orst type of

is a case

Toronto.

herbs. In search and rely vegsed. It is

It is nour-upon the body. If od, sweet

our aged

th, quiets

t sleep, as

It is the-g remedy iseases of laint, and bors and ist.

ut the

LE &

storm be a n the ely to d the 00r8.

am es

Of Pure Cod Liver Oil and HYPOPHOSPHITES of Lime and Soda

Scott's Emulsion is a perfect is a wonderful Flesh Producer. It is the Best Remedy for CONSUMPTION, Scrofula, Bronchitis, Wasting Diseases, Chronic Coughs and Colds. PALATABLE AS MILK.

Scott's Emulsion is only put up in salmon color wrapper. Avoid all imitations or substitutions. Sold by all Druggists at 50c. and $1.00. SCOTT & BOWNE, Belleville.

PISO'S CURE FOR N THE BEST COUGH MEDICINE. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE. CONSUMPTION

The Canadian Post.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, JANUARY 23, 1891.

VICTIM OF CIRCUMSTANIAL EVIDENCE.

(Continued from second page.) "I will be careful," I said; "you must not close your door against me, although it is, unhappily, a prison door. I am here truly as a sympathizing friend. Look upon me in that light, and not in the light of a professional man." "You comfort me," he said. "Although

I may appear to you careless and indifferent, you know well enough it is impossible that I can be so; you know that I must be tearing my heart out in the terrible position in which I have been forced by ruthless circumstance. Make no mistake; I am myself greatly to blame for what has occurred. It has been forced upon me by my sense of honor and right and truth. Why, life once spread itself before me with a prospect so glad, so beautiful, that it almost awed me! But, after all, if a man bears within him the assurance that he is doing what he is in honor bound to do, surely that should be something! There—you see what you have forced from me. Yes, I did look eagerly forward when I heard the jury could not agree. At least there was one man there who beheved me to be innocent, and without the slightest knowledge of him I blessed him

He gazed round with the air of a man who was fearful that every movement he made was watched and observed by encmies, and then he said, in a low tone: "I need a friend."

I replied instantly, following the tone that he had used: "I am here; I will be your friend."

"It is a simple service I require," he said; "I have a letter about me which I wish to be posted. What it contains concerns no one whom you know. It is my affair, and mine only, and rather than make it another man's I would be burned at the stake, though we don't live in such barbarous times; and then he added, with a sigh, "but they are barbarous enough." "I will post the letter for you," I said. He looked me in the face, a long, searching, wistful look, and as he gazed, I saw in has eyes a nobility of spirit which drew me as close to him in sympathy and admiration as I had ever been drawn in my life

"Dare . trust you?" he said, still preserving his low tone. "But if not you, Whom can I , rust?"

post the letter a or you faithfully." "Not close to the prison," he said.
"Not in this distract. Put it into a pillar box at some distance from this spot."

"I will do as you a 'sive."

"Honestly and honor, ably?" he said.

"Honestly," I respond 'ed, "and honorably, as between man and man."

"You are a good fellow ." he said, "I will trust you. I can never h ope to repay you, but one day, perhaps, you may live to be glad that you did me even service." And he slipped the let, er into my hand, which I as secretely slippe 'd into my pocket. Then I said: "Mry I come to see you again?"

"Do. You have lightened the day fo. me-and many a day in addition to this!" Soon afterward I left him. I was honorably careful in the carrying out of his directions. I did not take the letter from my pocket until I was quite three miles from the prison, and then I put it into a pillar box; but before I deposited it there I looked at the address. Layton had not extracted a premise from me that I should not do so, and I will not say, therefore, whether, if he had, I should have violated it. I was engaged, against his will and wish, in his vital interests, and I might have broken such a promise; however that may be my surprise was overwhelming when I saw that his letter was addressed to "Miss Mabel Rutland, 32 Lavender Terrace, South Kensington."

Rutland! Why, that was the name the one juryman who had held out upon Layton's trial, and from whom I had vainly endeavored to obtain some useful information! Of all the cases I had been engaged in, this promised to be not only the most momentous, but the most pregnant and interesting. Rutland! Rutland! Had it been a common name, such as Smith or Jones, I might not have been so stirred. It was no choice coincidence. I was on the track, and with all the powers of my intellect I determined to carry it to a successful issue

Cable message from Mr. Bainbridge, London, to Mr. Archibald Laing, United States:

"Who is Miss Mabel Rutland, and is there any relationship between her and Mr. James Rutland? Also, in what relation does she stand to Edward Layton? Can you give me any information respecting the nine of hearts?"

Cable message from Mr. Archibald Laing, United States, to Mr. Bainbridge, London:

"Miss Mabel Rutland is the niece of Mr. James Rutland. She and Mr. Edward Layton were once engaged to be married. The breaking off of the engagement caused great surprise, as they were deeply in love with each other. I do not understand your reference to the nine of hearts "

Cable message from Mr. Bainbridge to Mr. Archibald Laing: "The nine of hearts I refer to is a playing card. I have reasons for asking."

Cable message from Mr. Archibald Laing to Mr. Bainbridge: "I know nothing whatever concerning the nine of hearts."

The information you give me in your cable that Miss Mabel Rutland and Edward Layton were once engaged to be married is of the utmost interest to me. You will doubtless in your letters explain more fully what you know, but I do not wait for letters from you. Time is too precious for me to lose an hour, a moment. I feel confident, before you enlighten me upon this point, that I shall ferret out something of importance which may lead to the end we both desire. I may confess to you at once that the case, has taken complete hold of me, and that without any prospect of monetary compensation I should devote myself to it. That Edward Layton is bent upon sacrificing himself in some person's interests! seems to me to be certain. It would take something in the shape of a miracle to convince me that he is guilty of the crime of which he is charged. I have elected myself his champion, and if it be in the power of man to bring him out of his desperate strait with honor I resolve, with all the earnestness of my heart and with all the strength of my intellect, to accomplish it. The intelligence that Mr. James Rutland is uncle to the young lady to whom Edward Layton was engaged may be of use to me. I do not yet despair of obtaining useful information from him. My inquiry respecting the nine of hearts was not idly made. This particular playing card, which was found in the pocket of Layton's ulster, and of which he had no knowledge, is, I am convinced, an important feature in the case.

I have already enlisted the services of three or four agents, and as I intend to | tone spare no expense, it may be that I shall call upon your bankers for a further sum Certain events are working in my favor.

Of those that do not immediately bear upon the matter I shall make no mention, but those that do shall find a record here. For some portion of the day after my interview with Edward Layton in prison, I was, apart from my practical work, engaged upon the consideration of the question whether I should call upon Miss Mabel Rutland, at 32 Lavender Terrace, South Kensington. I went there in a cab. and reconnoitered the house outside, but I did not venture to enter it. It is one of a their daughter was suffering more from ford to reside there who was not in a position to spend a couple of thousand a year. The natural conclusion, therefore, is that Miss Rutland's people are wealthy. That in the absence of some distinct guide or clew or information I should the address, for the purpose of seeking an interview with the young lady to whom Edward Layton's letter was addressed, was certain; but chance or destiny came here to my assistance.

Dr. Daincourt called me at between 10 and 11 o'clock in the night. "I make no apology for this late visit," he said: I have something of importance to communicate. When you spoke to me last night about the jury you gave me the list of names to look over. I glanced at fast,' I replied; 'what little reserve she them casually, and gathered nothing from them, until Mr. Laing's cable message ar- If she goes on as she is going on now I rived from America. That incident, of am afraid there will be but one result. course, impressed upon my mind the name of Mr. James Rutland. It was strange to me; I was not acquainted with any person bearing it. But it is most singular that this afternoon I was unexpectedly called into consultation upon a serious case—a young lady, Miss Mabel Rutland, who has been for some time in a bad state. The diagnosis presents features sufficiently familiar to a specialist and been hidden from me.' At these words also sufficiently perplexing. Her nerves are shattered; she is suffering mentally, and there is decided danger."

"Miss Mabel Rutland," I said, mechanically, living at 32 Lavender Terrace, South Kensington." "You know her?" exclaimed Dr. Daincourt, in astonishment.

"I have never seen her," I said, "but I know where she lives." "Is she related," inquired Dr. Daincourt, "to the one juryman who held out upon Edward Layton's trial?"

us," I replied; "but it will be as well to keep certain matters to ourselves." "Certainly. I will not speak of them to "You may trust me," I said; "I will any one. It is agreed that what passes between us is in confidence." "Miss Mabel Rutland is niece to the Mr. James Rutland who was on the

"That is strange," exclaimed Dr. Dainthis affair, we do not meet with even them. stranger circumstances than that. Proceed, I beg, with what you have to tell me concerning Miss Rutland." "Well," said Dr. Daincourt, "her parents are in great distress about her. I puzzled., There is nothing radically wrong with her. There is no confirmed | benefit. For my part, I must confess to disease; her lungs are sufficiently strong; the hope, unreasonable as it may appear, she is not in a consumption, and yet it | that he may also be successful in obtainay be that she will die. It is not her | ing some information which will assist me 'y that is suffering, it is her mind. Of e I was very particular in making | which I am employed. the fun lest inquiries, and indeed she interested ne. Although her features are wasted, she is very beautiful, and there rests upon har face an expression of suffering exaltan on and self sacrifice which of her brothers and sisters, if she has deeply impresse I me. In saying that this | any." expression rests upon her face, I am speaking with exac ness. It is not transient; it does not can be and go. It is always there, and to my experienced eyes it appears to denote som ? strong trouble which has oppressed her for a considerable time, and under the pressure of which she has at length bre ken down. could readily believe what her parents told me, that there were time 's when she was delirious for many hours "Has she been long ill?" I in quired "She has been confined to hee plied Dr. Daincourt, "since the

"The 20th of March," I repeate d; "the day on which Mrs. Edward Layto n found dead." Dr. Daincourt started. "I did no 's give that a thought," he said. "Why should you?" I remaked. may confess to you, doctor, that I ap almost everything I hear to the case up which I am engaged. I shall surprise yo even more when I ask you whether, during the time you were in 32 Lavender Terrace, you heard the name of Edward Layton mentioned?" "No," replied Dr. Daincourt; "his name was not mentioned. Bainbridge, I know that you are not given to idle talk; there is always some meaning in what you say." "Assuredly," I said, "I am not in the mood for idle talk just now. Events are marching on, doctor, and I am inclined to think that we are on the brink of a discovery. You have not yet told me all I wish to know concerning Miss Mabel Rutland. What members of the family did you see?" "Her mother, her father and herself," replied Dr. Daincourt. "Do those comprise the whole of the

"I do not know: I did not inquire."

"Her father," said Dr. Daincourt, "is a gentleman of about 60 years of age." "Is there any doubt in your mind that he is a gentleman?" "Not the slightest."

"Attached to his daughter-entertaining an affection for her?" "I should certainly say so, but at the same time not given to sentimental demonstration."

"As to character, now?" I asked. What impression did he leave upon "That he was stern, self willed, unbending. Hard to turn, I suspect, when once he is resolved." "Like his brotner," I observed, "Mr. James Rutland, who was on Layton's trial. Those traits evidently run in the family. Now, as to his wife?"

"A gentle and amiable lady," said Dr. Daincourt, "some eight or ten years younger than her husband; but her hair is already grayer than his; it is almost white." "She and her daughter resemble each other," I remarked. "Yes; and there is also on the mother's face an expression of devotion and self sacrifice. Her eyes continually overflowed when we were speaking of her

"Not so the father's eyes?" "No; but he showed no want of feel-

"Still, doctor," I said, "you gather from your one visit to the house that he is the master of it-in every sense, I mean." "Most certainly the master." "Ruling." I remarked, "with a rod of "You put ideas into my head," said Dr. Daincourt in a somewhat helpless

"If they clash with your own, say so." "They do not clash with my own, but I am not prone so suddenly to take such decided views. I should say you are right, Bainbridge, and that in his house Mr. Rutland's will is law."

"Would that be likely," I asked, "to account in any way for the expression of self sacrifice you observed on the faces of mother and daughter?" "It might be so," said Dr. Daincourt thoughtfully.

"Proceed now," I said, "and tell me all "But little remains to tell," said Dr. Daincourt. "I informed the parents that terrace of fourteen mansions, built in the mental than from physical causes; that it

Elizabethan style. No person could af- was clear to me that there was a heavy trouble upon her mind, and that, until her trouble was removed, there was but faint hope of her getting well and strong. 'I am speaking in the dark,' I said to the parents, 'and while I remain in ignorance of the cause, it is almost impossible for have been compelled to present myself at | me to prescribe salutory remedies.' 'Can you do nothing for her?' asked the father. 'Can you not give her some medicine?' 'Yes, I can give her medicine,' I replied, but nothing that would be likely to be of benefit to her. Indeed, the medicine already in her room is such as would be ordinarily prescribed by a medical man who had not reached the core of the patient's disease.' 'If she goes on as she is going on now,' said the father, 'what will be the result? 'Her strength is failing has to draw upon will soon be exhausted. The mother burst into tears; the father fixed his steady gaze upon me, but I saw his lips quiver. 'We have called you in, Dr. Daincourt,' he said, 'because we have heard of wonderful cures you have effected in patients who have suffered from weak nerves. 'I have been happily successful,' I said, 'in effecting cures, but I have never yet succeeded where a secret has the mother raised her hands imploringly to her husband. 'Do you think that a secret is being hidden from you in this case? asked the father. 'It is not for me to say,' I replied, 'it is simply my duty to acter's disease is mental, and that her condition is critical. Until I learn the cause of her grief I am powerless to aid her.'

quaint you with the fact that your daugh-Will you oblige me by calling to-morrow?' asked the father, after a slight pause. 'Yes,' I said, preparing to depart, I will call in the afternoon, and, if you "There is no need of secrets between | wish, will see your daughter again.' He expressed his thanks in courteous terms, and I took my leave. I should have come here earlier, Bainbridge, to relate this to you, but I have had other serious cases to attend to. A doctor's time is not his own, you know." "I have something to tell you, doctor," I said, "with reference to your new patient, which will interest you. Mabel Rutland was once engaged to be married "Very strange," I said; "but I shall be to Edward Layton, and I believe there was surprised if, before we come to the end of a deep and profound attachment between "You startle me," he said, "and have given me food for thought."

When he bade me good night it was with the determination to extract, if possible, from Mabel Rutland's parents saw and examined her, and I am much some information respecting her mental condition, which might be used to her in the elucidation of the mystery upon Cable message from Mr. Bainbridge, London, to Mr. Archibald Laing, U. S. "Give me what particulars you can of Miss Mabel Rutland and her parents, and Cable message from Mr. Archibald Laing, U. S., to Mr. Bainbridge, London. "Miss Mabel Rutland has no sisters. She has only a twin brother, Eustace, to whom she was passionately attached and voteded. This brother and sister and their parents comprise the family. Mr. Rutland is of an implacable and relentless disposition, impatient of contradiction and obstinate to a degree. These qualities were exercised in my favor some years ago, when I paid court to Miss Rutland, in the hope of making her my wife. Her father would have forced her into a marriage with me, but when I could no longer doubt that she loved Edward Layton, I ton to be cleared of the charge brought against him. It is my belief that she still loves him, and she must be suffering ter-ribly. If Layton is convicted it will break her heart. I know very little of her brother Eustace. He was at Oxford when I was in London, and I met him only once or twice. Mrs. Rutland is a sweet lady, gentle mannered, kindly hearted, and I fear domineered over by her husband." (Continued next week). 1 Tinware, at the Auction Mart. -35 2. saylum.

mown to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that recommend it as superior to any prescription Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes di-Without injurious medication.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 Murray Street, M. Y.

The Secret Divulged-A Combination of Glycerine and Extract of Tubecrie

BERLIN, Jan. 15 .- The secret of the ingredients entering into the composition of Prof. Koch's lymph is given to-day to the world. Prof. Koch says: "Since publishing two months ago the result of my experiments with the new remedy for tuberculosis, many physicians who received the preparation have been able to become acquainted with its properties through their own experiments. So far as I have been able to review the statements published and the communications received by letter, my indications have been fully and completely confirmed. The general consenus of opinion is that the remedy has a Specific effect on tubercular tissues and is therefore applicable as a very delicate and sure reagent for discovering latent and diagnosing tuberculosis processes. Regarding the curative effects of the remedy, most reports agree that, despite the com. paratively short duration of application, many patients have shown more or less pronounced improvement. It has been affirmed that in not a few cases even a cure has been established. Standing quite by itself is the assertion that the remedy may not only be dangerous in cases which have advanced too far-a fact which may forthwith pe conceded—but also that it actually promotes the tuberculous process, being, hard and assumes a dark coloring which is not confined to the incculation spot, but epreads to the neighboring parts until it attains a diameter of 05 to 1 centimeter. In a few days it becomes more and more manifest that the skin thus changed is necrotic, finally falling off, leaving a flat ulce ation, which usually heals rapidly and permanently without any cutting into the adjacent lymphatic glands. Prof. Koch's report, issued to-day, as to the ingredients which compose his lymph, considering the importance of the subject, is of the most brief nature. It says the lymph consists of glycerine and an extract from a pure unges, Centre Tables, Looking Glasses | president. He was sent to Wi

H. G. Root's Remedy.

GIVEN AWAY YEARLY.

Miscellaneous.

TEE THE POST'S WEDDING INVI TATION CARDS with envelopes. A dozen different styles. Charming, elegant, popular, "All the go." New and elegant type. Prices

Under and by virtue of the power of sale con-tained in a certain mortgage which will be pro-duced at the time of sale, there will be sold by TUESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1891.

at two o'clock in the sfternoon, at the Benson House in the Town of Lindsay, the following valuable farm: The West One third of the North half, the Township of Mariposa, in the County of Victoria, containing 50 acres more or TERMS.—Liberal terms will be made known at the time of sale. For further particulars ap-

G. H. HOPKINS, Vendor's Solicitor, Lindsay, Ont.

John Begley.

IF YOU WANT call at my warerooms in Adam's store. You will find it the CHEAPEST PLACE IN TOWN.

and every article is warranted to give entire satisfaction.

Repairing done on Shortest Notice. JOHN BEGLEY.

Lindsay, Nov. 20, 1890 .- 28-6m. E. Gregory.

PURE SPICES FOR PICKLING.

BAKING POWDER. Full Strength.

ELIXIR . OF . ANISEED For Coughs.

COAL OIL AND LAMPS.

Liver Tonic. LINDSAY. Linesay, August 20th, 1889.-41.

Cathro & Co.

Well-Fitting

imbues a man with confidence, and prepossesses others in his favor—which is important. When rich a man may indulge his eccentricities, and appear in the shabbiest attire without losing "caste," but not so the young man who is just making his way in the world; it's ruinous to his chances to wear ill-fitting clothes.

Shf 23, 3rd con, 160 acres. S 150 acres 25, 6th con,. E hf 29, 10th con, and 39, 11th loon, 182 acres.

Our New Fall Goods Arrived this Week and cemprise a beautiful selection of French and English Suitings and Whf 25, 3rd con, 100 scres.

Overcostings, Scotch Irish Whf 10, 3rd con, 83 acres. Overcoatings, Scotch Irish and Canadian Tweeds, etc., which have been purchased most advantageously, enabling us to make the prices lower than usual.

Gentlemen, Come Early and select the material for your Fall and Winter Suit and Overcoat while the Stock is new.
Every article guaranteed a good fit well made and well trimmed, and the Prices away Down for Cash.

Miscellaneous.

MEMORIAL CARDS.—A very choice selection at THE POST Printing Office Call and see them.

MENTION THE POST .- Parties reading advertisements in this paper and answering them, or making purchases, will confer a favor by mentioning THE POST.

A. MIDDLETON, Agent. Agent for the Ontario Mutual Life Insurace Co. Office: Immediately north of Warder office, on Cambridge-st., in R. Smyth & Son's new block. & Agenta Wanted-Good Terms. Fire and Accident Insurance affected in the Best Offices.—Jan. 3, 1891.—35-17.

ASSOCIATION.

For the collection of Old and Worthless Accounts in any part of the world, and no charges if not collected. This Association has local offices in Canada and United States. Head and general office, 601 Adelaide-st., east, Toronto, Rooms, 10, 11, 12 and 13. O E. COLLINS, General Manager; H. B. ANDREWS, Sec. Address all communications to Toronto, Ont., Address all communications to Toronto, Ont., office. Telephone No. 2463. This is the only Association that settles accounts and advances the money to the creditor if desired.

O. E. COLLINS, Manager. Sept. 10th, 1890.-18-1y.

HOW TO USE OUR EYES

BY FRANK LAZARUS,

And how to preserve them from infancy to old age. To be had free by calling or sending to

J. RIGGS, Agont. This book is thoroughly practical. Gives useful information to those enjoying good sight and wishing to retain it.

All agents use Lazarus' improved method of fitting the Best Spectacles in the World.

They never tire the eye and last many years without change. For sale by J. RIGGS, Jewelry and Fancy Store, Kent-st., Lindsay. Manufactured by FRANK LAZARUS (late of Lazarus & Morris, Hartford, Conn.) 28 Maryland Road, Harrow Road, London, England.

Eudo Mineral Water.

"EUDO

A SPEEDY AND SURE REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness and Sick Headache, Constipation, Chronic Diarrhos, Nervous Debility, Insomnia, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Gravel and all Urinary Troubles, Rheumatism, Chilbiains, Gout and all Dropsical Affections, Convulsions, Inflammation of the Eyes and all Scrofulous Affections such as Eczema, > all Throat Affections, Etc. PRICE LIST.

Salt Rheum, Piles, etc., Catarrh and

If sent by Express empties return free, and refilled at 25c. per gallon. For sale by all Druggists, Grocers and Liquor Dealers, or L. FORREST.

Proprietor, BRECHIN, Ont Flax-Seed Emulsion Co.

New York City, Sept. 19, 1888.

I have used the Flax-Seed Emulsion in several cases of Chronic Bronchitis, and the early stages of Phthisis, and have been well pleased with the results.

JAMES K. CROOK, M.D.

I can strongly recommend Flax Seed Emulsion as helpful to the relief and possibly the cure of all Lung, Bronchial and Nervous Affections, and a good general tonic in physical debility.

JOHN F. TALMAGE, M.D. NERVOUS PROSTRATION

GENERAL DEBILITY,

WASTING DISEASES And RHEUMATISM. As a Fat Producer has no Equal, and can be retained by the most delicate stomach. Sold by Druggists. Price One Dollar. FLAX-SEED EMULSION CO. 35 Liberty St., New York.

-FOR SALE BY-A. HIGINBOTHAM, Lindsay.

Properties for Sale.

Suit of Clothes LANDS FOR SALE.

Lot 9, 3rd con. 200 acres. W hf 5, 3rd con, except village lots.

E hf 7, 4th con, 100 acres, FENELON

W hf 8, 7th con, 100 acres.

N W qr 8, 5th con, 50 acres.

E hf 5, 11th con, 100 acres.

MANVERS.

money to loan at lowest rates.

Shf of Sh 24, 12th con, 50 acres, except 2 acres. MILL PROPERTY. Valuable mill property a 1d 2,400 acres lumber imits in the township of Harvey.

Also a large number of other valuable proper ties for sale or to rent. A large amount o

Apply to G. H. HOPKINS, 68-tf. Barrister, etc. Lindsay, Lumber.

KILLABY & KENNEDY, Wholesale and retail dealers in all kinds of LUMBER, BILL STUFF AND WOOD.

Lumber of every description, Dry, Dressed and Matched, ready for use. Bill Stuff of all kinds in stock, Framing Timber and Joists of all lengths. Saingles of all grades cheap,

FIREWOOD the best quality delivered to any part of Insurance.

BARTHOLOMEW.

Agricultural Insurance Co. of Watertown Commercial Union Insurance Co. of Lon

Citizens' Insurance Co., Montreal. Confederation Life Association, Teronto, Canada Permanent Loan and Savings Co,

Waterous Engine Works Co., Brantford,

$30,000 To Loan at 6 per cent,

Office at residence, corner of Lindsay and Glenelg Streets, Lindsay. Lindsay, March 15, 1888.—88-tf.

THE LIVERPOOL AND LONDON AND GLOBE INSURANCE COMPANY

FIRE AND LIFE. The Largest Fire Insurance Company in the World. Accumulated funds...,. 30,500,600 Invested in Canada..... 900,000

Rates and premiums as low as any other respectable company. The settlement of losses prompt and liberal. The resources and standing of this company afford those insured in perfect security against loss. LIFE DEPARTMENT.

Assurance effected with or without profits at moderate rates. Four-fifths of profits given to policy helders. For particulars or rates apply F. C. TAYLOR, Agent for Lindsay and Victoria. Co.

HIRST'S PAIN WILL POSITIVELY CURE

Bowel Complaints, Diarrhoea -AND ALL-SUMMERCOMPLAINTS

CRAMPS, PAINS IN THE STOMACK

THE HOUSE.

KEEP A BOTTLE IN

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

Marriage Licenses. J. LeROY, Coboconk.—Issuer of R. J. Lekoy, Cobooxia.

Narriage Licenses for the County of Victoria. Aug. 25, 1890.—16-1yr.

PICHARD BRANDON. Le Issuer of Marriage Licenses. Office, Cameron Street. Residence, corner King and Munro-sts., Cannington, Ont.-74 15.

CEORGE DOUGLASS,

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES. MANILLA, ONT. S. PORTER,

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES, LINDSAY, ONT.

Lindsay, Oct. 29, 1884.-12.

BRITTON. of the arm of Britton Bros., Jewellers

SSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES FOR THE COUNTY OF VICTORIA.

Miscellaneous. THE CANADIAN POST WILL BE Britain or the United States for One Dollar a year. Address THE POST, Lindsay, Canada.

CUNIGAL'S LIVERY STABLES.

York Street Lindsay, Comfortable oca veyances and good horses on hire at reasonable rates. BRIAN GUNIGAL. THE OLD RELIABLE BRICK YARD. -Established 1870-I have now on hand in my yard at Cannington a choice quantity of BEICE which I will sell at the yard or deliver at the Cannington station or Wood-ville station. My brick for color and quality cannot be besten. JOHN WAKELIN, Can-nington, Dec. 3, 1887-74-1yr. FOR SALE.

300 000 RED BRICK. The subscriber has for sale a large quantity of choice Red Brick at his yard north of Carmington, or at the Cannington railway station, which he will sell at reasonable rates to make room for his summer stock. Apply to Cannington, April 24, 1839.-46. 20 Standard Novels By Wilkie Collins, George Eliot, Charles Reade, R. L. Stevenson, Rider Haggard and other famous authors. All

FOR $1.00

JOHN SACKVILLE, Cannington.

Post paid. Well bound and handsomely illus-trated. The greatest offer ever extended to the Canadian public. Remit by P.O. order or regis-DOMINION PUB'G CO., Toronto.

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

CHEAP EXCURSIONS TO EUROPE. Fortnightly Sailings from

Portland or Halifax, TO Derry or Liverpool. CABIN RATES $49, $50 and $60 Single. $88, $90 and $110 Return, according to location of Staterooms.

INTERMEDIATE, Outward $25, Prepaid $30. Steerage at Lowest Rates. Accommodations Unsurpassed. Apply to H. & A. ALLAN, Montreal, or R. S. PORTER, Lindsay.

NO CATTLE CARRIED.

BAKING THE COCK'S BEST FRIEND

for Infants and Children.

I recommend it as superior to any prescription

111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

DR. KOCH'S LYMPH.

weeks I myself have had opportunity to quarter of Lot No. 14, in the 13th Con. of bring together further experiences touching the curative effects and diagnostic application of the remedy in the cases of about 150 sufferers from tuberculosis of the most varied types in this city and in the Mcabite hospital. I can only say that everything I have latterly seen accords with my previous observations. There has been othing to modify what I have reported. As long as it was only a question of proving the accuracy of my indications, it was needless for any one to know what the remedy contained or whence it was derived. On the contrary, subsequent testing would necessarily be more unblased the less people know of the remedy itself. Now after sufficient confirmatory testing the importance of the remedy is proved, my next task is to extend my study of the remedy beyond the field where it has hitherto been applied, and if possible to apply the principle underlying the discovery to other diseases. This task naturally demands a full knowledge of the remedy. I therefore consider the time has arrived when the requisite indications in this direction shall be made. This is done in what Block, opposite Hurley & Brady's follows. Before going into the remedy itself, I deem it necessary, for the better understanding of its mode of operation, to state briefly the way by which I arrived at the discovery. If the h althy Guinea pig be inoculated with the pure cultivation of German culture of tubercle bacilli, the wound caused by the inoculation mostly closes over with a sticky matter and appears in its early days to heal. Only after ten to fourteen days a hard module presents itself, which, soon breaking, forms an ulcerating sore which continues until the animal dies. Quite a different condition of things occurs when a guinea pig already suffering from tuberculosis is inlated from four to six weeks is best adapted for this purpose. In such an animal the -mail indentation assumes the same sticky coating at the beginning, but no nodule forms. On the contrary, on the day following, or the second day after the inoculation, the place where the lymph is injected shows a strange hue; it becomes oculated. An animal successfully inocu- ITD MITTIID ADITADIT cultivation of the tubercle baccilif. HOW IT FEELS-A LYMPH PATIENT RELATES HIS EXPERIENCE. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.-A patient who has received three injections of Kcch's lymph related his sensations when under treatment to a representative of the Record yesterday. The patient, a middle-aged man, came under the care of Dr. William M. Agney, at the Home for Consumptives a few days ago. "Not the least interesting part of my experience," he said, "has been the taking of the injections. Apprehensions not unlike those of one on the way to the dentist's were mingled with the hopes of recovery that I felt before receiving the first dose of lymph. But I had no reason for fear; the operation was nothing to speak of. A slight pricking sensation, a feeling of fulness beneath the ekin at the site of the puncture, and I was put to bed to await the action of the remedy. A drowsiness came over me, but I did not sleep, and a hot flush spread over me. I seemed for the time to be removed from surrounding objects, and to live apart from the people about me. Still I was conscious doubt that she loved Edward Layton, I of my whereabouts. The feeling was preferred to retire rather than render her similar to the delirium of fever, and the unhappy. By so doing I think I won her attendants said my temperature was esteem, and it is for her sake I wish Lay- elevated. After these sensations had lasted for a time I became slightly chilly and fell asleep. When I awoke I was in a natural frame of mind. "The same experience followed the second injection, but after the third dose of the remedy my temperature, to the surprise of Dr. Angney, fell from 98.6 to 96.1, instead of rising, as is > said to be usual. -Frederick Heifert, an insane man, was found oppo-itely ex-President Cleveland's residence in New York the other day wait-'ing for a chance to "remove" the ex-

When I say Cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time, and then merely to stop them for a time, and then or Falling Sickness a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to Cure the Because others have failed is no real on for not now receiving a cure. Send at latise and a Free Bottle of my Infallible Remedy. Give Express and it costs you nothing for a trial, and it will cure you. Address 2—H. A BOOT, by Office. 188 WEST APPELANCE AVECT, TORGATO.

THOUSANDS OF BOTTLES

Two Doors East of Porter's Bookstore. Lindsay, Oct. 1st, 1898.—21.