HEVER NEGLECT NO MAIDEN NAMES IN DIVORCE SUITS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 16 .- The woman who seeks a divorce and wishes prefix of "Miss" will fail if Judge Henry A. King, of the Superior Court, is on the bench when her case

Judge King has strong views on with the libel the divorcee will have adopted at the marriage altar, and will have no opportunity to give men the impression that she never has been married.

"Except in extreme cases, such as come before the attention of a judge very infrequently, I do not permit a woman to revert to her maiden name and title," said Judge King in discussing his views on the question. "If a woman has been married and divorced, it does not seem right that

The deceased went about her work as usual this morning and never complained of feeling ill, but shortly after returning from an uptown office she collapsed,

The late Mrs. Tremblay, whose ma den name was Adelaine De Luch, comes of one of the oldest and best French families, and was born at St. Valliers, Quebec, 76 years ago, her parents having been highly respected citizens of France. She was married at Chicoutimi to her late husband, after which they moved to Lindsay, the late Mrs. Tremblay having resided here for upwards of 40 years. Sixteen years ago Mr. Tremblay passed away, and for the last 22 years the deceased lady, along with daughter, Miss Alice, have been keeping house for Dr. Simpson, Russell-st., who keenly feels the loss of a good housekeeper.

Other members of the family who survive are the following daughters and sons : Philip Tremblay, of Marquette, Mich.; Edward Tremblay and sister, Mrs. Milnes, of Chicago; Mrs. S.
