A Query? How is it that Mr. Hughes in his election note last week abuses Mr. Barron's chief supporters

A Serious Accident Saturday morning last Mr. Joseph Staples, working department of Mr. James Hamilton's carriage factory, met with a very serious accident. While engaged "ripping" some hardwood boards at the small circular saw used for that purpose he turned balf around to answer a question put by a hystander continuing to question put by a bystander, continuing to shove the board towards the saw meanwhile his danger his hand came in contact with the saw, which entered alongside the little finger and cut its way diagonally through the bone and flesh to above the thumb, the mangled portion merely adhering by a piece of skin. Dra. Clarke and Herriman were at once summoned, and descreed the wounded mamber in the office after. which the sufferer was removed to his home in the north ward, near the corporation limits.

-Wednesday morning last Coun. Richard the receipt of a telegram announcing the death, at Seward, Nebraska, of their second son, William, an intelligent young man of about 26 years of age, who left Lindsay some ten months ago to make his home for a time with a sister, wife of Mr. Michael Meehan, formerly of Emily, now editor of the Seward Daily Democrat. A letter received about a week ago alluded to his illness, but nothing serious was anticipated, owing to a telegram received Tuesday, which stated that he was recovering: consequently the sad news telegram received Tuesday, which stated that he was recovering; consequently the sad news received Wednesday proved a crushing blow to the afflicted parents and family...... The deceased young man was well and favorably known in this district, having received his education in the separate school here, afterwards takind a second-class certificate, when he taught for some years at King's Wharf and Winn's school house, Emily. He was liked by all with whom he came in contact...... The family have the sympathy of all in their affliction.

A good program has been prepared, and an address will be delivered by Rev. Mr. McCleary. All are invited to attend.

> half feet of pine were cut and drawn to water, —Nelson Hamlin of Peterboro, who in September, 1881, stabbed one Joseph Laroque in a drunken row, killing him instantly, and who was sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime, was liberated Saturday last. His reprieve was due to the peculiar circumstances of the case, he having always claimed that the act was done in self-defense.

LINDEN VALLEY, March 14, 1891.

DEAR SIR,— In speaking of our teachers as "poor," "ignorant," "unappreciative of their work," "dead teachers," etc. (because they do not read your publications) you greatly underestimate them. We have no "dead teachers," neither are they "ignorant," If you think so, just send over a dozen of your state public school teachers next July to try our examinations—your first to try our second-class examination and your second-class to try our third-class examination, and the result will surprise you.

Hallburton, April Str.

—Saturday evening last about eleven o'clock Mr. Chas. Blackwell's spirited team ran away from a north ward residence while the driver of the delivery sieigh was inside with some parcels, and made straight for the store. Travelling at a twenty clip they collided with the ircn-shod post at the corner of the block, and the shock smashed the front "bob" to pieces and freed the animals from the harness. Here they parted company, one heading north and the other continuing its mad career down the side walk on the north side of Kent-st. and across the bridge past the Queen's hotel, where some parted company, one heading north and the other continuing its mad career down the side walk on the north side of Kent-st. and across the bridge past the Queen's hotel, where some one grasped the bridge Luckily neither of the

-Mr. J. R. Kinghern, traveller for the Montreal Rolling Mills, and a member of the Victoria hockey club of that city, was in town on Tuesday and took a stick in a game played in the evening. His movements were closely watched, but too many were hugging the puck to allow of really brilliant werk.

The Re-count Blocked. Having good reasons for believing that a number of ballots marked for Mr. Walters had been rejected by partisan tory deputy-returning officers, an application for a recount was made on his behalf, and Mr. G. H. Hopkins, Mr. Walters' financial agent, gave Mr. Wm. Grace clerk of the county court, his cheque for $100, as security for costs according to statute. Mr. Grace accepted the cheque and gave his receipt for the same, but when proceedings opened Tuesday morning last before Judge Dean, Mr. G. T. Blackstock, Mr. Fairbairn's counsel, objected to the nature of the deposit, claiming that it should have been "cost of Judge Dean and Some say he has reason.
