SEABRIGHT. [Correspondence of The Post.]

SICKNESS - Mumps, whooping cough and colds are very prevalent around here this winter, and a number of deaths among the young folks have already occurred, while others are seriously ill. Doctors Gilchrist of Orilita and Doherty of West Sebright have been kept hustling for a number of weeks and are still to be seen passing and repassing our village almost every day. All credit is due to Dr. Gilchrist for the success which he has had in the treatment of lung diseases around here. BUILDING.-Mr. E T. H. Henning, hotel keeper of this place is erecting a large icehouse in connection with his store. This will be an improvement to our already thriving village, and will be a great boon to the villagers and farmers of this vicinity. a they can purchase at home ice of just as good a quality and at a much lower price than that which they formerly had to purchase at Orillia, besides saying a shipment some sixteen miles. The Orillians will have to find some other market for their ice during the coming summer.

PERSONAL.-Rev. Mr. Gilchrist, our devoted and ever vigilant pastor, is away taking a two weeks' holiday. All join in wishing him abundant recreation.... A NARROW ESCAPE. - If ever a man had narrow escape from death, that man was Mr. E. E Stickney of Manchester. His daughter and daughter-in law were returning from a drive, and while going down a hill the hold-backs broke. In an instant the horse dashed away, leaving the ladies oundering in a snow drift, happily uninured, but most woefully shaken up. Being within a short distance of home, everything was seen by Mr. Stickney, who rushed out, halloing at the top of his voice to the now frightened animal to stop. On it came like a whirlwind, and before friend Stickney could get out of its way, one of the shafts went clear through his coat within an inch his breast. Quicker than thought he was carried for s-veral rods in this precari position. Then the horse slipped ing on our friend's legs and pinning him to the ground. With the timely assistance of friends he was with difficulty extricated and carried into the house. For tuna ely no bones were broken; but we der, A. McNabb, D. Copeland, J. Campdon't think Mr. Stickney will ever forget that exciting ride on the end of a shaft. In that line of horsemanship he is without a doubt the champion. - [Chronicle.

kinmount Races.—The trotting races, which took place at Kinmount on the 29th and 30th ult., attracted considerable interest in this place among the trotting element, there being no less than three fast horses, owned respectively by Noble Ingram. Hank Brooks and Joseph Cooper, all of whom "followed their hand" to Kinmount with the expectation of seeing their horses draw big money. Mr. Ingram's trotter, under the able management of his jockey, Dick Crue, was the only one out of the three from here that succeeded in making its owner happy, it having taken first place in two races. Noble had the misfortune to have his sulky bedly smashed, but this mishap counted for nothing after having won so much glory, to say nothing about stakes.

reek has been rather dull in the village, but after the roads become more passable than they are at present there is no doubt things will brighten perceptibly. The heavy snow storms of the last few days had the effect of partially blocking many roads. It is reported that the farther north one travels the snow keeps getting deeper and deeper. Notwithstanding this it has only been necessary for the G T R. to run a snow plow from Lindsay to Haliburton once this winter, that trip being made on Tuesday of Snow-Shoe Club,-Inall probability Fenelog

[Crowded out last week.] The Pace is too Fast. "Life is sweet" is an old saying, and just as true as it is old. No one in his or her right senses courts death; all wish to prolong life to the utmost limit, and yet, alloted three score years and ten-and even longer-thousands upon thousands of people through carelessness and neglect, are hastening the time when they must stand face to face with the grim reaper. and make the plunge alone into "the dark valley of the shadow of death." No disease on this continent claims so many victims as consumption, and reliable 25cat HIGIN BOTHAM'S statistics prove that fully two-thirds of the deaths occurring from consumption had their origin in catarrh. Nothing but negligence caused this last disease to develop into consumption, and the person who neglects to promptly and persistently treat catarrh until all traces are eradicated, is simply hastening the coming of death. Even should catarrh not develop into consumption, it nevertheless shortens life, as every breath the patient inhales passes over poisonous secretions and thus effects the whole system. For the cure of catarrh no remedy ever discovered equals Balm, which is recognized from the Atlantic to the Pacific as the only certain cure for this disease. It removes the secretions from the nostrils, stops the poisonous

inisterial Reasons for Dissolution Insufficient-Popular Opinion Favoring Reciprocity-Stirring Up Anti-American Feeling-The Conduct of Sir Chas.

[To the Editor of The Mail.] SIR,—Neither in the speech of the miniser of justice, who is the guardian of constitutional law, nor in those of his three colleagues, is there any attempt to justify the violence done to the constitution by a dissolution of parliament before the legal term and without constitutional cause. The ministers seem to feel that they can safely trample on constitutional principle, secure in the indifference to public right which a long course of government by corruption and the frenzy of party combined have engendered in the Canadian people. Is the doctrine to be accepted that a importa parliament holds its life, not for the term for which it has been elected by the people, but during the pleasure of an unscrupulous | British politician? Is unprincipled ambition to be anthorized as often as its ends can be campaig served by snapping a national verdict to sioner r plunge the country into all the confusion, disturbance of trade, expense and excite- this cri ment of passions, scarcely less malignant | salvation than those of civil war, which attend upon general election? Is the community to be convulsed as often as it suits a political regard to cambler to throw his dice? Is the prero- Canada cative of dissolution to be used, as it has been on this occasion, for the purpose of affiliated preventing public opinion from ripening not that on a great question, and thus securing the election of a parliament which shall belie the genuine sentiment of the people? Would any same framer of a constitution What the pundits of Ottewa may have to say upon this question I know not. I sat for many years at the feet of British statesmen who were perfectly informed on every point of constitutional right, and who, even if they had possessed an equivo- before, w cal power, knew how, in their exercise of from the It, to keep their ambition under the con- his frien trol of their dury to the country. Whatstatesmen as to the constitutional causes not only for dissolution, sure I am that not one of em would have thought of asking the overeign to exercise the prerogative, without constitutional cause, as a mere move in he party game. I may add with equal confidence that whatever they did they would never have told their sovereign or the nation an uniruth. INSUFFICIENT REASONS. The reason assigned for the dissolution by the only one of the four ministers who condescended to touch the subject was so ransparently ficitious that he scarcely can be said to have paid public morality the homage even of an attempt at deception. He said that he and his colleagues vere preparing to make overtures through commission to the government at Washngton for the extension of trade relations, and that they could not do this with advantage unless they had a freshly elect- the people paritament at their backs.
