MARIPOSA STATION.

SCHOOL REPORT.—Standing of pupils of a. s. No. 19 for the month of January. Names ranked according to merit. Sr. IV.—Thomas Lane, Wilmos Webster, Cecil Frouse, Wilbur Lane, Howard Parkinson, Jr. IV.—Mabel Parkin, Amos Chase, Frank Lane, Charles Wickert, Sr. III.—Heather Webber, Edna Lane, Percy Frouse, Mary Wickert, E. H. Strong, Jr. III.—Jay Webster, Edith Frouse, Sr. II.—Katie Fennell, Guy Road, Howard Wickert, Jr. II.—Eins Chase, Ada Webster, Elton Frouse, Class I.—Hattie Lane, Mary Glen, Charlie Road, Jr. I.—Annie Fennell, Dave Wickert.

FENELON FALLS.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Thomas Donaldson, of Fenelon Falls, who has been working in Mr. Stevenson's sawmill in the township of Somerville, met with a serious and painful accident last Friday afternoon. While riding sideways on a load of logs with his legs hanging down, his left foot was caught between one of the logs and a stump at the roadside, which not only dislocated the ankle but broke one of the lower bones of the leg. He was brought to his mother's residence at the Falls, and, under the care of Dr. Graham, is progressing favorably, but will inevitably be laid up for a considerable time.—(Gazette.)

PETERBOROUGH.

FROZEN TO DEATH.—Sunday last anxious searching parties have been seeking for some trace of Dan O'Leary, of Douro township, a young man 20 years of age, who came to town on Monday with a load of wood, and left for home about four o'clock on Friday night. The search was ended by the finding of the dead body of the unfortunate young man, frozen solid, lying between two large snow drifts on a cross-road in Otonabee township. No traces of his team or sleigh were found. The young man's death under such sad circumstances has caused a gloom to fall upon the entire neighborhood where he was known.

MINDEN.

HORSE DROWNED.—Mr. Chas. Kirkwood, of Minden township, was returning home from the lumbering country in the north on Sunday morning last, and had reached within a short distance of his home when his team broke through the ice in Twelve Mile lake, near the portage leading from Twelve Mile to Mountain Lake. Mr. Kirkwood got into the water himself but succeeded in scrambling out, but being alone, and wet, his hands got frost-bitten and he was unable to get the horses out. He worked as long as he had the use of his hands and cut some of the harness straps, but after getting one of the horses nearly out, he got into the water again. He then made for Mr. Hog's, where got assistance, but on coming back found one of the horses had sunk with the sleigh but finally succeeded in rescuing the other. His loss is heavy, but he seems thankful that he did not lose his own life.—(Echo.)

BOBAYGEON.

THE STUFF.—Bobaygeon is modest. It never blows. All the same whatever it says or does is of the finest quality. Bobaygeon has the finest bass fishing on the continent of which we are a portion; its limestone is of the first water; it can supply more parliamentary candidates to the square foot than any other place in the Dominion; it produces the tallest telegraph poles in creation; and on Monday last its post office was the only one in the whole province that had a beautiful live white butterfly of its own. It fluttered about the office and settled around as if wafled on a summer breeze, and when the division clerk laid out a number of notes over dew, you could almost smell the clover and hear the bees humming.

STORM.

The storm on Monday night was a lively one, and some heavy drifts were formed in places. The Peterborough stage had heaps of fun on Tuesday morning and had to take down 20 fences to get through fields avoiding drifts. The Post on Monday, spoke of "snow, turning to rain." It is not often that for many such mistakes would lead to an indignant public putting Mr. Probe, and all his meteorological fixings at the bottom of Toronto bay.

Net for some time, and was brought from Kilmount on a sleigh. It was a handsome animal, and said to have been worth $800. —[Independent.]

PORT HOPE.

A SINGULAR CASE.—Nine years ago Mrs. Charles Rouse, Hayward-st., broke a needle into the great toe of her left foot. It travelled all the way along the foot up the leg and body, and made its appearance the other day at the left breast. The steel is just as bright as when it commenced its journey nine years ago.—[Guide.]

A CLOSE CALL.—Mr. Briggs, shoemaker, had a startling experience on Wednesday afternoon of last week. He went to the creek to dip up a pail of water when the ice gave way and he went in head first. He managed to struggle out and was cut about the face by the ice, as well as being treated to a cold bath.

HORSE NEARLY DROWNED.—A horse, belonging to Mr. Roberts, baker, was nearly drowned Wednesday afternoon of last week. The animal attempted to walk across the creek and broke through the ice. The work of rescuing the animal proved a very difficult task, and when the poor beast was at last hauled out, it was in a very exhausted condition.

JANETVILLE.

[Special Correspondence of THE POST.] SCHOOL REPORT.—The following is the order of standing of pupils in a. s. No. 7, Manvers, for the month of January. Sr. 4th.—Maud Bradburn, A. Marsden, Georgia Halladay, Ella Vincent, Lena Paul, Jr. 4th.—W. Oswald, Sarah McGill, Nina McGill, Emma Howe, Hilliard McGill, T. Howe, Torie Paul, Sr. 3rd.—May Halladay, Annie McGill, Zella McGill, Gertrude McGill, Myrtle Halladay, H. McGill, Mabel Clifford, Jr. 3rd.—Ernie Richardson, Staples Halladay, Ethel Fallis, Erva McGill, H. Johnston, Bert McGill, Ellis Hobbs. Second.—Lillie Ingram, Maggie McGill, Florence McGill, Allie Irwin, Aida McGill, H. McNeil, Jennie Irwin, Jean Oswald, H. Hoastip, G. McGill, Annie Byers, Sr. 1st. pt 2nd.—Charles McNeil, C. Richardson, M. McGill, O. McGill, Gertrude McGill, E. McGill, Jr. 1st. pt 2nd.—Annie McGill, Maggie Hobbs, Irene McGill, J. Halladay, Bertie Robill, H. McGill, L. Wright, J. Byers, M. Wright, H. Johnston, J. Paul, C. Birchard. 1st part not reported.

TORONTO.

FATAL RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.—Miss Mary Panton, aged 35, of London, who was visiting with Mr. C. H. Hepden, at 200 Westmoreland-st., was killed by a runaway horse in Yonge-st. last Friday evening. Mr. W. H. Stone, undertaker, was driving along Yonge-st. about 5 o'clock, when a bolt came out of the collar and Gerrard-st. and the shafts fell. The horse immediately dashed down the sidewalk, leaving the rig behind. The thoroughfare was crowded with pedestrians. Miss Panton was unable to get out of the way of the horse and was knocked down at Gould-st. A few yards further Mr. Coxwell of Ontario-st. was also struck by the animal, which continued down the sidewalk to Queen-st., where it was caught by Mr. P. C. Guthrie. Mrs. Coxwell escaped with a few bruises, but Miss Panton was picked up unconscious. She was covered with hurts and had also sustained internal injuries, which resulted in her death three hours later.

AN OLD HOTEL MAN DEAD.—At 530 a. m. Friday, Mark H. Irish died at his residence, 401 Jarvis-st. Mr. Irish was born in Madison, Wisconsin, in 1834. He moved to Toronto in 1857, and put up the Rossin house from Mr. G. P. Shears. He owned and conducted it until August 1888, when it was sold to the present proprietors. He has since conducted a financial business.

ONTARIO COUNTY.

HEAVY PULL.—An engine and boiler, weighing 5,000 lbs., was taken from the station on Monday to Green's saw mill at Greenbank. It required two teams to pull the load through town and the men expected they might have to put on two more before reaching Greenbank.

BIG MAN.—Sandy McPhee, the tall man of the telephone construction gang that is changing the poles in town, 6 feet 6 inches high. The Bell Telephone Co. employ him because he only has to climb half way up a pole to reach the top of it. Sandy looks rather thin, but turns the scales at 204 lbs. Mr. Alex. Hood, our big man of Scott, was in town a few days ago and left his measure to decide the question whether he or the other man was the tallest. The result showed the Scott man to be 6 ft. 7 1/2 inches, or three quarters of an inch taller than the telephone pole—or rather the telephone man.

A HAIRLESS HORSE.—Mr. L. Struthers, of Pine Orchard, drives a curiosity in the shape of a hairless horse. He was in town on Monday, and many people took the opportunity to inspect the horse. His hide is like an elephant's and nearly the same color. The horse is about average size and seems to require no more blanketing than any other horse.—[Uxbridge Journal.]

A BUSINESS MAN'S VIEWS.—A business man came into the Chronicle office on Tuesday, as he said, to give us a piece of experience. "I have been east on Dundas-st.," said he, "and saw Geo. Stericker, Andy Murphy, and others along there, shovelling snow, whilst Postmaster Howden and all on his side have no walks to clear. I came along to Mr. Eilicker's corner and noticed that he had to shovel the walks on two sides of his lot, while in the east he is not interested in the slightest degree. Opposite him on the east is Mrs. Richardson, who does not have to clear any walks. I then had occasion to pass Miss Ham's and it was the same, also in several other places. I can name a number of farmers who decline to pay taxes for walks, who do not even have to shovel any, but who have the use of them for miles and to walk upon themselves. This is all very unfair, and if one looks carefully into the matter he will find that in most cases poor people have to clear the snow off walks for wealthy people to travel upon. The snow bylaw should be repealed. It would be a good thing for the laboring classes if, instead of being compelled to clear walks for nothing, they were employed to assist in removing snow from all the walks in town, and instead of a number getting off scotch free we could then charge the cost of shovelling snow upon all alike. It is a piece of tyranny to make people shovel snow from the streets whether they wish to or not, but it is worse to discriminate and force some residents to shovel snow, even to poor widows, while wealthy people are allowed to go free."—[Whitby Chronicle.]

URSA.

[Correspondence of THE POST.] OBIT.—This week spate sickness, death and loss have struck us. After only a few days' illness Mrs. James White, of the Monk Road, succumbed to an attack of inflammation of the lungs. She was in the prime of life and leaves a baby six months old. The remains were followed to the grave by a large circle of mourners. Mr. White has the sympathy of all.

FIRE.—Mr. C. Spencer's house caught fire at noon of the 10th and was completely destroyed, with most of its contents. Mr. Spencer himself, sick abed, was quickly removed, first to the stable, then to a neighbor's, but seems to have borne it without much increase of his sickness. Mr. Prince, our dentist, who was staying there lost all of his valuable instruments, merely escaping in his clothes, and Donald McFadden likewise was only left the clothes he was wearing.

SICKNESS.—Mrs. Wm. Barry has the prevailing inflammation of the lungs, and it is feared she will hardly get over it.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

—The number of wards in Belleville has been reduced from seven to four.

—L. Schofield, the first man who made iron rails in the south, died at Chatsanooga, Tenn., on Monday night of last week, aged 60. He was an Englishman.

—Mrs. Williams, of Portland, Ore., the faith cure fanatic and religious enthusiast, has just finished her one hundred and ten days' fast, for seventy days of which crackers and cheese formed her sole diet and for 40 days she ate absolutely nothing.

—Dr. Gramer, of Chester, the physician and oculist who has been in attendance upon Mr. Gladstone's eyes, it having been said in some quarters that the prime minister was threatened with blindness, resulting from cataracts. Mr. Gladstone's eyes are as good as they were a year ago.

—The town of Tangehain, China, was captured by a band of robbers on January 22nd, a hundred strong. The police fled at their approach. The highwaymen, after collecting an enormous amount of booty, quietly departed, taking with them all the young women in town. An armed force of 1,000 soldiers was sent in pursuit.

—The British government is being urged to induce Canada to join in the movement for destroying derelicts in the Atlantic by prohibiting the sending of large timber rafts from Canada to the United States.

—Shipowners believe that a new movement of floating wood now in the Atlantic is dangerous to navigation.

—It is proposed to erect a new building for the chamber of deputies in Paris to cost four and a half million francs. The present hall is so small that members are much crowded. There are to be a great many comforts and conveniences in the new chamber which are lacking in the present one, and are badly needed.

—A four-wheeled wagon whose motive power is supplied by a benzine engine has been satisfactorily tested in Germany. It is intended to carry passengers through city streets and country roads, and can be run at the rate of half a cent a mile. The wagon and engine can be fitted for $500. The speed is as high as fifteen miles an hour.

—A coal deposit has been discovered, says the Winnipeg Free Press, on the farm of Mr. D. McArthur, five miles south of Deltona, Manitoba, and within two miles of the northern fringe of the Turtle Mountains. A shaft has been sunk over thirty feet, and the seam is ten or eleven feet in thickness. The "historical Deloraine well" has been sunk to a depth of 1,003 feet; a pump has been put in and is down to 120 feet. It is estimated to be capable of furnishing 800 tons of water per day.

—The first keeper in Boone's wild animal arena in the Midwinter Fair grounds at St. Francisco, was injured seriously one evening last week by one of the five lions. The wounded keeper rushed into the arena to the rescue, but was unable to have with pain. There was a panic among the spectators. The keeper's face and arms were lacerated, and as he escaped from the lions into the arena he was followed by the animals, who were driven back a few seconds later by Boone.

—The exceptional mildness of the weather has caused several avalanches in Switzerland. By one of these three chamois hunters, who were trying to scale the Splitzing, were overwhelmed, and two of them were killed. Some Turlo hotel servants, who were sent to inspect a small hotel at the summit of the mountain at Saentlo, have not returned. A search party was organized to rescue them, but they found their progress barred by an enormous avalanche. It is supposed that the missing men are buried beneath it.

—Two years ago the furchure of the Chesapeake, the celebrated States battleship captured by the Shannon, was found in Halifax by an American clergyman, Rev. W. H. Sherman, of New Jersey. The officers of the Navy yard at Halifax took possession of the relic, but the finder, Rev. Mr. Sherman, has since been seeking to have it returned to its original owners. His latest move is to invoke the aid of the secretary of the American navy. That official replies, however, that he cannot make any move in the matter, and that any proposition to restore the relic to those from whom it was bravely and honorably captured should emanate from the captors.

—When Cardinal Manning was dying three years ago he spoke a few words for posterity into a phonograph, which was kept carefully preserved till Friday last by Cardinal Vaughan. A small company of distinguished persons met at the invitation of the cardinal at the archbishop's residence. The voice was distinct and clear, with long pauses between the words. The message is not in itself of great importance beyond showing the predominant thought in the mind of the man just before death. It is as follows: "To All Who May Come After Me,—I hope that no word of mine, written or spoken in my life, will be found to have done any harm to anyone after I am dead. Henry Edward Manning, Cardinal Archbishop."

Telephones for Everybody. The explanation of the patent on the magnet telephone places a very useful piece of mechanism at the free disposal of American householders. Magnet telephones are not commonly used as transmitters, but are convenient and satisfactory for talking over short routes. The lapse of the patent which protected them is hardly likely to have much effect upon the general telephone system of cities. People who wish to be in communication with many places or many people will doubtless keep private lines connecting dwellings with one or more points the magnet telephones will answer very well. It is a very common experience for families to have one or two places where it is a special convenience to be able to talk. Near relatives or intimate friends often desire to be so connected, so that the cost of a telephone for general use. The magnet telephone will fit such cases, and has now the great recommendation that it can be bought outright, so that the first cost of the wire is the only outlay that it involves, and even that will not be great. The magnet telephone will be especially useful in the country, where the matter of striding up wire is a simple thing, involving no electric risks, and no violation of property. —[From Harper's Weekly.]

Only the Scars Remain

Among the many testimonials which are in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc., we have the following: Wm. Hudson, of the James St. Woolen Machinery Philadelphia, Pa. Impressed me more than ever case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician did me no good, and I feared that the disease would be affected. My good old mother urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took a few bottles, the sores healed, and I have not troubled since. Only scars remain, and memory of the pain remind me of the cure. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done more for me than any other medicine. I have been a road for the past twelve years, have Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all of the United States, and always take care in telling what good it did for me. For the cure of all diseases originating in impure blood, the best remedy is AYER'S Sarsaparilla. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Cures others, will cure you.

"Hang it! I am not saying that mean to marry her," Otto put in in order to prevent Arnold from resuming his ranting. "You are an inconvenient reminder. The slightest lightness in your Arnold's gripes will tempt me to rise, and what is the use of this shilly-shallying? You meant to marry her last year, nothing has occurred since to alter your mind."

"Oh no, nothing," thought Otto, to himself. "Nothing, except he had given his heart and his another woman. But aloud he answered, accepting Arnold's silence. No doubt he would have justified in flaring up too, and Arnold to mind his own business under ordinary circumstances he would have taken that course; but gaily as he felt, he did not assert his independence, for exciting his brother's suspicions thus putting him on the track of a continued Arnold, impatiently answering an argument of Otto throw up the matter because you peeps have improved! Last year you hadn't a penny of your own money ready enough."

"But did I say I was going to get up?" interrupted Otto, again recklessly. If only Arnold quieted into the belief that he given up his intention towards tease, then it would be all thought; and later he would do everything by writing, which was much better. At this moment got into a corner somehow, himself barricaded in, on one rickety table, and on the other Arnold, who had planted himself.

"Well, and if you haven't got why are you so slow about it? are always complaining of the and hardships of your present when you have only got to put hands to be of it all! It now be no object to you to wretched pension you are no to; and what other object can be to hang on here unless it be to suit on the Comtesse? Then you not press the matter another it settled soon. You would the and independent, and it has all that for long." Arnold's voice a little, and he put his hand brother's shoulder; he really well with him, in spite of his roughness.
