Over eleven million pounds of tobacco were grown last year in Kent and Essex counties, and it looks as if a remunerative market may be found for the home-grown article in England. Mr. J. King, representing one of the largest tobacco brokers' frims in England, is now on the ground and wants at least two million pounds of Essex county tobacco, and will secure a large part of the Kent county crop also if samples are satisfactory. An agent has also gone to England to look up other customers.

"Imperialism brings with it militarism," said Mr. John Morley in his recent valedictory speech to the Scotch liberals, "and militarism means the profusion of the taxpayer's money everywhere except in the taxpayer's own home." British taxpayers have for many years been ground between the upper millstone of militarism and the nether, or bad land laws, and the wonder is that the earners of the nation have enjoyed the degree of comfort they possess. Imagine al Britain relieved of both idle land-holding and military classes, and the wants of the earners!

It is never safe to prophesy unless you know. Those who tell us that British industries cannot survive the effect of American competition may be right, but on the other hand the wish may be father to the thought. But the smash has not come yet. Lord Salisbury's Important Remarks on Foreign Affairs.

THE RIGHT TO THE SOUDAN

The Premier's Plain Words Concerning Britain's Title in Egypt-The British Policy in China Is Not to Secure Territory, But to Protect the Rights of Her Subjects-

London, Feb. 8 .- The Queen's speech, identical with the forecast cabled on Tuesday, was read in both Houses yestermoved by Mr. Bagot, Conservative Hon. W. F. Smith, Conservative, seconded. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the new Liberal leader, in referring Anglo-Saxon unity, said that "Anglo-Saxon union tended to the stability of was handled in much the same manuer, and, in reply to the Earl of Kimberley, the Premier, Lord Salisbury, referring at length to China, said the policy of Her Majesty's Government did not contemplate the acquisition of territory in China or the dismemberment of the Chinese Empire. The destiny of China, he added, was as impossible to foretell as it was to tell what was occurring on a to see that the treaties were fully observed, that the interests of British subject | Nebraskans lost one dead and three woundwere safeguarded, and that nothing was | ed. done by China or any other nation to

Any historical precedent or international law.

Believes the Czar is Honest. So far as the Ozar's rescript was con cerned, Lord Salisbury said no one could doubt the purity and humanity of the Em-Peron's motives. "I should heartily reachieved an humbler aim, and if by the steady use of the principle of arbitration we might be able to diminish a number of ! the causes by which war is produced. by humane legislation we could also diminish the horrors of war, we would render an immeasureable service to humanity. Meanwhile we must follow the example of other nations, and be prepared for war. I do not believe this is imminent, but the causes of war still subsist, and, while doing our best in the blessed mission of peace, we must maintain the position of security which past generations have given us, and which we hope to keep.'

Would Like to, But Dare Not. Lord Salisbury remarked that he fre quently envied a nation possessing a committee of foreign relations like the United States, a committee which could secretly receive explanations that Ministers were only too giad to give. But as Great Britain was without that feature of Parliamentary government, it would be impossible for him to give the noble lord (Earl of Kimberley) all the information he desired regarding foreign affairs. The agreement between Germany and Great Britain, however, was of a character favorable to friendship between the two nations, and to the right of all concerned, as well as to the peace of the world. But he (the Promier) would not be doing his duty if he gave further details as to the stipulations, which for the present required no action on the part of Great Britain. The address was then agreed to.

Have Been Mounting Up by Millions

During the Current Year. Ottawa, Feb. 10.-Canada received on concolidated fund account during the seven months of the current fiscal year which have elapsed $25,665,000, which is $4,219,000 more than she took in during the corresponding period of the last fiscal year. There was an increase in consolidated fund expenditure of $1,657,000, but after making allowance for this there is a difference of $2,561.381 in favor of the present year. The total revenue for the seven months' period last year was $21,-446,000. The revenue for January, 1899, was $3,550,000, and for January 1898, $3.512.000, a substantial increase despite reduced customs and postage rates. The ordinary expenditure for seven months of the present year was $21,352,000, and for the corresponding period of last year $19,69,000, an increase, as has been stated, of $1,657,000. There was expended in January, 1899, on consolidated fund account $6 50,000, as against $6,265,000 in January, 1898. The largest revenue increases were those of customs and excise, the former being $2,441,000. and the latter $1,450,000. The postoffice revenue shows a decrease of $69,000 for the month of January, during which the two-cent Imperial and domestic rates have been in operation, and of $199,000

A HAMILTON MATRICIDE.

Ben Parrott, jr., Committed One of the Most Inhuman Crimes Imaginable-The Scoundrel Arrested.

Hamilton, Feb. 9 .- Benjamin Parrott, jr., a carter, committed a murderous assault on his aged mother in front of his father's house, shortly after 5 o'clock last evening. He chased her out of the house with an ax. She fell in the middle of the road, and just as she was arising he reached her and brought the tool down on her head, making a horrible gash, from which her brains oozed. Standing over the prostrate form of his mother, like a frenzied animal thirsting for blood, he struck her three times more, using the sharp edge of the ax. Two of the blows were on the head and one on the left arm. Then the inhuman monster ran back into the house. Money Thrown Away. Programmes for societies, clubs, churches, etc., have had their day as alleged media for advertising. Of usefulness, they never had a day. Merchants used them without thought, or because they feared a refusal might result in a loss of business. But they have learned their lack of value and from all parts of the country come expressions of revolt against their use. They serve a purpose but for a day -the programmes, church calendars. weather bulletins, key-boards, and other schemes of travelling fakirs, and the notices of business men who never insert a card in the local papers keep these things alive. Then the merchant after throwing away from $2 to $5

A Report on Canadian Trade.

Bradstreet's trade report this week contains the following paragragh: flowed in streams from some of the "Satisfactory trade conditions are reproted in Canada. Toronto reports the best January business for three years past, the usual renewals smaller than the average, and cash or short credit scales larger than before; an increased business noticed in lumber and a project for exporting woodpulp to the United Kingdon is under consideration. Montreal reports trade steady and ahead of last year. Travellers are sending good orders and country trade is in good spirits owing to recent cold weather enabling it to dispose of surplus winter goods. Failures are fower than for many years past and the outlook for the spring business is ahead of last year.
