The question to be considered is whether we should take up the Chipman Plan as a whole or such portions of it as are urgently needed. It is important not only as a public and domestic convenience, and in the interest of public health, but the sewers and all connections to the side line of the streets should be made before any expenditures are made in the way of improving streets and walks. I need only mention that Kent-st. has been very much affected by the constant digging of drains into the main sewer, hence the necessity of completing the sewerage works on the several streets before street improvements are undertaken, which should follow as soon af-
