Correction. In Mr. Matthews' letter, "The Pork Producers vs. Packer," which appeared in the Evening Post of March 10th, and in last Friday's weekly, an unfortunate error changes the date of the opening of the communication. The concluding sentence in the column is "But crossed, they will produce Forkshire or Tamworth they will produce a hog that will fill the bill." By a mistake of the compositor the word "Forkshire" was substituted for "Yorkshire."

Gold and Silver. The management of The Gold and Silver Mines Developing Company (Limited) have been advised by their representative at a meeting held at the local Bank of Montreal, Mr. John M. Martin, that in a new shaft being sunk on their Trilby mine, five feet of fine looking ore was struck. The ore is a galena pyrrhotite and fine quartz, exactly similar to the fine looking ore in the Mayflower, which has yielded among the highest assays yet obtained in the south belt. Silver values run high in this ore.

Valuable Horse Drowned. On Monday last Rev. E. S. Moore, assistant Methodist pastor at Bobcaygeon, met with a severe loss through the drowning of his horse. He was returning to the village from Campbellton, where he took charge of the service on Sunday, and in passing down the lake drove to the Jack's Rock, a reef which is situated on the shore of the lake, and was unable to get up, the horse being unable to extricate the result being that the animal broke through the ice and was drowned. Mr. Moore was unable to get up, and he was unable to get up, and he was unable to get up.

Injured in Toronto. We take the following from the Toronto Globe of Friday, March 12: Mr. Edward Halliday, a medical student, and a well-known wheelman and athlete in the east, met with a painful accident while wheeling on Yonge-st. a few days ago, when he had his knee severely injured. A pedestrian made a sudden dash from the sidewalk to cross the street, and in so doing struck Mr. Halliday, who was riding on his bicycle, and the result being that the animal broke through the ice and was drowned.

Sherwin-Williams Co. IT IS FREE. Our booklet, "Paint Points" will help you in deciding what is the proper paint to use for your cupboards, baseboards, shelves, floors, buggies, wagons, boats, farm implements, barns, fences, chairs, houses—in fact, anything that can be painted.

There are great differences in paints. Some give a bright, glossy finish, others an oil finish that can be washed. The secret of painting is to know the right paint for your purpose, then use it. The old zinc tub bath is an eye sore. You can make it look like porcelain, and wear like porcelain if you use THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS BATH ENAMEL. "Paint Points" tells you what you want to know about paint. Tells you the good and the bad points about good and bad paint. Tells you the brushes to use, and how to take care of them. Tells you the Sherwin-Williams Paints are made for every purpose, not one paint for all purposes. Send for the booklet today—it is free. For booklet, address 19 St. Antoine Street, Montreal.
