A large number of spectators were present, and a very interesting and stoutly contested game was witnessed. The ice was a little too soft to play a pass game to advantage, consequently the visitors, who are old lacrosse players, were at a disadvantage, especially as they were weak on a rush. The home team played a good game from start to finish, and when time was up the score stood 3 goals to 2 in favor of Lindsay. Knowlson and Walters being the "pushers." Later on the teams adjourned to the Simpson house, where supper was served, after which a pleasant hour was spent, enlivened by songs by he musical men of both teams.

Proposed New Opera House, The preliminary steps have been taken by Mr. R. J. Matchett and others in promoting an enterprise that will supply a want long feit in this town, and is in every way so desirable and advantageous that it should receive hearty general support. It is proposed to build a new opera house, with a seating capacity of at least 1,500, and for this purpose to form a joint stock company. The details of the project will shortly be placed before the public. The plans for the building have been prepared by an architect who has had a great deal of experience in structures of this kind, and they contain all the latest and most desirable arrangements. The building would be of three storeys, giving two stores on the ground floor, and a broad entrance to the opera house. The latter is to have a wide stage with several dressing rooms, and the usual modern amphitheatre arrangement of seats in dress circle, parquette, galleries, etc. It would make a handsome and spacious building, and would be an ornament to the town and a great convenience to the public. The present town hall is entirely too small, and is behind the times. With an opera house of the size and style proposed the fine class of entertainments now kept away by want of accommodation for large audiences would find it pay them to visit the town. Local entertainments would be benefitted in the same way. The project is one that our public-spirited and enterprising citizens should cordially support, as it will be found on investigation to be a good investment. dvantageous that it should receive hearty gen-

Turning it up on end to see if all was tight and sound he read his name, and underneath in large type the letters C. O. D. Spelling them over slowly a look of deep disgust overspread his countenance, and he ejaculated:
"C.O.D.—cod; the dashed blankety-blank ejit, I ordered herns." And the staff smiled.

-Revival meetings are being held every evening in the Queen st. Methodist church. Much good apparently is heing done. —The Rev. J. Allister Murray, M.A., of London, at one time pastor of St. Andrew's church, Lindsay, will preach in that church on the 20th inst. and lecture on the following Monday on "European Surprises."

Salvation Army Notes,

-The three days' special meetings in connection with the Salvation Army were well attended, especially the banquet of Monday. The proceeds, which amounted to $75.00, speaks volumes for the appreciation of the work of the army in town. Short but stirring addresses by a couple of ministers were listened to with deep attention, as was als the description of "Life in Newfoundland," by Major Scott. The members of the army wish to acknowledge the kindness of those who so generously responded to their appeal for help.

Railway Notes. -Business is fairly brisk all over the line and

'specials" are numerous -The many friends of Conductor W. Woods, until recently in charge of the "mixed" running between Belleville and Lindsay, will regret to learn that he is still too weak to go on duty. Will is a favorite with everyone on the road, and if good wishes count for anything he will speedily occupy his old quarters in the "van." -Mr. James Janes, driver on Conductor Mc-Millan's train running from Whitby to Manilla Junction, was sorely afflicted last week, having lost three children from that dread disease, diphtheria, within a couple of days. He found it impossible to obtain a nurse and was obliged to minister to their wants as best he could, his wife being also ill. His many friends here smypathize deeply with the parents in their sad bereavement.

Collegiate Institute Notes. -Meeting opened at four o'clock, president in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. The literary part of the program now began. Miss M. Whiteside was called upon for a reading. She responded to the call by giving a selection on the obedience, bravers and patriotism of a young lady at the time of the American war. Miss Whiteside's pleasing manner and grand elocutionary powers always win the love and attention of her hearers. Miss E. McDonnell, ex-pupil of the institute, gave in her usual melody and discipline of voice the stavorite solo, s"Margery Brown," which was this time made "doubly blest" by the west points via North Bay. Five of the cars were filled with stock, implements and household effects of farmers from the vicinity of Omemee, Cambray and Lorneville, who have been induced to "pull up stakes" by the glowing reports of friends who had preceded them or by the increasing difficulty experienced in making ends meet on small farms under a beneficent restrictive tariff. Mr. T. C. Matchett, C. P. R. agent here, looked after the comforts of the settlers from this district. That their success may equal their expectations is the wish of friends left behind.

The next thing on the pregram was something of a new phase of character, being a speech by Mr. McLaughlin, one of the prominent barristers of our town, in which he gave a very interesting and instructive address on "What inducements the study of law offers to young men." This able address was well received, and it is to be hoped this is but one of the many such treaty yet in store for us from the prominent barristers of our town. This address was followed by a reading by J. J. Carter entitled "The Goose, or Nature and Philosophy," and which contrasted very forcibly with the docters of our town, in which he gave a very interesting and instructive address on "What inducements the study of law offers to young men." This able address was well received, and it is to be hoped this is but one of the many such treats yet in store for us from the prominent men of our town. This address was followed by a reading by J. J. Carter entitled "The Goose, or Nature and Philosophy," and which contrasted very forcibly with the doctrines involved in Miss McDonnell's solo. The piano solo by Miss B. Walters was well played. We always welcome the piano solos, for they seem to add life, energy and pleasure to the meetings. The program then being ended it was moved by Mr. Bruce and seconded by Miss McKay, "That a vote of thanks be tendered Mr. McLaughlin for his able address." The motion was carried unanimously. The president tendered him a vote of thanks, to which he made a brief and suitable reply. After singing the national anthem the meeting adjourned.

The meeting to night should be well attended, as a debate of particular interest is expected between the two third forms.
