THE WRIT FOR SOUTH VIC-

The government fear defeat. A change in one-half of the bye-elections will turn them out. Such change is quite likely judging from the feeling throughout the giving FREE to all who buy our Li-quor Tea, at country. In a constituency like South Victoria the binder twine question alone should result in the defeat of the ministerial candidate. If the farmers ever Abbott combination is neither strong nor popular. Leading conservative journals but Mr. Abbott, who is a timid old party, is afraid to touch the rickety thing least if tumble to pieces.

THE BINDER TWINE QUES-

est in the binder twine question. They have felt acutely this season oppressiveness of monopoly and have had hollowness of the N. P. as a policy beneficial to the farmer. It is a capital thing for the monopolist-for the binder twine combine-but it places an extra burthen and tax on the already overburthened and over-taxed consumer. The binder twine manufacturer gets his raw materials free and enjoys a protection of Thirty per cent. on the article he produces. The farmer has to pay heavy duties on with; and when it comes to his productions he has found out by this time what miserable sham is the "protection" sops likely to get what he wants. thrown to him on articles the prices of which are practically decided in the great free open markets of the world. The farmer sells his wheat at the prices etermined in Liverpool and London in pen competition with free wheat from all quarters of the earth. The binder twine makers meet in the red parlor and by a combine, operating under a protective tax of 30 per cent, fix the price at which they shall sell their product, and have to sell his twine at a price deter- 150,000 imperial gallons. mined in open market in London, or it is on the other side-in the American market. A great many farmers who happen to have been conservatives say this is all right, and support the tax or pulling. combine by their votes, because it happens to be part of the N. P. or policy supported by the conservative government. The conservative farmers aforesaid know quite well that it is an unsound policy: Fairbairn, (conservative). Mr. Walters is that it is enriching a few fat monopolists an able and popular man, and he strongly at the expense of the farming community; but still on party grounds they vote for it. One would suppose they would have that now prevails. His opponent was only sufficient independence to cast off partisanship and vote for the true interests of themselves and their country. It must be remembered that not only do they pay a tribute or tax every year to has had its effect. The prosecution has the binder combine but to many other come down and has intimated through thus contributed each year by each farmer | cruel to continue further the "persecution" is a very large one.

Victoria is intensified by the fact that Mr. Fairbairn stands out conspicuously as the champion of the binder twine monopoly. When the combine was being vigorously assailed in the house last session Mr. Fairbairn rushed to its defence; and his speech coming from one who posed as a large practical farmer virtually saved the combine from destruction. The case against the combine was so strong and was pressed with so much vigor and ability by the reform members that it is not at all improbable that the government would have yielded; but Mr. vigor and ability by the reform members Fairbairn spoke and in this case for the combine at least, though not by any means for the over-taxed farmers, it may be said in the words of the poet, with a slight | conservative journals for cabinet reconmodification,-

"One blast upon his bugle horn Was worth 10,000 men ($10,000)".

The combine was saved by the timely no "one imagined that this straggling eloquence of the hon, member for South Victoria, who spoke as a farmer, and one would have supposed in the interest of farmers, but really for the combine and in the interest of higher prices against the farmer. It kept up monopoly and put money into the bulging pockets of the rich monopolists taken unnecessarily out of the pockets of the hard-worked farmers. Many conservative farmers, we

"Uncle Thomas" has as good case for getting off as Sir Hector.

Montreal Star: "Mr. Tarte has more explicit charges against Sir Adolphe Caron than his first vague threat to put him in a fluid undesirable for external application. He now says that the knight of the monocle promised to help him press his charges against Sir Hector Langevin and then "ran away like a hare"; that he supported his candidature in Portneuf previous to the elections until Sir John Macdonald called him in; that he sided him in Montmorency Sir Adolphe to break the silence."

The Montreal Star (independent conservative) re-echoes the demand of other struction. The Star says it was understood that reconstruction would take place immediately after the last session; that formation and parlor car leadership (of Mr. Abbott's) was to be continued through the crucial struggle of the bye-elections. The party organs themselves admit this, and demand reconstruction." The Star con-cludes: "If cowardice blocks the way to a bold programme of reconstruction, then the party must remove the coward-and

A cable to the Globes quotes the London Chronicle of Tuesday in an article on the position of Canada as saying: "Mr. Angers's action will force the electors who consider purity of administration of the highest moment to vote against constitutional freedom, while those resolved to support constitutional freedom will have to vote against administrative purity." Reviewing the outlook generally, it declares "the anticipations of progress held out at Confederation have not been realised. What Canada needs now more than anything else is industrial and commercial freedom. Her perennial difficulties with the United States and Newfoundland arise from her absurd protective system. Mr. Laurier struck the true note when he declared Canadians should approach the Americans on economic, not on political lines. Continental free trade but no political annexation should be the watchword of every Canadian who wishes to live and takes an enlightened interest in the economic future of his country." tinental free trade and no political annexation is the watchword of the OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN POST, LINDSAY, Dec. 31, 1891. Toronto Live Stock Market. Seeing that there were only fifteen loads of stock at the western cattle yards Tuesday it can eastly be surmised that business did not amount to much. Of the total receipts thirteen loads were cattle, the remaining two loads being composed of hogs. Trade was principally confined to butchers' cattle, and the demand, which was light, was entirely local. Prices were easy, and ranged from $3 to $3 35, in only one case reaching $3 50. The mild weather and the fact that butchers have not disposed of half the stock they bought before Christmas account for the present duliness, and it is not expected that business will improve to any great extent for were 249 cattle, 472 sheep and lambs and 235
