We've got it near to a Science now--- That's True.

Years ago a store-keeper did not have to hustle much to gain trade--lack of competition gave him a cinch that enabled him to do a large volume of business without worry.

Conditions are considerably altered now-a-days--completion is keen to a degree and one's business demands unremitting care and attention. Merchants are constantly on the alert to gain some little advantage that may help to attract trade their way, and make the rugged road to business success easier to travel.

Like others, we have been devoting much time and careful thought to the new year--how to please old customers better and attract new ones in plenty. We fancy we have reduced grocery buying and selling to a science, or pretty near it. We buy in large quantities in order to get the goods at reduced prices, and sell at a small profit in order to clear the goods out quickly. In this way our customers get the very freshest groceries at exceptionally low figures.

In this new year we are prepared to do a larger business and give better satisfaction than ever. We solicit a chance to serve those who have not as yet dealt with us, confident that on a year's trading we can do better for you than any other grocer in town.

WE WANT THE JOB and will try to get it.

This kind of weather is hard on the old stove. If you are thinking of buying a new one let us try to suit your pocket.

If you are in need of any articles of Stove Furniture, Tinware, Granite, etc., get our prices before buying. We will not be undersold by anyone in the trade.

Maybe you are thinking of going into the Dairying business this season? If you are, here's the spot to get Milk Utensils of all kinds. We make a specialty of them.

Possibly you contemplate putting new Eavestroughing on your dwelling or barns this season--it would be a good spring thought. We have experienced men to do this work and invariably give satisfaction.

It may happen that you are a town man and think of adding a Bath-room to the comforts of your dwelling. We have practical plumbers to do this work and can refer you to a number of pleased customers.

If your want does not come under the above headings, come in anyway. We may have what you want.

A MANVERS, ONT., WONDER!

The Life of Mr. A. Forsythe Saved by Paine's Celery Compound.

The Man Says: "I Believe it is the Best Medicine in the World."

In times of peril and danger--when doctors and medicines fail to save life--Paine's Celery Compound invariably is the preserver and renewer of old and young. The testimony of Mr. A. Forsythe, the great chain of evidence that the vast majority of patent medicines fail to relieve, is an inducement to try Paine's Celery Compound.

member of the Methodist church, and lived to see his golden wedding day last July, having married Miss Edna Pearson, eldest daughter of the late J. B. LOCAL NEWS-LETTERS FRANKHILL.

BLOCKED--The roads are completely blocked owing to the recent fall of snow, the stage not being able to make its regular trip. The road across Pigeon creek is said to be in a dangerous condition, being covered with about two feet of snow and water. The recent snow was cumbersome enough to the ordinary traveller, but we think a little more so to certain wedding parties who, in their vain endeavors to reach home, were forced to seek abode elsewhere.

LADIES' AID--The anniversary services of the Ladies' Aid Society, which were to have taken place last Sunday and Monday, have been postponed for two weeks until March 1st and 2nd. In addition to the names mentioned before in this paper and on the bills, Miss Pearl Perry and Mr. James Kishall are expected to take part in the musical program. Every preparation is being made, and a most enjoyable time is anticipated. The Rev. J. W. Totten, of Lindsay, will preach morning and evening on Sunday, and on Monday he will give a lecture on a selected subject. Everyone on the missions will do well to attend these services. Tea will be served on Monday in the Masonic hall from 5 to 7 o'clock.

FENELON FALLS.

THE RINK--Mr. Edward Chambers, manager of the Fenelon Falls rink, has arranged with Mr. E. J. Hartley, the famous fancy skater, to give an exhibition of his skill in the rink on Wednesday evening, Feb. 26th. Mr. Chambers is bringing Mr. Hartley at considerable expense, and it is to be hoped that his enterprise will be rewarded by a good turnout on that evening.

OAK WOOD.

OBITUARY--The sudden and unexpected death of the late A. A. McLuchlin, of Oxbow, Assn., N.W.T., at the residence of his brother here, on the 10th inst., was marked by very affecting circumstances. He only arrived here on the morning of Saturday, the 8th inst., from a visit to friends at Montreal, New York city, San Francisco (his birth place), Cornwall, Antwerp and Montbray, in the counties of Sherbrooke, Dundas and Glengarry, P.E.I., and other points. He left his home here, and other points. He left his home on the 18th Dec. past, expecting to spend the winter among friends, and was on the return trip, expecting to visit Norland, Oxbow, Lindsay, and on to the state of Michigan from here, visiting relatives there, and his wife's relatives at Detroit, his wife being with him over the whole trip. The deceased was born on the beautiful banks of the St. Lawrence, ten miles below Cornwall, his father being the late Wm. McLuchlin and his mother the late Catherine Sammers, both children of U.E. Loyalists. He was born in the year 1818, and was a few days past 78 years old at the time of his death. He came to this place in 1848, starting the lumber business here and kept sheepsmen, having learned tanning and currying in Fort Covington, New York state. He kept the business till selling out to his brother and taking up farming. He left this place and built mills at Norland, Co. Victoria, from there going to Oxbow, Assn., taking up farming, and formed a company there and built a large grist mill. While residing here he was appointed the first postmaster of Oakwood, and was thrown much among such leaders of the communities of the township as the late lamented R. F. Whitesides, Jess Weldon, senior, and many others of the good men who laid the foundation of the moral movements of the day in this township. He was a leader and an officer in the movement for temperance, for free schools, bible societies, tract societies and Sunday schools. He was for several years reeve of the township, and was a candidate for parliament in the Reform interest in 1867 against the late John Cameron, esp. of Toronto, and although defeated polled the largest proportionate reform vote ever given in this township. J. Gordon Brown, of the Globe, and the late Alex. McKinnon, of the Hamilton Times, coming down to take part in the contest. The sudden death took place in this way: He walked down from Messrs. King Bros.' store in the evening to his brother's house, and after sitting down and making a cheerful remark to his wife, who was in the room, and before she got to where he was sitting, he leaned over towards his wife's arms, and thus passed away one of the most useful of men. He was for nearly fifty years a continuous
