Yukon Telegraph Line

The following particulars of the new Government Telegraph line to the Yukon are taken from the Vancouver Province, British Columbia's leading newspaper. Commenced in April, 1900, the telegraph line has been built from Ashcroft to Hazelton, Hazelton to Atlin, Atlin to Dawson and Dawson to Fort Egbert on the Alaskan boundary line, spur lines have also been run to Fort Simpson, to the Omineca goldfields and other points, making the mileage of line laid exceed the twoncial condition.
