GIFTS MADE IN A DAY.

Suggestions For Women With the "Fret Off" Habit. "Only a day and Christmas and not one-half of the presents ready!" This is the exclamation one hears every year, and usually with the addition of, "Next year I will begin in plenty of time," and usually this promise is broken; consequently many women will be glad of new ideas for holiday gifts that may be easily made in a day.

With a bit of ribbon and a few scraps of lace a woman can easily make the most adorable little bit of fancy work in an amazingly short time. The color and texture of the ribbon go a long way toward the beauty of the finished article.

Ribbon has many advantages over silk for most fancy work articles. It is easier to work on, as there are no edges to be hemmed; the whole design may be used, where with silk the figures may come out anywhere. There is more variety in color and design from which to choose, and more neatness is possible, as flatter edges may be kept.

Lamp Shade and Pin cushion. The lamp shade and pin cushion illustrated are both easily made in a day. The little candle shade is made by gathering one and one-half inches from each edge of a piece of ribbon. Sew the gathered ribbon over a candle shade and conceal the stitches with a gold cord. A taffeta ribbon with rose sprays in natural colors and a pink satin edge is most effective. The pin cushion is of white taffeta ribbon, having a red satin stripe and figures and green satin ribbon flowers with tiny green taffeta ribbon leaves. This is a delightful Christmas present, as it is made of that season's gay colors.

A New Double Bag. Bags are always acceptable, and each season new designs are brought out for the holidays.

The newest is a double bag—that is, one placed over the other. The inner one is usually of plain silk or ribbon, the outer of brocade or hand embroidered fabric. The first bag is made in the usual way—that is, the sides sewed and the top finished with a drawing string. The outer bag must also be sewed at the sides, but in the center it is slashed from the top down three inches or more and the corners turned back, revers fashion. These are faced with plain goods. One corner may display an initial, or all four may be decorated with sequins or any device the sewer pleases.

The bags are placed one within the other and firmly secured at the ends. The inner bag will hold the opera glasses, while the outer pockets serve as receptacles for the handkerchief, powder puff, etc. This is another example of a dainty present that can be made with small effort and for little expense.

Christmas Ornaments. To make little danglers for Christmas trees fashion popcorn into little bells, thread with dark green silksateen, dip into gum arabic and cover with any of the colored dry powders. This makes a pretty ornament. Silver or gold dust may also be used. A quarter's worth of dye in blue, yellow, red and the like will make a great quantity of balls. If threads are suspended in a glass jar containing water and 10 cents' worth of alum it will adhere to the threads and make little icicles for the tree. Continue to add alum until the strings are the desired thickness. Place in a window or warm place.

Why Not Make a Hatstand? Both serviceable and dainty is the hatstand of blue flowered taffeta, with a blue satin bow by way of decoration. The wooden stands readily for covering, are to be bought in the shops. When silk is not desired elms or cretonne is a good substitute. For the small girl a bonnet cracker made of shirred white silk trimmed with bands of swansdown and a little necklet to match will be a delight, while the time and expense involved are not great compared with the charm of the gift.

Gift For Afternoon Tea Hours. The woman who serves afternoon tea might appreciate the gift of a new French tea caddy. This is in the conventional shape, but instead of the embossed or floral cover it is of a dainty body is used.

Rest Cure For the Hair.

Rest cure for the hair is being practiced by American society women. It requires that they give up their social engagements for a week, but it rewards them with lustrous healthy hair. In addition to giving them a chance to relax from the strenuous rush of social calls, Autumn is the best time for the rest cure, as the hair thins out and often goes wrong when camps. During the cure vanity compels the woman to remain in hiding except to their most intimate friends. Hats and hair structures are discarded. The hair is permitted to hang loose. There is no combing. No hot water, and the hair is permitted to dry on the neck, either by a towel or by a hair rest. In some cases the hair is cut to the neck, but in some cases it is held in place by a bandage to hold the curls together.

Sunday School—The Lesson—For To-Morrow

Lesson X.—Fourth Quarter, For Dec. 4, 1910.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxv, 31-35, 50-75—Memory Verses, 74, 75—Golden Text, I Cor. x, 12—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

As we read the first part of our lesson and consider the boastful self-confidence of Peter and his assertion "Though all men shall be offended because of Thee, yet will I never be offended," then to the Saviour's "This night, before the cock crow, thou shalt deny Me thrice," his further more emphatic assertion, "Though I should die with Thee, yet will I not deny Thee," how do we pity him and all the disciples, for they all asserted the same. It was as if Peter said: "Lord, Thou dost not know me. Thou canst surely count on me to be true at any cost." Do we see ourselves? Have we ever sung "Surely the Captain May Depend on Me"? If so, were we not as foolishly boastful as Peter? How the Lord must have pitied him! How He pities us! None can be saved until they know that they are lost, for He came to save the lost. The condition of every sinner before God is guilty, without strength, ungodly, enemies, empty against God, dead in sins, children of disobedience and wrath. Having no hope and without God in the world (Rom. iii, 19; v, 6, 10; vii, 7; Eph. ii, 1-3, 5, 12). Such helpless, helpless, despairing sinners Jesus saves fully and forever by His finished work without any help from us whatever. When saved we are just as helpless to live a Christian life and to serve Him as we were to save ourselves. So the great lesson for the saved sinner to learn is the significance of "Not I, but Christ." "Not I, but the grace of God;" "without Me ye can do nothing" (Gal. ii, 20; I Cor. xv, 10; John xv, 5). Unless it is God who worketh in us both to will and to do of His good pleasure the work cannot stand, but will prove to be only wood, hay and stubble. We must be ever watchful, prayerful, submitting to God and resisting the devil, if we would walk worthy of Him who hath called us to His kingdom and glory. We have seen Peter daring to rebuke the Lord as He spoke of suffering, though the Scriptures may be said to be full of predictions concerning the sufferings of the Messiah. We have heard him say: "We have left all for Thee. What shall we have, therefore?" We have also heard him say: "Thou shalt never wash my feet." We have heard his self-confident boasting that he was ready to die with Christ. Yet we have seen him taking of a man's ear, for a little while forsaking Christ, then following Him for a little while, and then denying Him three times. This was the man whose ear Peter cut off (Rom. iii, 19; v, 6, 10; vii, 7; Eph. ii, 1-3, 5, 12). Such helpless, despairing sinners Jesus saves fully and forever by His finished work without any help from us whatever. When saved we are just as helpless to live a Christian life and to serve Him as we were to save ourselves. Such helpless, despairing sinners Jesus saves fully and forever by His finished work without any help from us whatever. When saved we are just as helpless to live a Christian life and to serve Him as we were to save ourselves. So the great lesson for the saved sinner to learn is the significance of "Not I, but Christ." "Not I, but the grace of God;" "without Me ye can do nothing" (Gal. ii, 20; I Cor. xv, 10; John xv, 5). Unless it is God who worketh in us both to will and to do of His good pleasure the work cannot stand, but will prove to be only wood, hay and stubble. We must be ever watchful, prayerful, submitting to God and resisting the devil, if we would walk worthy of Him who hath called us to His kingdom and glory. We have seen Peter daring to rebuke the Lord as He spoke of suffering, though the Scriptures may be said to be full of predictions concerning the sufferings of the Messiah. We have heard him say: "We have left all for Thee. What shall we have, therefore?" We have also heard him say: "Thou shalt never wash my feet." We have heard his self-confident boasting that he was ready to die with Christ. Yet we have seen him taking of a man's ear, for a little while forsaking Christ, then following Him for a little while, and then denying Him three times. This was the man whose ear Peter cut off (Rom. iii, 19; v, 6, 10; vii, 7; Eph. ii, 1-3, 5, 12).
