor. When you feed "stock food" to your cow, horse, swine or poultry, you are merely feeding them what you are growing on your own farm. Your animals do need not more feed, but something to help their bodies get all the good out of the feed you give them so they can get fat and stay fat all year round, also to prevent disease, cure disease and keep them up to the best possible condition. No "stock food" can do all these things. ROYAL PURPLE STOCK SPECIFIC can and does. It is a
