Every Advantage in this Store Gains is yours.

Take this statement in as broad and sweepling a sense as the words themselves will allow-The Wakely & Ford business has its own pecular character. First, last, and all the time it is governed by public desire. Comfort, convenience and the wishes of the shopper is the first thought, and that these wishes may be carried out in perfect satisfaction, it is second.

Of course while the world wages errors must creep in to mar man's highest ideals, but in this store we try to correct all mistakes and make every wrong right, and then crush the root of the evil so that the continued errors cannot exist. It was on these and other good principles that inspired the the name "The Safe, Satisfactory Store."

The mercantile reciprocity which we have established between manufacturer and consumer by being able through the plan of our syndicate buying to open and keep open a broader, deeper channel oi communication between them and their vast tributaries, enables us to gather and distribute more merchandise than any single retail establishment here about.
