A VICTIM OF CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

His confident, hopeful manner inspired me with confidence, and after partaking of a substantial breakfast we both set out for Braxton. Fowler had hired a cab by the hour, with a promise of double fare to the driver, to whom he gave explicit instructions. We did not enter the house; we lingered at the corner of a street as some distance from it, and at 9:30 Miss Ida White closed the street door behind her. Secret signals passed between Fowler and his men, and we followed the lady's maid, the cab which Fowler had engaged crawling in our rear without attracting attention. Miss White sauntered on until she came to a cab stand, and entering a cab, was driven away. We were after her like a shot. Two other cabs started at the same time, and I learned from Fowler that they were hired by his men. "These things have drawn me out," he said, "but I have left the house, and I will remain there the whole of the day. She has started early. It will make it all the easier for us."

A stampede commenced to the lower ground. The grand stand was half empty. Then it was that I saw a man who had just come up give a secret look of intelligence to Fowler, after which he strode a few paces away, and stood with his back toward Miss White. Fowler joined him with a negligent air, and very soon returned. "I am very sorry you lost," he said to Miss White, "and quite as sorry that I must wish you good by."

THE DOMINION CONTEST. Continued from first page. farmer has found a market, the artisan and laborer employment and good wages. I take issue with the prime minister upon such statements. I characterize them as false in every particular. This controversy, without any argument, leaves to the dispassionate judgment of the electoral body, the right of the artisan, the farmer, every farmer who feels in his heart that the N. P. has done for him all that is here claimed, would naturally vote for the continuation of such a policy with the other hand every artisan who has to work on the half-time and at reduced wages in those so-called revived centres of industries, every farmer whose farm has been steadily decreasing in value for the last ten years, would naturally be expected to vote for reform.

ADDLE YOUR OWN CANOE. "Voyagers on life's sea, To yourself be true, And whatever your lot may be, Paddle your own canoe."

"To yourself be true," and "and thou shalt not be false to any man." "Self-love is not to tie a sin as self-neglecting." Then "b'wice to-day, 'tis madness to defer." Let Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for all affections of the lungs and throat. It is likewise a wonderful liver tonic, and invigorator. It's the cheapest blood-purifier sold through druggists, because you only pay for the good you get. Your money is returned if it doesn't benefit or cure you. Can you ask more?

It isn't the usual way. It's just the reverse—to pay a patient when you can't cure him. Nevertheless, that's what's done by the makers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. They promise to pay you $500 if they can't cure your catarrh, no matter how bad the case. It isn't mere talk—it's business. You can satisfy yourself of it, if you're interested. And you ought to take the risk—you ought to be glad to take the medicine.

The Commercial "Loyalty" Cry Exposed.—Tory Discrimination against Great Britain. [Ontario Free Press] With the view of making it appear that there is something "loyal" about the policy of trade restriction and protectionism the tory organs are faking up bogus despatches from England setting forth that some people over there are greatly disturbed over the success of the movement in favor of unrestricted reciprocity.

Not at all, he said, in effect, that the people of Canada were not going to submit to dictation from Birmingham and Manchester traders, and that if the policy of his government discriminated against British trade so much the worse for Britain. The people of Canada paid no attention to the hypocrisy of the tory organs in England about their tariff legislation in 1878, and they are not going to be deterred now from adopting that policy which is best for their own country. If the tories are truly loyal let them reduce the duties upon British goods, let the tory organs in England and the British tory organs in Canada pay attention to the hypocrisy of the tory organs in England about their tariff legislation in 1878, and they are not going to be deterred now from adopting that policy which is best for their own country.
