AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT

(By Student of Agriculture)

HAVE THE STABLE SANITARY.

Now that the stabling season is at hand, some effort should be put forth to keep milk cows in a clean sanitary condition. Much can be done towards this end by pairing the flanks of the cattle with a clip of horse clippers. The rough hair around the breast of the tail should be clipped off, as well as all tags and course hair on the udder.
Frequently the stalls are too long, thus catching the droppings and making it impossible to keep a cow properly bedded. In such cases, the time required to shorten these stalls and occupants will be well repaid. It is not only unpleasant to see filthy dairy cattle, but it is highly unsanitary as well, for much of it is bound to drop off during the process of milking.
The Ontario Government has empowered its sanitary inspectors to inspect the dairy stables, and where the conditions are not what they should be, to take action to have them remedied. We may as well recognize and meet the great need for properly caring for cattle in this respect. Then should an inspector drop in, there would be nothing to be sorry for. At the beginning of the season is the time to attend to this matter.

THE POULTRY FLOCK.
The season's poultry crop has been grown and the results of the poul-tryman's wise management and execution, or of his error of omission are clearly before him. Few are entirely satisfied with the season's efforts, while many are confronted with the important and perplexing problem of improving their flocks before the opening of another breeding season.
This matter of breeding up a flock is not so simple as many suppose. It is an easy matter to import new blood, either from some person who claims to be a careful breeder along certain lines, or from some neighbor who has a good flock of fowls, but this importation of new blood may not carry with it improvement in the sense one desires to improve his flock. As a general rule, most farmers are satisfied with simply exchanging male birds with their neighbors, but this practice leads nowhere and might be continued for years without affecting one particle of improvement.
The first matter to consider in attempting to improve the flock is to decide upon what lines one desires to make improvement. A purpose must first be decided upon, before any improvement can be made either through selection from the flock, or through importation of new blood. There are several different lines of poultry-raising nowadays open to the man who desires to go into the business. First, egg production, which, directly speaking, means keeping poultry for the market, and second, the keeping of poultry for the production of both eggs and meat for the market.
Third, the raising of broilers and roasters for the market. Third, the raising of broilers and roasters for the winter and early spring markets.
To effect the most profitable and desirable improvement in handling poultry it is advisable to decide what line of the business it is desirable to take up, then giving special attention along that line. It is safe to say that the average farmer pays little or no attention to improving his fowls, and as a result we have on most farms a lot of cross-breeds and mongrels that possess very low paying qualities. It is next to impossibility to improve live stock of any kind by cross-breeding. Crossing tends to undo the desirable qualities of the parent stock, and to permanently lower the quality of the progeny. No matter what the intention of any farmer, he should be relative to keeping poultry on the farm, it will be to his advantage on every side to select his line of work and decide upon some one breed that most nearly meets his needs, and then select new blood from this particular breed of fowls.
Three easy means are within the reach of the average farmer. It may be done through purchasing males of superior merit of some breeder who is breeding along his special line. A common practice among some poul-

FARM DRAINAGE.
Removal of Surface Water.—Waterlogged soil will not produce favorably. There are some plausible reasons for this fact. First, the standing water destroys the air necessary for the growth of plants; reducing the temperature of the soil, keeping it cold till late spring; and making it impossible to pulverize the soil for a good seed bed. Surface water should be removed from the soil as early as possible, and to accomplish this an outlet must be made. Such an outlet usually exists in the form of a creek or branch, which should be continually improved by keeping all growth cut out, drifts burned out, during the summer and the channel deepened when necessary. These natural drains can be kept in good condition and gradually improved at little expense if care and judgment are exercised in their management. If an outlet ditch has been made, as is frequently the case for parts of the farm, the greatest possible care should be used in its location. A great deal of money is wasted in digging ditches that do not have the proper grade and consequently fill up. The ditch should not only have sufficient fall, but the fall should be uniform, for the reason that water flowing down a steep grade will carry considerable sediment, which will be deposited if the flow is check-ed by a gentler incline, and the ditch will soon fill up. It is best to lay out such ditches with some kind of levelling instrument before spending money in their construction. Such instruments are of two kinds, the level and the dumpy level. The level is used for long lines, and the dumpy level is used for short lines. The field should be divided into main ditches. These need not be expensive. They can frequently be made with a plow; or, after plowing, they may be finished with a drag scraper.
They should be broad and shallow. and the dirt from them should be distributed in the adjoining low places, rather than piled immediately on either side. If properly made, they should not be more in the way than a turn row, and often the rows may cross them without inconvenience.
The efficiency of these drains depends more on their location than on their depth. Water from adjoining hills often makes the bottom land wet.
This water should be intercepted by a ditch at the foot of the hill.
The best form of ditch is one broad at top with banks sloping gently to the bottom.
Such a ditch is not only much cheaper to construct with a plow and scraper—but is easier to keep in repair, and occupies much less ground.

UNDERDRAINAGE.
If a farmer decides to go to the expense of underdraining his land there is but one practical way, and that is to use the best drainage tile.
There are various makes, such as pole or plank drains, but they are unsatisfactory and do not last.
Tile drainage is expensive. Whether or not it will be a profitable investment will depend on circumstances.
For instance, it would not be advisable to tile a piece of land to rent at two dollars per acre. On the other hand, if a farmer is giving his land the best possible tillage, using fertilizers liberally and growing crops to the value of twenty-five, fifty or seventy-five dollars per acre, underdrainage is a profitable investment.
This drainage is not an experiment.
There is no doubt that it would increase the productive powers of much of the land in each Province of Canada.
Tiles should not be deeper than four feet in this latitude, and in very stiff soil three feet is better.
The distance between drains will depend on the depth of the drains, and also on the character of the soil.
From fifty to one hundred feet apart will generally answer.
For single drains not over five hundred feet long two-inch tiles will be sufficient. For mains into which laterials flow, large sizes will be necessary.

Hard burned smooth tile is best; soft tile will sometimes crush. It is a mistake to use the latter supposing the water will not get into the former fast enough. Hard burned tile, laid smooth and straight, with the joints fitted as snugly as possible, with uniform fall will give the best results. In filling the ditch the stiffest dirt possible should be placed immediately over the tile and pressed down firmly. Water does not flow into the tile from the top but from the bottom.
The outlet of a tile drain requires attention, this being frequently the weak point in its construction. A satisfactory way is to have the tile end in a box made of lumber or cement. The outlet should be covered with wire netting to keep out insects that might cause the drain to stop. This inexpensive precaution is a common source of trouble.
These all are gifts for which Thou

OBSTINATE FACE SORES
Refused to Close for 4 Years ZAM-BUK HEALED THEM INSIDE
TWO WEEKS.

Have you some eruption, or sore, or ulcer, or wound on any part of your body which has hitherto refused to close, no matter how treated? Is so, that is a case for Zam-buk, the great neural balm. The neural saps and essences in this balm are so powerful that they can heal the worst cases of chronic sores, ulcers, blood poison and skin diseases. Here are proofs of this:
Mrs. W. H. Taylor, of North Bay, Ont., says: "I had a scaly spot as big as a ten cent piece on my face.
I had it for four years, and hardly a night during that time went by but what I applied cold cream, or some ointment or other, but it would always be there. I recently applied Zam-buk, and in little over a week's time the spot had disappeared completely."
Mrs. S. J. Holden, of 343, West Hannah-st., Hamilton, says: "My little girl had a running sore on her leg which defied all treatment. I applied Zam-buk, and in about a week's time the wound was closed. I have found Zam-buk just as good for other skin troubles and injuries." Mr. J. H. Hamilton, of Thornbury, says: "A friend of mine has an obstinate sore on her temple. It had been treated once or twice by a doctor, and would heal up for a short time, but would break out again.
Zam-buk healed it permanently, and it shows no sign whatever of returning."
Zam-buk is a sure cure for all skin diseases and injuries, such as cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, psoriasis, ulcers, scalp sores, cold sores, chapped hands, itch, rashes, tetter, face eruptions, etc. It is also an unequalled embrocation, and rubbed well into parts affected cures rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, cold on chest, etc.
All druggists and stores sell at 50c a box, or post free from Zam-buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price.

Electric Signs Are Ornament
The majority of the members of the town council are in favor of allowing the merchants to erect ornamental signs on Kent-st., but there is a by-law, which prohibits such signs extending over the street more than four or three feet. In all probability the reading of the by-law will be altered so as to please everybody.
Just recently Mr. Bert Naylor erected a new attractive electrical sign in front of his barber shop. It brightens the appearance of the street, but Mr. Naylor has been ordered by Chief Vincent to pull it down, as it comes a long way from conforming with the by-law.
There being other signs of various designs erected on Kent-st., also contrary to the law, an objection was made. Ald. McGeough brought the matter up in Council last night and stated that in his opinion the reading of the by-law should be changed. At it now was, Chief Vincent would have to arrest several merchants for breaking the law or he would not be doing his duty. He thought that a neat electrical sign enhanced the appearance of the street, but of course, they should not be hung too low, so as to be considered dangerous.
Mayor Begg said he thought a nice ornamental sign improved the appearance of a street, but he was in favor of there being a regulation height.
Ald. McGeough contended that such signs were not eyesores, but that they showed that the owner was energetic and was after business. But the chief wanted to know what he was to do. If the law stated that it was his duty to pull such signs down, he would have to enforce the law.

PROTEST ELECTION.
The friends and supporters of the Liberal-Conservative party in Peterborough county are being invited to contribute to the fund being made for the purpose of protesting the election of Mr. J. R. Stratton as representative to the Dominion House. The election is being protested on the grounds of corruption and bribery.

CURES SOUR STOMACH, NAUSEA
That's how you feel when you wake up, and if neglected you feel miserable all day. When this discomfort presents itself there is just one thing to do—take ten drops of Nerviline, and you feel better at once—stomach is regulated, nausea disappears and your rest is broken. For indigestion, bowel and stomach disorders, bloating, gas, hiccup, and indigestion you'll get nothing with half the merit of Nerviline; try a 25c. bottle—really it's worth its weight in gold to the man's who's sick.

Saskatchewan's Biggest Farmer

(Former Victoria County Boy Achieves Success.)

The Winnipeg Tribune publishes an interesting article entitled, "Saskatchewan's Biggest Farmer," which will prove very interesting reading to citizens of Lindsay and Victoria county generally, because it refers to a former Victoria county boy, Mr. Edward Burke, son of Mr.
Rich Burke. The article has special significance, as it demonstrates the result of a persevering and determined young man to achieve his mark in the world and make a thrifty living for himself.
Several years ago Mr. Richard Burke, was well known in the vicinity of Valentin, Mariposa, and was respected by those who knew him.
He was not in the best of circumstances, and the graphic accounts of the "harvest to be gleaned" in the Canadian West reached the ears of this tiller of the soil, and so he packed his "kit" and embarked with his family for the great westward.
The sons all took up homesteading and business thrived.
Edward Burke, one of the thrifty and steady sons, began to build for himself a very creditable home and farm, and in time his farm business attained such an extent that he was proposed to build larger barns, etc. until to-day he is the owner of one of the best farms in the Saskatchewan district, and is considered one of the most prosperous farmers in the West.

The Tribune refers as follows to this former Victoria county boy:
"Mr. Edward Burke, of Gainsboro, Saskatchewan, was in the city last night. He is one of the largest individual farmers in the world, and its of Haliburton county, who is in town to-day buying his provisions, etc., for the coming winter. He stated that the coming winter would be milder than last winter and he would not have so much snow. This hunter and trapper has spent the winter of his life in the wilds of Ha-liburton, where at night you can hear the hoot of the owl and occasionally the cry of the wolf, and when you awake in the morning you can see the tracks of the deer, and the bear. He says this is the place to live, where the animals own the forest and the fish the waters.
This old hunter has for years watched the habits of the animals and then noted the kind of weather that followed, and he believes that he can forecast the weather from year to year.
He has studied their habits and customs like a farmer studies his crops to see how they will turn out.
He stated that the squirrels, chipmunks, muskrats and other small animals are not building their houses for this winter as warm as last.
Another indication for a mild winter is the appearance above ground of the groundhogs, and the fur on the furbearing animals is not nearly so thick as it was last fall. He also stated that he had heard from a friend of his away back north that the wolf was coming south and that this was a sure sign of a mild winter.

MILD OR COLD WINTER.
For over eighty years Mr. Thos.
Cuff, who lives in the north ward, has seen the seasons come and go, the frosty winter followed by warm summers and if anyone should be able to forecast the weather, Mr.
Cuff is the man.
"I never saw a fall like this during my life," said that veteran of many winters yesterday to a war scribe. "It's all for the lack of rain," he continued, "and we haven't had a decent rainfall this autumn. The wells are all drying up and all vegetative growth has been utterly stopped. For the past month or two the farmers have been feeding their cattle with the fodder that was meant for the winter months and there will be a great scarcity of feed before spring." Mr. Cuff was confident in his belief that the coming winter will be an exceptionally cold one. He based his opinion on various observations from nature and on similar seasons in the past. He has lived the most part of his life in the open air and observations of the many phases of the weather has allotted to him no mean powers of forecasting what Nature intends for the future.

The general public will be glad to hear that there is some hope for the coming winter being a mild one.
This is the opinion of an old hunter and trapper from the northern lim-

Do You Ever Get Bilious?
No remedy could be more prompt and agreeable than Dr. Hamilton's Pills.
No matter where you go you will hear of the great cures they make.
Writing from Ottawa, Mrs. M. E.
Legge says: "For people inclined to biliousness and sick headache I don't think there is a remedy to compare with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I formerly had bilious attacks about once a month—used Dr. Hamilton's Pills and obtained grand results. My stomach has been put in good order and my health greatly improved." Dr. Hamilton's Pills taken occasionally are good for people whether sick or well; they keep the system clean and pure, regulate the bowels and give tone to the kidneys and liver.

No medicine better for men, women or children. Try Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00 at druggists or Folson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

BANK CLERK STOLE MONEY.
Toronto, Nov. 5.—D. Cameron Mc-Callum, the teller of the Farmers' Bank, Toronto, says he stole thousands of dollars from the bank. Mc-Callum is now in the custody of an officer employed by the bank and before he is officially arrested and placed in the lockup an effort is being made to verify statements in his confession which implicate other people and may lead to further prosecutions.
McCallum confesses to manipulating the books and acknowledges the responsibility for a shortage of perhaps $17,000.
Mr. W. R. Travers, the general manager, was in New York when the alarming state of affairs was discovered by Mr. Hill, who decided to hold McCallum under strict surveillance until the return of the head official, and in the meantime secure whatever information he could to help the bank.

RETURNS FROM CONFERENCE.
Mrs. E. E. Sharpe, delegate from the local Council of Women to the National Conference at Ottawa, has returned home. Mrs. Sharpe speaks very interestingly on the work done by the Council.
Mrs. Sharpe represented the local council, which is formed out of seven societies, such as the W.C.T.U., the Children's Aid, and other kindred societies.
Every day of the conference was a busy one and on Thursday the delegates were entertained by Lady Laurier, and on Saturday at the Government's expense.
It was decided to hold the next annual meeting in Toronto. The International Council also met in that city next year. The meeting place of delegates from all over the world, was held at Geneva, Switzerland.
The question of woman suffrage was touched upon, a clause in one of the reports which expressed condolence with the women suffragates in England having been struck out.
An address was delivered by the council Earl Grey delivered an address in which he touched upon the manners of Canadian children. Following is an extract from his address on the subject which will be of interest to parents:

Stomach Catarrh

Watery Risings, Belchin Gas and Digestive Weakness

FRED M. MCKENZIE RECOM-MENDS SCIENTIFIC TREAT-MENT THAT CURED HIM.
New discoveries in the line of medical treatment have come before the profession of late years with almost alarming rapidity, but one that promises to outdistance all others in the treatment of stomach and digestive troubles is Ferrozone, which is a scientific combination of vegetable extracts and juices that soothe the stomach and improve digestion in a truly wonderful way.
So many are interested in finding a really good stomach medicine, that Mr. McKenzie, one of the most prominent citizens in Cambridge, tells of a remedy he proved to be a "cure."
"Although my appetite was poor and I ate little, I always had the sensation of having eaten too much.
I experienced weight and oppression an hour or two after eating. Often I had heartburn, rising of a bitter liquid, coated tongue and bad breath.
There was a continual gnawing pain in my stomach, especially before meals."
BAD CASE CURED.
"No case of Catarrh of the stomach and digestive organs could be worse than mine. I suffered the limit of human endurance. For two years I doctored but didn't find the real remedy until I got Ferrozone, what a blessing! This preparation must be had to all mankind. I took my Ferrozone tablet at the close of each meal and in one week improved. In a month, although not cured, the improvement was steady. I continued to use Ferrozone for three months and was restored to robust perfect health. Ferrozone—in many ways it will do good."
In all cases of weak stomach, indigestion, nervousness, palpitation of the heart, insomnia, general debility, chronic dyspepsia and all wasting diseases use Ferrozone, no remedy will so surely and quickly restore one to the full vigor of health and strength.
When you take Ferrozone everything you eat tastes good, and every bit of the nutriment that your food contains is assimilated and appropriated. By Ferrozone, all dealers, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. Get it
