

Ayer's Remedies.

A FRIEND

Speaks through the Boothby (Ms.) Register, of the beneficial results he has received from a regular use of Ayer's Pills. He says: "I was feeling sick and tired and my stomach seemed all out of order. I tried a number of remedies, but none seemed to give me relief until I was induced to try the old reliable Ayer's Pills. I have taken only one box, but I feel like a new man. I think they are the most pleasant and easy to take of anything I ever used, being so finely sugar-coated that even a child will take them. I urge upon all who are in need of a laxative to try Ayer's Pills. They will do good."

THE STORY OF AN OTTAWA BUSINESS MAN.

Attlicted With Deafness and Partial Paralysis—Obliged to Give up His Business on Account of These Infirmities—To the Surprise of His Friends Has Been Fully Restored to Health.

From the Ottawa Free Press.

Mr. R. Ryan, who is well known in Ottawa and vicinity, having been until recently a merchant of this city, relates an experience that cannot fail to prove interesting to all our readers. It is well known to Mr. Ryan's acquaintances that he has been almost totally deaf since twelve years of age, and that some time ago this affliction was made still more heavy by a stroke of partial paralysis. Recently it has been noticed that Mr. Ryan has been cured of these troubles, and a reporter, thinking that his story would be of benefit to the community, requested permission to make it public, and it was given by Mr. Ryan as follows: "In the fall of 1887, when I was about twelve years of age, I caught a severe cold in the head, which gradually developed into deafness, and daily became worse, and in the month of July, 1884, I had become totally deaf, and was forced on account of this to leave school. The physician whom I consulted informed me that my deafness was incurable, and I concluded to bear my ailments as well as I could. In 1889 I started a store about two miles from Carleton Place, Que., but not being able to converse with my patrons on account of my deafness, I found it almost impossible to make any success. However, things were getting a little brighter until last April when I took a severe cold, or rather what appeared to be a cramp in my right leg below the knee. I was then doing business in Ottawa, having come to the city from the place above mentioned. At first I gave no heed to the pain, thinking it would disappear; but on the contrary it grew worse, and in the course of a few weeks I had to use a cane and could scarcely bear any weight on my leg. I continued to go about this way for two weeks, when a similar cramp attacked my left arm, and in less than two weeks, in spite of all I could do for it, I could not raise the arm four inches from my body and I found that the trouble was partial paralysis. Judge my condition—a leg and an arm useless and deaf besides. Being able to do nothing else, I read a great deal one day and another, and in the city papers of a man being cured of paralysis by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I immediately began the use of Pink Pills, and before I had finished the third box I noticed a curious sensation in my leg, and the pain began to leave it excepting when I endeavored to walk. Well, the improvement continued, gradually extended to my arm, and by the time I had completed the seventh box my leg and arm were as well as ever, and my general health was much better. And now comes a stranger part of my experience. I began to wonder why people who were conversing with me would shout so loud. Of course they had always had to shout owing to my deafness, but I was under the impression that they were beginning to shout much louder. After having taken them "speaking lower" several times, I enquired why they still persisted in shouting, or rather yelling at me, and was surprised to be informed that they were not speaking as loud as formerly. This led to an investigation which was supposed to have been caused by my eating. I continued the Pink Pills for a month and a half longer, and I now consider myself perfectly cured, and after having been deaf for ten years, I can hear ordinary conversation and am fit for business, though I am yet a little dull of hearing, but this is not deafness, it is simply deafness, the result of my ten years' deafness to hear conversations, which still leaves with an inclination not to heed what is being said. But I am all right and you may say from me that I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the best medicine known to man, and that I will be forever indebted to them for my renewed health and strength.

No paper ethics usually prevent the publication in the news columns of anything that might be construed as an advertisement, and thus much valuable information is supposed that might prove of incalculable benefit to thousands. The praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be sung throughout the land, they should be familiar in every household, and newspapers should unite in making them so. An analysis shows that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, all diseases depending on vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of any nature.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schoenectady, N. Y., and are sold in boxes (never in loose form) by the dozen or hundred, and the public are cautioned against numerous imitations sold in this shape at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company from either address.

REV. G. D. BAYNE ON THE P. P. A.

A Sermon Preached in Calvin Church, Pembroke.

The Society Condemned—Does it Misrepresent True Protestantism—How can such Conduct be Wrong for Catholics, yet Right for Protestants?

A sermon dealing with the Protestant Protective Association was preached recently by Rev. G. D. Bayne, M. A., pastor of Calvin Presbyterian Church, Pembroke. The text chosen was Matthew xv, 13; "Every plant which my heavenly Father hath not planted shall be rooted."

The preacher began by pointing out that what is right and true will always prevail; the Bible, poetry and philosophy are at one on this point. "Every plant which my Father hath not planted shall be rooted up." "Truth crushed to earth shall rise again," saith poetry, and philosophy adds, "There is a power in the universe not ourselves which makes for righteousness." It is settled, then, that what is wrong and false cannot triumph.

But the accomplishment of the Divine purpose involves human freedom and action. We are responsible for our part in bringing about the final triumph of truth, and each one has a part to perform in suppressing and eliminating falsehood and error. It is neither pious nor patriotic to stand idly by and let what is hurtful or false have its way without rebuke. If "every plant which my Father hath not planted shall be rooted up," then obviously His friends must have a hand in the uprooting. God employs human agencies to perform His work and carry out His designs. Again, if the accomplishment of the Divine purpose involves human freedom and action, it is clear that freedom and action involve human responsibility, and that is what the real gentleman wished—that all could feel their individual responsibility in the sight of God.

THE PULPIT AND POLITICS. Now, the political kaleidoscope has evolved some curious and interesting things. Generally speaking, he thought the pulpit should abstain from political discussions, simply because it has enough to do without discussing politics, and because many ministers are not sufficiently well informed on purely political questions to discuss them to advantage. Other men are better prepared for such discussions, because they have devoted time and labor to political study. But when moral and religious factors are involved or drawn into the political arena, then ministers have a duty to perform, for there are aspects of such matters on which they are most competent to speak, and speak they should. When it is a minister's duty to speak, it were a shameful thing to be silent for fear of hurting the feelings or alienating the friendship of any man. The prophets of old took a conspicuous part in the affairs of the nation, but only when moral and religious issues were directly involved.

In discussing the Protestant Protective Association one may be met with the usual argument, "You do not understand this society, you are not one of its members, and therefore ought not to speak." But it is not necessary to belong to the society to be in a position to criticize it, for "by their fruits ye shall know them." We may be able to judge of the fruits without knowing the process by which they were produced. Suppose a vine were engaged extensively in the work of foreign espionage; suppose that their zeal and energy were here. It would be quite true that non-members could not know interior facts and motives, and yet no man could avoid forming a judgment as to accordance with the facts that they did know, and that that judgment should be based on the Orangerum were engaging in a most laudable enterprise. And the same would be true of the Freemasons, Foresters and other societies. And he was prepared to form a judgment on facts which have been published and been submitted to the world in connection with the Protestant Protective Association. These facts we do know:—

(1) It is a secret organization; its operations are in the dark; it is bound by an oath of secrecy.

(2) Its chief aims are political, and one of its leading purposes is to prevent Roman Catholics, because they are Roman Catholics, from obtaining offices under the municipal, provincial or federal governments.

These statements are not denied, and they warrant the following judgment:—

RETROGRESSIVE AND DANGEROUS.

(1) It is a retrogressive and dangerous movement, and, if carried out logically, it would destroy all the benefits we have derived from half a century of self-government and enlightened school system and advanced civilization, and would end in the disruption of confederation. If legitimate for one element of the population to make such an organization, why not another? Why not for the one and one-quarter millions of French-Canadian Roman Catholics in Quebec? Why not for the Millionaires in the Northwest? Why not for the different Protestant denominations? Some of these could beat us at the game. Why not the principle be carried out as between province and province? Where would the end be? If one section of the population be justified in plotting and scheming for the ascendancy of that particular portion, then the end must be dismemberment, and perhaps civil war. We have, he said, enough of conflicts over parish politics and ward affairs without importing an American institution (the Protestant Protective Association) to intensify racial and religious strife. When the Jews wished to murder their Lord they imported a heathen institution of torture for the purpose. Are we to do the same? The idea of confederation was a grand one; it was on the line of progress and consolidation. The same may be said of the Presbyterian church, and of the desire of many Christians to see different branches of the church consolidated. He said he need not say he was a Protestant; he was not guilty of broad churchism, nor of over-tolerance, and was as far removed from ritualism as it was possible; he could therefore speak with a good grace. The idea of confederation, as well as the idea of Christianity, can best be realized by beating with one another's peculiarities—by minimizing trifles, by broad toleration. This great country can realize its ideal only by amalgamating races and dwelling together in unity. For it is a great country—the best on earth; capable of enormous development and power for good. But if this disintegrating principle is to be admitted, then shall we be broken into little, helpless fragments—be turned back to medieval traditions, and become an easy prey to any who might invade. Here he illustrated with the apt story of Andubon's dogs, let loose to drive away an enemy, but instead set to fight among themselves until the enemy prevailed.

As a result of the crusade against the police, the lines were drawn a little closer Sunday around the saloons of New York city. An order went forth that all the places where liquor was obtainable must be closed for 24 hours from 12 o'clock Saturday night, but the only effect it had, apparently, was to close the front door and cause the blinds to be tightly drawn. At the close of the day 142 excise arrests had been recorded.

Popular Everywhere. Beginning with a small local sale in a retail drug store, the business of Hood's Sarsaparilla has steadily increased until there is scarcely a village or hamlet in the United States where it is unknown.

Today Hood's Sarsaparilla stands at the head in the medicine world, admired in prosperity and envied in misfortune by thousands of would-be competitors. It has a larger sale than any other medicine before the American public, and probably greater than all other sarsaparillas combined.

Such success proves merit. If you are sick, is it not the medicine for you to try? Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
