Chapter of Accidents.

Many friends will sympathize with Mr. O. W. Routley, who met with a serious accident last Friday in Sylvester Bros., wood-working shop, as noted in last night's issue. While working at the shaping machine his right hand slipped into the knives and was badly mangled. Dr. Jeffers dressed the wound, and later on the thumb and first finger were amputated.

Last Friday about five o'clock Mr. Wm Irvine, met with a rather peculiar accident. While walking around Mr. Jas. Boxall's store, and not noticing the trap door open, he fell to the cellar below with such force as to render madiately summoned and Mr. Irvine was taken to his home, cor. Kent and the Lindsay and Dundas clubs. Adelaide-sts. when it was found he had received a severe shaking up, but fortunately no bones were broken.

Lindsay Rinks in the Curlers' Annual -The Annual Excursion-The Rink

The secretary has received the Annual for 1899, published by the Ontario Curling Association. The volume is of peculiar interest to Lindsay, as our curlers received considerable notice at the hands of the editors. Pages 5, 6 and 7 recount "An End at Curling,' played in the final Tankard Draw of 1897-1898, between Lindsay and Dundas. Page 11 contains a poem, "The Curling Stages,' by R. J. McLennau. Page 24, "General Items of Interest from Lindsay Club." Pages 67-80 contain an account of the final games in the Tankard and Governor-General's Competition. Lindsay clubs figure very prominently in these pages. Photos of the Tankard Eight and of the 1898 banner appear. The caretaker has a number of copies, and members who wish one can secure a copy from him. We expect in a few days to give our readers full information respecting the Curlers' Excursion. It is intended to run the excursion through to Hamilton date about the 25th of this month. It is expected that the rate will be low, and persons can either go through to Hamilton or stay off in Toronto, as they wish. The Club intends to take with them only ten rinks this year, and to make these rinks as strong as possible. If a ten rink game can be arranged with the Toronto Granites for the evening, the club will stop over
