Scott's Emulsion

Science is "knowing how." The only secret about Scott's Emulsion is years of science. When made in large quantities and by improving methods, an emulsion must be more perfect than when made in the oldtime way with mortar and pestle a few ounces at a time. This is why Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil never separates, keeps sweet for years, and why every spoonful is equal to every other spoonful. An even product throughout.

In other emulsions you are liable to get an uneven benefit-either an over or under dose. Get Scott's. Genuine has a salmon-colored wrapper.

And the Outlanders Will Run the Transvaal.

THIS IS A CORRESPONDENT'S VIEW

Of the Difficulty in South Africa-Save Kruger and His Botrs Been Marked for Sacrifice ?- What Mr. Rhodes Admitted to the Colonial Secretary.

New York, Feb. 9.-Harold Frederic cables from London to The Times: Semething absolutely unexpected by any one has happened. Ceell Rhodes, Instead of remaining and making sport in the gladiatorial arena with Chamberlain, as all England took for granted he would do, has merely had a long talk at the Colonial Office, and is forthwith nurrying back to South Africa. A more unlooked for and puzzling surprise hardly could be imagined and throws all forecasts out of gear. The Charlered Company must hold its annual meeting within a fortnight, and the public has been waiting for the great speech that Rhodes was to in the campaign between him and everything since the time of Warren Now we are caimly told that the fight is off, and in men's minds there is room for only one question: "What prophetic eye to discern the probabihty that Kruger and his Boers are

In other words, it is plainly open to be feared that England, having behaved with scrupulous correctness up to the present point of the Transvaal business, is now about to do an unlevely thing. Perhaps it is manifest destiny, but it will wear an ugly aspeet none the less. Chamberlain's lengthy recital of events from the starting point of Mafeking, tells little that is new. It throws the perfidy of Jameson's behavior into rather a stronger light than before, and coldly hints that Sir Hercules Robinson's innecent ignorance of what was going on needs some further investigation; but the really important parts of the document are not reached till he begins to disclose the policy of the British Cabinet. England's rights of entire control of the Transvaal's external relations and her intention to maintain them in their integrity are affirmed in the plainest possible language. That has been done before, but now, in addition, comes the statement that England, by geographical and other considerations, is justified in tendering her friendly counsels on internal matters also. Then, after a long narration of the grievances of the Uitlanders, comes what Mr. Chamberlain describes as merely a suggestion of one way of meeting the difficulty, but which will be read alike in Pretoria and Berlin as a British ultimatum. The entire Rand, embracing the whole mining district, is to be erected into a semi-autonomous province, with a Legislature, Supreme Court, police, educational system, mining management, and so on, of its own. Plenty of safeguards of the Transvaal's supremacy in large matters are suggested, such as the power to veto and the like, but, in substance, Mr, Chamberlain proposes to give to the invading Uitlanders on the Rand a rather freer scheme of home rule than he broke up the Liberal party for attempting to secure for the Irish in their own island.

The announcement that Rhodes, on his return, will live in Rhodesia, instead of Cape Town, may be taken as signifying that he is to stand on the frontier of the Transvaal as the representative - not merely as the huge financial syndicate, but as the more or less official representative of England's will that the Uitlanders be allowed to manage the Rand in their

That Kruger will accept this solution without a violent protest, or that his Boers will not encourage him to resist by force of arms and appeals for European aid, is entirely unlikely. One may look, with confidence, too, to see Germany foam over again with exuberance at the vague notion of blocking England's felonious progress, but when it comes to realities, what can either Kruger or the Kaiser do ? England is on the ground and holds little Transvaal as in a thumbscrew. One twist of its giant hand and the Boers pass into history, while with its other hand the German navy and mercantile marine could be mauled beyond recognition, an dalso the British Empire goes on being made. The Sun's London correspondent says the Stock Exchange knew very well on Friday in general terms that an understanding had been arived at between Mr. Rhodes and the Government, and it boomed the market on the strength of it. I am quoting ? A FARMER'S ADVICE.

HE TELLS THE PEOPLE TO SHUN IMITATIONS.

He Had Been Imposed Upon by an Unscrupulous Dealer With the Result that it Nearly Cost the Life of a Leved Member of Ris Family.

From the Woodstock, N.B , Sentinel A reporter of the Sentinel recently dropped into the Victoria hotel looking for general news and to scan the register for arrivals. Among those present he noticed a well dressed farmer sitting reading a small pamphlet. The reporter asked the landlord if there was anything new, and being answered in the negative the farmer turned and addressed him. "Looking for news, ch ? Well, sit down and I'll give you something worth publishing." The reporter was at once on the alert and the farmer continued, "You that the South African Co., in the long see this little book I hold in my hand? Well, the title of it is "Five Prize Stories," and there is more good sense 'n it than in half of the philosophical worls of the day, and it don't lay in any of the | the Corinto affair. It is generally bestories either. Well, about a year ago I got hold of another little book by the same authors entitled "Four Generations," which I read carefully through hurst, who married an American girl, and one very important thing I read in it was, beware of imitations, just as I read in this little book. Now I wish to show how I had been taken in (deceived) and how I found it out and how near it came to costing me the dearest member of my household. Well to begin at the beginning. My names is Shepherd Banks; I reside 111 miles from the village of Bristol, Carleton Co., N.B., and am a well to-do farmer. For several years my wife was troubled with pains in the back and weakness of the kidneys. About two years ago she was taken very South Africa the trial cannot take | ill, the trouble taking the form of acute rheumatism. We consulted no less than three different doctors who, however, failed to help her. She continued to grow weaker and weaker, and the pains she endured were something terrible. For over a year she was unable to do a single thing about the house, and she had fallen away in weight from 180 to 130 pounds, and we despaired of her recovery. I happened to notice in one of the newspapers a testimonial of a similar cure through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I immediately got a couple of boxes. My wife began taking them, and by the time she had used these she began to gain appetite and her pains were much eased, and we began to have great hopes of an ultimate cure. I then went for another supply of the pills. This time I purchase them in bulk, paying 30 cents for 100 pills, which were taken from a large glass bottle. I took them home and my wife began their use. Soon after she began to grow worse again; the old pains returned severer than ever. We still continued the use of the pills until about a third of them were gone. About this time I got through the mail, along with my neighbors, the book entitled, "Four Generameans of Roentgen's rays. M. Ewald | tions," issued by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co. On reading it it did not take me long to find out that the pills I had bought in bulk were a fraud, as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not sold in bulk, but in boxes with the trade mark on the ported in The Lancet. A sailor who wrapper. I went to the cupboard and taking down the box in which the pills were threw it and its contents into the stove. I then went and procured a half dozen boxes of the genuine Pink Pills, and from the time my wife began their use there was an improvement in her condition. She used about twelve boxes altogether, and to-day there is no heartvertebral column, which in a few days | ier or healthier woman in the neighborhood and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the standard medicine in our home. The warning uttered by Mr. Banks is one that the public will do well to heed for some unscrupulous dealers in different parts of the country try to impose upon the public by trashy imitations colored to present the appearance of the genuine Pink Pills. The public can always protect themselves by bearing in mind that the genuine pills are never sold by the dozen, hundred or ounce They are always put up in boxes around which will be found full directions for their use, the whole enclosed in a label At the New York Poultry Show which has | bearing the full trade mark, "Dr. Willlams' Pink Pills for Pale People." He Meets Parliament . Without Any Forebodings.

A UNITED COUNTRY BEHIND HIM

Little Interest Seems to be Taken in Great Britain's Domestic Program-The Forceast of the Queen's Speech.

New York, Feb. 9.-Mr. Isaac N. Ford cables from London to The Tribune : The Queen's Speech will probably announce that the Venezuela guestion has reached a stage where an adjustment is possible. There are strong reasons for believing that Lord Salisbury has received assurances from Washington that the Monroe doctrine does not apply to the claim for indemnity for the Yuruan affront to the British flag. Secretary Olney, in his elaborate argument seemed to exclude that incident from diplomatic discussion, and the State Department was already committed by the precedent of lieved that Lord Salisbury is pressing the claim for indemnity, and that the State Department is advising President Crespo to settle that branch of the case, with the understanding that the boundary dispute shall be submitted to arbitration. That progress has been made in directing the adjustment of the questions at issue by the direct action of England and Venezuela now seems certain, and it is also evident that the American Commission will not be allowed to take part in the

Some English journals assert that the boundary dispute might have been settled at any time in the last ten years if Venezuela had acted properly. This is wide of the mark, since Lord Salisbury declined to carry out Lord Granville's arbitration scheme, and subsequently set up the Schomburgk line as an "Irreducible minimum." That line has now been discarded, and one Minister of the Crown after another concedes the vital point that the Venezuela dispute is a fair case for The Queen's Speech will not be disclosed until Monday night, but the leader-writers, who will outline its contents, hardly need the text in order to comment upon it. The Queen's Speech this year writes itself, and anybody can forecast its substance. It will be devoted mainly to foreign and questions, and little space will be reserved for domestic legislation. Lord Salisbury is a lucky Prime Minister; he meets Parliament without a foreboding of danger or disaster on all foreign questions. He has behind him a united country; there is a large surplus in the Treasury and public opinion sanctions in advance an increased outlay in support of a foreign policy of defiance, the Unionist majority in the House is weak in numbers and debaters. plomacy and the Imperial policy, the political risks of conducting the Government during the coming session are not serious. The public attention is so completely absorbed by foreign questions that the domestic program of the Government excites little interest. There will be an agricultural bill of some kind, some palliative measure for Ireland, some project for relieving voluntary schools without disturbcation, and possibly some scheme of Government reform for London; no large measure will be proposed. The Unionist is a good politician; he knows that Lord Rosebery made a fatal mistake in attempting to carry out a large and unmanagable program; he intends to propose only measures which are moderate and safe, and to avoid controversy so far as possible. Even the Education Bill will be a

There has been much oratory during the week, Mr. Balfour, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and Lord Salisbury being the chief Unionist speakers, and Mr. Morley pursuing the Scotch canvass with unabated ardor. His replies to Lord Salisbury on the Monroe doctrine and Armenia have been affective, but his criticisms of the foreign policy of the Government have been captious. Possibly the "heckling" process has disagreed with him; he has been in the hands of his Scotch tormentors, who have plied him with harassing questions about Home Rule, local veto, the eight-hour principle, the publication of indecent reports of divorce and breach of promise cases, and everything else.

Montreal, Feb. 7 .- The Grand Trunk down. The position of assistant genthe general manager, to continue in the service of the company he has so long and so faithfully served. The official notice states that Mr. Wainwright's future position will soon be defined to that gentleman's satisfaction, although some think the ex-assistant general manager will accept the position tendered him some time since in New York in connection with the Freight Lines Association, It is quite likely that Mr. Hays realizes that if any legislation were required in the interests of the Grand Trunk, either at Quebec or Ottawa, none of the new men could render anything like as good service as Mr. Wainwright. Although the statement may once more be denied, it is a positive fact that Mr. Wallis, mechanical superinintendent will soon retire, as well as Mr. Williams, for many years connected with Mr. Wainwright's office.

Office interview everywhere accepted in financial circles when I say that Mr. Rhodes admitted to Mr. Chamberlain that he sanctioned the mobilizascience tion of the Chartered forces on the Transvaal border. He did it because he felt sure that the Johannesburg people would revolt, and Dr. Jameson's men might serve to protect refusees from Boer violence and be ready to carry out Imperial instructions at the shortest notice in case the Boers did anything which Great Britain could fairly say opposed her interests. Mr. Rhodes strenuously denied that he ordered Dr. Jameson to cross the frontier, and could only explain his action by the urgency of the messages addressed to him. Whatever Mr. Rhodes had done was for the ultimate glory of Great Britain. Mr. Chamberlain consented to take this view of it, and the only punish-version of the now famous Colonial ment or restriction which the Government will, for appearance's sake, impose upon the Chartered Co, will be to put the armed forces of South Africa under the direct control of the Crown. Mr. Rhodes, under the circumstances, can have no serious objection to this, run, will be found to have suffered very litle for the action of its representative in the Transvaal.

TO BE TRIED WITH JAMIESON. Captains Coventry and Gosling Must Surrender Themselves to England. New York, Feb. 9.-Mr. Ballard Smith cables from London to The World that he is informed that Captain Coventry, a brother of Lord Deerand Captain Gosling, both of whom have been in the nospital sunering from wounds sustained at Krugersdorp, are to surrender themselves on their arrival in England to be tried with Jameson. Thus, the curious spectacle will be presented of a son of the Earl of Coventry, a high official modified treason. "I can now confirm my previous information," says Mr. Smith, "that Dr. Jameson and his confederates will be indicted under the foreign enlistment act, the maximum punishment for his offence being two years' imprisonment. "It is now apparent that in order to allow the collecting of evidence in place before May, and it is shrewdly suspected that the effect, possibly intended, of this long delay, will be to make it less likely than ever that anything more than nominal punishment will be inflicted." The trial of members of the Reform Committee at Pretoria, which began yesterday, was continued to-day. Jaccbus Demeillon testified that the republican flag was hoisted on the gold fields offices on Dec. 28, and men were enlisted. Col. Rhodes, a brother of Ceci! Rhodes, had told him the Uitlanders had brought the country to its prosperous condition, and it was hard for them to be governed by the stupid Boers. Col. Rhodes told him, further, that they had asked Dr. Jameson to come to Johannesburg to preserve the leace and protect them. Later he heard Mr. J onard, whose arrest the Cape Town . thorities sought to effect at Teneriffe, Canary Islands, the other day, on his way to England, make a speech to the crowd, in which he said : "We do not have equal rights with the Boers. Our petitions are treated with contempt. We now demand our rights with our arms in our hands. We want a republican government and not the autocratic govern-fight for their rights and for freedom can receive arms."

WONDERFUL! WONDERFUL! Is the Result of Photographing Through Opaque Bodies by Roenigen's System. Paris, Feb. 9 .- Some remarkable results have been obtained in photography through opaque bodies by has asked if it will be possible to photograph through such parts of the body as the thigh. M. Neuhaus replies that the rays would pass through the muscles just as one's sight passes through a sheet of glass. Up to the present the most wonderful use made of this discovery is rewas brought to Guy's Hospital, London, has been completely cured of paralysis. When admitted he was dead drunk, and has been found in a very dangerous condition in one of the worst quarters of London.

As soon as his drunken fit was over it was discovered that he was paralyzed in the upper and lower parts of his body. The most minute examination could reveal nothing but a small wound in his back by the side of the During this time, and, despite all medicine, the man remained paralyzed.

the idea of employing the new photographic discovery. A photograph, following Prof. Roentgen's system, was taken of the man's wound. The negative showed the presence of a foreign body, the nature of which could not be determined, between the first dorsal vertebra and the first lumbar vertebra.
