Lesson VII.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 12, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Dan. v, 17-30. Memory Verses, 25-28-Golden Text, Eccles. xii, 14-Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

We are glad to have another lesson in Daniel, but it may be so long before we return to this book that it may be wise to ginnee at the book as a whole and outline its contents. It is the book of the times of the gentiles until the time of the kingdom shall come when Daniel's city and people shall have their transgressions blotted out and shall enjoy the everlasting righteousness of chapter ix, 24. Any one can make an outline to suit himself, but the following, by chapters, may suggest a better one.

I. Daniel's purpose of heart. IL The stone kingdom to fill the earth. III. The image worship, or the furnace. IV. The proud humiliated. V. The judgment on the biasphemer. VI. The triumph of God over His enemies. VII. The everlasting kingdom (parallel with chapter ii). VIII. Kingdoms friendly to Daniel's people. IX. Daniel's prayer and Gabriel's prediction of POTATOES SCARCE. the seventy-sevens. X. Gabriel's second visit to Daniel. XI. Antichrist to look to outside points for and his overthrow. XII. The kingdom supply of potatoes to meet the the devil's followers, whose end is surely foretold in Ps. iz, 17; Matt. xxv, 41. It is part of the great kingdom story of the book and must be considered in that connection as well as in its personal relation to individuals. It is the record of a drunken revel with which God interfered suddenly. It was a great gathering of great people in the eyes of the world, and doubtless those invited felt as much honored as Haman did (Es. v, 5) when invited to the banquet of chamber. About 500 cheese were used as common drinking vessels, and they praised all gods except
