HON. MR. LAURIER'S ADDRESS.

Hon. Mr. Laurier's address to the electors of Canada has the true ring about it. It is a bold, clear and statesmanlike presentation of the issue in the great contest now going on. Mr. Laurier does not beat about the bush but states the case in terms that cannot be misunderstood. He deals satisfactorily with the "loss of revenue" objection, and sweeps away the charge of "veiled treason" unworthily advanced by Sir John Macdonald to distract attention from the main issue.

Mr. Laurier's address compares most dvantageously with the manifesto of Sır John Macdonald. The latter has disppointed and discouraged his supporters, itter and unjustifiable tirade.

We trust the electors of North and outh Victoria will carefully peruse Mr. Laurier's address.

MR. JOHN DRYDEN'S SPEECH.

The speech delivered by the Hon. John ryden at the great reform meeting in oronto is placed in full before our reades in this issue. Every farmer in this sunty should make it his duty to read

Ir. Dryden's address. It will be pleasing s well instructive in view of the impornt duty of marking their ballots that ectors will soon be called on to discharge.

An Ottawa correspondent savs: "The ministers here do not hold the opinion that Sir John Macdonald played a sharp trick on the liberals by bringing about a sudden dissolution of parliament. It is stated on the best authority, and the statement may be depended upon as absolutely true, that every member of the cabinet except Sir John Macdonald was opposed to the dissolution. And it is now pretty generally ad mitted that the judgment of Sir John on this occasion was not as wise as the collective judgment of his colleagues, and that a great mistake was committed which the government would be glad to recall."

Some Political Jottings by a Farmer.

A friend of Mr. Fairbairn's canvassed me on Saturday in town for my vote and I was both amused and surprised to find that he solicited my vote on the ground of "sympathy." He coolly told me that Mr. Fair bairn ought to be elected now because he was put to the trouble and expense of his election in December. I quickly informed him that the liberals did not ack him to come out then nor now; also that the liberals did not dissolve the house and that he had better look to the tories for sympathy as we had none for him. Now, for down-right cheek and unadulterated gall this sympathy cry beats them all, and to our friends everywhere let me say, be on your guard for if they thought the voter did not know any better they would say the house had had five sessions and had to dissolve, and in that case the story might do harm. So be on the look out for canards and roor backs of all sorts. Of course it is hardly possible that they will raise this question knowing the facts as they do, but the look of the look out for canards and roor on account of your brilliant victories.

You have made the town of Lindsay famous over nearly the whole of North America, for not only have your fellow-citizens of Lindsay watched your series of successes with laudable pride, bot, as we well know, the entire province of Ontario has not failed to notice and admire the pluck and enterprise with which you entered upon this competitive struggle, so that in every town in Ontario will the praise of the Lindsay curlers (who single-handed upheld the good name of our province in the great Northwest bonspiel) be sung; but also in the Northwest from Winnipeg to the Rockies, and in every town and city in the United States in which a curling club exists, will the name of Lindsay be held in honor on account of your brilliant victories. question knowing the facts as they do, but torles it is well to be on your guard. Stories of this kind are not likely to be raised until two prowess as curlers, we, as citizens, are even more proud of you—if that be possible—for the ment of the Mariposa men and I know that they want everything above board. We have no sympathy for Mr. Fairbairn and he can thank his own friends and the government he supports for putting him to the expense of elections and not in any way are we responsible for it.

A Little Tory Campaign Dodge Unmasked. [To the Editor of THE POST.]

SIR,-Let me give our reform and free trade friends a word of warning. I find through this locality the tories are saying that Mr. Walters is not a popular man outside of Lindsay and that he is not known, and as a consequence his friends or they expected something more than a will not vote for him. Let me say to all those who are not personally acquainted with Mr. Walters, that the ratepayers of the town consider him an excellent man, and that he has been elected mayor for four years and in January, now past, he defeated Mr. Ray by over 200 votes and outside of Mr. Walters, Mr. Ray is the strongest man in town. Let our friends everywhere see to it, that Mr. Walters's real genuine worth is made known to every doubting pied the chair, having upon his right and man, as it will be simply impossible for him to see every elector in the short time before polling day. It is sickening to hear the tories in this township laud Mr. Lownsbrough to the very skies, when in December there was nothing too bad to say about him. Mr. Lownsbrough is now the fine fellow and Mr. Walters is the appearance of the chair, having upon his right and left the gues:s of the evening. Later in the evening Dr. Poole was called away on professional business, and Mr. Sheriff McLennan acted as chairman most acceptably. After the "inner man" had been satisfied the toast list was taken up and very happy speeches were made by those whose names were coupled with the sentiments. Songs were given at in ervals during the evening. about him. Mr. Lownsbrough is now the fine fellow and Mr. Walters is the unpopular man. [To the Editor of THE POST.] SIR,-D. Gunn, Flavelle & Co. of Toronto are pork packers, and I believe they have bought 30,000 or 40,000 hogs this season, and they will make a very handsome fortune this year if the election goes to suit them; besides the large fortune they will make every year that the present state of affairs continues. I see to-day's papers quote dressed hogs $5 to

THE CURLERS' WELCOME

HOME. Return of the Winnipeg Rink-An In thusiastic Reception-The Banquet Tuesday Evening.

It is safe to say that never in the memor of even the oldest inhabitant was there

witnessed a more enthusiastic and whole souled reception than the one accorded Skip J. D. Flavelle and the members of his victorious rink upon their arrival in town Saturday evening last at 8 o'clock. From the date of the commencement of the great bonspiel the keenest interest in their fortunes had been manifested by the entire the reform party that Mr. Blake has community, and people grew eloquent decided to retire from public life. Mr. about curling who had never even seen the inside of a rink or watched the delicate operation known as "soop ing up." Reputable citizens known to have a stronglydefined weakness for retiring early stood it out sometimes until the "wee sma' hours' when Lindsay was known to be playing, receiving the announcement of each end played with feverish impatience until the stereotyped phrase "Flavelle's won" was ticked off, when they would toss up their caps with joy and plod contentedly home wards. Of such asithese were the men who took the details of the reception in hand. When the eight o'clock express, wi h the champions on board pulled in o the station fully two thousand people were on hand to welcome them, and when they appeared countrymen, not by what is worst, but by on the platform, escorted by Dr. Poole, vice-president of the Lindsay curling club, Mr. J. R. Dundas and Mr. H Ferguson, who had met them at Blackwater, a cheer went up, the like of which had not been heard in Lindsay for many a day, and the citizen's band struck up "Welcome Home." After some brief hand shaking seats were aken in the vehicles provided and the torchlight procession formed The members of the curling and hockey clubs carried their brooms and 'shinneys," and displayed appropriate transparencies, and when the 400 torchbearers stepped out four abreast the sight was an inspiring one indeed The route taken was down Glenelg st. to Linasay st, and thence up Kent to the market building, where the following address of welcome was read by Mayor Walters:

To Messrs. J. D. Flavelle, J. A. McMillan, Wm McLennan, J. A. Bucknell and Fred. Knowlson, members of the Lindsay rink of curlers, at the great Winnipeg bonspiel of GENTLEMEN,—We are met to-night as citizens of Lindsay to welcome you home again, and by shis reception and this address to express to you in some slight degree the great pleasure your victories in Winnipeg have afforded us. Had you been victorious in only one of the contests open to you we would have been proud of your achievements, but when in all the contests open schievements, but when in all the contests open to you you took a foremost place among the greatest curlers of America, winning the first prize in the International contest, the first prize in the All-Comers contest and the third prize in the Grand challenge contest, thereby making such a record as easily to place you in the first place among the curlers of the world, no words of ours can express the pride and pleasure we feel manly, modest way in which you bore your glorious victories, winning for yourself and your fellow-townsmen the respect and goodwill of all with whom you came in contact, and nothing gave us greater pleasure during your absence than the fact that your successes were absence than the fact that your successes were popular in Winnipeg.

We therefore ask you to accept the reception we have tendered you and this address, as in some measure expressive at once of the admiration and esteem in which you are held by your fellow-citizens, and in the hope that it may be your good fortune to add additional laurels and new trophies to those you have already won; on which, in conclusion, we again most heartily congratulate you.—On behalf of the citizens.

Thos. Walters, mayor.

Skip Flavelle and his men replied briefly thanking the cilizens for the hear y nature of the welcome extended them, after which they were driven to their homes. THE BANQUET.

On Tuesday evening the citizens and members of the curling club gave a banquet to the winners at the Royal hotel, which was attended by over eighty of our leading citizens. Genelemen,—Your brothers of the Lindsay Curling Club are delighted to welcome you back again among them; but especially in being able to congratulate you on the series of victories won by you at the Winnipeg bonspiel, comprising the Grand Challenge. International and All-Comers' trophies, in competition with the best and keenest curlers of Manitoba, the Northwes and the adicining states of the American Union.

It did not need the numerous and valueble your skill and prowess at the "roarin' game;" but these trophies and medals in gold and silver are to others tangible evidence not only of your ability as curiers, but of your pluck and enterprise, which caused you to venture so far, and in the face of so much fatigue enabled you to win a series of remarkable successes, which not only do honor to you but to us, and to the town of Lindsay, and which are without a parallel in the province of Ontario, or even in the Dominion or in the neighboring states.

To say that we welcome you home and that To say that we welcome you home and that we are proud of you, is only in a measure to convey the feelings of our hearts. Not only at your homes in Lindsay, but throughout the entire province of Ontario your course has been watched with interest and enthusiasm and your triumph is not only of local but of provincial and even continental importance.

Accept then our warm congratulations on your brilliant success, in which the people of Lindsay heartily join, uniting as they do, with us in tendering you this banquet in your honor, and recognizing in you not only curiers of the first class but good citizens, and "jolly good fellows."—On behalf of the club.
