These Cousins

Out West—or back East—you don't hear from them as often now. You each have new friends, new interests. But after all blood is thicker than water and your picture, or picture of other members of your family would be welcomed by them, especially for Christmas.

It Is Better to Be a Leader Than a Trailer

Who would not rather be up in the front of the procession than a camp follower at the rear?

Well, the procession of Christmas shoppers is now forming.

Are you going to be a leader or a trailer?

Are you going to be near the head of the parade or lag along at the tail end?

If you want to be a leader you must go to it now.

Buy your Christmas goods right away.

To make sure suppose you do it today.

"Little Bob" Existing by The Light of the Candle

Bobcaygeon, Dec. 10.—Writing by lantern light, with one corner of the flame ascending high enough to smoke the glass while the opposite corner is descending, you would think that the oil in the bowl is not the cinch compared to the white coal product.

However, such as it is, it is better than total darkness, and under the circumstances we must not complain. It's an awful come down to one's pride though. The destruction of the electrical plant Sunday morning found the churches and many homes badly inconvenienced. Monday morning saw a thriving trade in coal oil, lamps and fixtures. In some shops the supply ran out at noon, while late comers had to be content till more came along. The Electric Commission met yesterday morning and decided that just as soon as the loss was adjusted by the inspector, to put up a temporary structure, and if possible engage a small dynamo to run the house lights till spring, when they would rebuild, making a cement fire-proof structure, if that is possible. This is the third Christmas since the installation of the plant that we are without light, but even under the discouraging circumstances there is little or no lamenting, and already people are looking forward to a better plant and service than ever. May such be the case.

Mrs. Mary-Ann Johnston, relict of the late John Johnston, relict of the late John Johnston, died on Friday evening last and her body was laid to rest in the Verulam cemetery Sunday afternoon. She had attained to the ripe age of 83 years, and up to the last retained use of her faculties. Both Mr. and Mrs. Johnston came to Verulam from County Cavan, Ireland, many years ago. They were one of the pioneer families of Verulam, and their warm-hearted ways were always acceptable to many a weary wayfarer on his journeys in the early days. Mrs. Johnston leaves three daughters and two sons to mourn her loss.

The ten skips of the curling club met at Mr. Marks Friday evening, and chose up their rinks for the winter. Of course, everyone thinks their's is the best, but at the end of the season nine must have fallen behind in the race and acknowledge supremacy to the one. May they have a good season's sport.

Shooting matches seem to be the order of the day. Perhaps seven or eight so far have been pulled off, and all with good success.

Mr. David Tate is again holding a stock sale in the Iroquois hotel yard on Saturday afternoon, 14th inst.
