A TRIP THROUGH THE GREAT WEST

get. A man with such a generous disposition is bound to insure success where ever he goes. I spent my last three days in the prairie province at the home of Geo. and Wm. Kearns who went west four years ago. Geo. has succeeded in establishing a good barbering trade, receiving a fair share of public patronage. His success is now doubly secure since he has lately taken unto himself a partner in life in the person of Miss Fraser, daughter of Mr. Donald Fraser of north Palestine.

Mr. McArthur's Opinion

My opinion of Manitoba as far as I have seen it is that it is the country for the young men and women. They can in a very few years make homes for themselves. Also men who are on rented farms in Ontario would have farms of their own in a short time by moving and doing the same amount of labor there as they are doing here.

News of the Week

—It is stated that General Sir Chas. Warren of Spion Kop fame succeeds Lord Seymour in command at Halifax.

—Mrs. James Sheridan of Brockville, who was seriously burned a few days ago as the result of pouring coal oil on a coal stove, in which it was supposed there was no fire, died Thursday.

—An Ottawa woman has discovered a way of getting even with farmers who failed to carry out a contract. A mild sensation was sprung in the South Gloucester church on Sunday when the pastor, Father Dunn, read a letter from the house-keeper in question, accusing two of his parishioners of not delivering a quantity of potatoes for which she had paid them.

—Mr. James English while at county council at Belleville on Thursday last received word that his nephew, Millard Hulst, had been killed and George Williams, Hulst's brother-in-law, very seriously injured. Hulst had purchased a farm in Madoc from Mr. English and was re-constructing an old building, assisted by Williams. The supports of the roof gave way and the roof fell on the two men. Hulst was dead when taken from the ruins. He was about 35 years of age and leaves a widow. Williams is a native of Sidney and is about 50 years of age. He is unmarried.

—A terrible accident occurred between Goodsham and Cheltenham Wednesday morning of last week, on the Grand Trunk Railway, at 7.10 o'clock. Engine No. 311, an extra, in charge of Van driver, and W. Curtis, was running north, and when about one and one-quarter miles north of Cheltenham it struck the section hand car, on which were the following: John Allen, foreman; Neil McArthur, sectionman; Oliver Ellis, sectionman; Arthur Frame, farm laborer; John Tetzl, farm laborer. The car was instantly killed. The coroner empaneled a jury, which, after viewing the remains, adjourned to meet on Thursday evening, Dec. 13th, at Ingleswood. All the deceased were married men and resident of Cheltenham.

—At 7 o'clock Thursday evening the town of Picton, Ont., was startled with the intelligence that a sad case of asphyxiation had occurred. Upon Mr. George Locie entering the rooms over C. B. Allison's drug store occupied by Abraham Drummond and his two sons, he was shocked to find his two boys lying dead, and Mr. Drummond breathing heavily. He at once gave the alarm, and called a doctor, who tried to resuscitate Mr. Drummond, but without avail. The Drummond and oldest son, a young man of 21, were lying in the same bed, while the smaller boy of about 12, was in a separate bed. The dampers of the stove had been checked completely off when the family retired, and before the gas had sufficiently burned off.

—The Ehrhardt factories in Elsenach and Dusseldorf, Germany are furnishing Great Britain, through the British South African Chartered Company, with eighteen batteries of quick-firers. Some of the German papers call upon the government to stop this as a contravention of Germany's neutrality.

—Gibson, the Kentucky man arrested for murdering his little daughter, acknowledged the crime, which was committed to obtain the insurance on her life. He said the child was burned with a hot poker to make it appear she died from smallpox.

—At Williamson, West Virginia, Hon. S. D. Stokes and Rev. John W. Wohl quarrelled over a cartoon reflecting on the character of several society people of the town last week. Wohl shot and wounded Stokes, the latter fired and killed the preacher.

—A mammoth pool room recently started in a Chicago suburb, close to the Illinois Central track, employs about 100 clerks and telegraph operators. It is surrounded by a stockade, and as a measure against undesirable visitors, a number of vicious dogs are kept in readiness to be turned into the inner enclosures.

—Secretary Jamieson of Munroe Sons Camp, No. 2, Sudbury, formerly proprietor of the Little Windsor hotel, Peterboro, lost his way in the woods last Thursday and spent a dismal night up a tree, with a large pack of wolves howling around him. He was rescued Friday morning by a party of one hundred men from Mr. George Ritchie's camp.

—The Majestic's passenger list on the liner's outward trip from Liverpool, includes J. S. Jackson, a New York merchant, who relinquished his business to fight against the Boers because some Britishers fought for America against Spain. Mr. Jackson still wears his khaki uniform. He joined Braban's horse, and though he saw much of the fighting, returns unscathed and in excellent health. He paid his own expenses throughout.

—A serious and lamentable accident occurred at Port Sydney, Muskoka, resulting in the drowning of a son of Mr. James Gardner, a bright and hopeful little lad of nine years. The boy had jumped on the back of a wagon for a ride, when the team ran away, heading for the bridge. The wheels encountered the bridge railing, and the boy was pitched forward through the air and into the river about 30 feet below. In spite of the efforts of those who went to the rescue, life was extinct before the rescuers succeeded in getting the boy out of the water.

—William Hebdon, a young Englishman, was drowned in lake Nipissing a couple of weeks ago while skating across the bay from Callender to his farm on the southeast shore of the lake. He left for his farm on Wednesday, and a search was immediately made, and a hole in the ice was discovered. The men constructed a float out of some pieces of timber, so as to make their own lives safe in the search for the man, who was supposed to have fallen through the ice. After grappling for a while they brought up one of the unfortunate man's skates, which through some means, had been separated from his foot. Further search was made and the body discovered.

—Mrs. Sarah Ryan, a Toronto woman, has begun a suit against the Catholic Order of Foresters which will be regarded with considerable interest by insurance companies and beneficiary societies. Mrs. Ryan's son, John, joined the order on Dec. 6, 1899, and was passed by the lodge physician as being in a satisfactory state of health. Four days later he became ill, while the papers relative to his application for membership were on their way to the head office of the order in Chicago. On Dec. 19 the young man died, just before the papers had been returned from Chicago. The society then refused to pay the amount of the policy, and Mrs. Ryan, who claims that her son was accepted as a risk by the medical board of the order, began her suit. The defence of the society will be that the condition of Ryan's health was not properly represented to them.

—Prof. Robertson, Commissioner of Agriculture and Dairying, returned last week from an extended trip through Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and British Columbia. The creameries in the Northwest Territories, managed by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, have had on the whole a successful season. The output of butter from the twenty creameries during the summer was 636,915 pounds, being 28 per cent. greater than in 1899. The value of the butter at the creameries in the Northwest Territories was somewhat higher than the average price at the creameries in Ontario and Quebec. He says hundreds of families have moved into the districts where the creameries are located, and from the beginning have found a means of getting ready money for their products. The Swedes, Icelanders, and other colonists from Northern Europe are getting on remarkably well at mixed farming. Three of the creameries in Alberta are being run all winter, and are turning out about a ton and a half of butter per week. The mining population in the Kootenay has increased greatly, and they take the farm products from British Columbia the Northwest Territories and Manitoba, at good prices. Butter, beef, bacon, hams, eggs, condensed milk, and evaporated cream have been going in there by the car load.

—When the caretaker of the cemetery at Niagara Falls was digging the grave for the late Mrs. Skinner, his shovel struck a hard substance a foot below the sod, and further investigation revealed the fact that it was the bone of a human being. Surmising that perhaps it might be a soldier's trench, further shovelling in the sand showed the surmise to be correct. The caretaker did not make the discovery known till yesterday, when he proceeded to the graveyard and there unearthed no less than seven complete skeletons, all lying side by side. A rough box was secured, and the skulls and bones were placed therein, and deposited in the vault under the Lundy's Lane monument. The place where they were found is about two dozen feet north east of Laura Secord's grave. When the bones were being removed a bullet dropped out of one of the skulls, and others contained a number of grains of buckshot. What was of more importance, there were several brass buttons, which revealed the fact that some of the skeletons were those of American soldiers. On one of the buttons was only the letter "L," denoting infantry; others had "U.S. Infantry" over a spread eagle and star, and two or three had stamped on them "9th Infantry." There were also small pieces of cloth and leather. The find, which is a most interesting and important one, has been reported to United States Consul H. W. Brush, at Niagara Falls, and it may be possible that the bones will be interred with military honors later on. It is known that the Americans used one ball and three buckshot in their charges, and as two or three of the skulls contained buckshot, it is not unlikely that there may have also been British soldiers in the trench.
