A LONG NERVOUS STORM.

If you ever watched a dentist draw a nerve out of a booth, you will remember how much it looked like a little snip of wet, white cotton thread. How can so contemptible a thing inflict such a mountain of agony? And why does it do it? "Disease," you say. Ah, surely. A simple and obvious answer; yet in what way does the true nerve-fibre, wrapped up and coated, as it is, like the wires in a submarine cable, get to be diseased?

Yet, somehow, these soft strings do become fearfully out of order, or our friend Miss Hunt, ailuding to the neuralgia from which she once suffered, would not say, "Sometimes I was almost mad with the pain." And that is but one of many forms of torture imposed on us by the nerves; yet without these nerves we should be but lumps of clay—lacking feeling and power

How can we cure these dreadful nerve pains? The drug shops abound in so called remedies for them, yet they are only as a breath to cool the air of a torrid summer day. The real cause and cure are among Nature's deeper secrets. Can we find

"Nearly all my life," says Miss Hunt, "1 have suffered from indigestion of an aggravated kind. I felt low, weary, and weak, having little or no energy. My appetite was variable. At one time I would eat voraciously, and at other times I could not touch a morsel of food. "After eating I had great distress at the chest and around the sides. I suffered martyrdom from the horrid pain in my stomach and limbs. As the years passed by, my nerves became totally unstrung, and I endured untold misery from neuralgia. My lips and half my face were almost dead from this distressing malady. [The lady will pardon the writer. In the sense of being objects of use and pleasure, they were in truth practically dead; but in another sense they were horribly alive, as the sky is when it is pierced and rent with the lances of the lightning. "I consulted," she adds, "doctor after Only acute rheumatism or gout can be compared with neuralgia, and (please observe) the whole three are forms of the same thing-results of the same cause. At the outset she names the radical and only real disease she hadnamely, indigestion, or, as we indifferently call it, dyspepsia. Starved from want of nourishment, and poisoned by the products of food constantly decomposing in the stomach, her nervous system was thrown into wild disorder, and protested and cried out with the thrilling voice of pain. A PRESPEROUS FARMER. - Your correspondent had the pleasure a few days ago, of making a tour of the outbuildings of Mr. John Cullis, one of our most respected and prosperous farmers. Like many others, Mr. C. has gone extensively into stock raising, finding it more profitable than depending on grain, at the prices received for several years past. We were especially attracted to a new building 30x40 which is now under construction for the exclusive raising of hogs, and is being fitted up with every convenience and labor saving device, as Mr. Cullis intends going extensively into that line. The building, which has a stone foundation, was planned by Mr. John Willock.

TEMPERANCE MEETING. -At a mass meeting of the friends of temperance on Friday Road, considerable interest was shown in the cause of temperance. Great dissatisfaction was manifested with the meagre temperance reform proposed by the bill now before the Ontario legislature. The following resolution was carried unanimously: Whereas, the people of this province showed by a majority vote of nearly 82,000 that they were in favor of a prohibitory liquor law; whereas, the Ontario governand Hon. A. S. Hardy, committed themselves to carry out the mandate of the people so far as they had jurisdiction to do so; whereas, the amendments to the license law asked for by the temperance deputation of November last were admittedly within the jurisdiction of the Ontario legislature to enact;-Resolved, that we, members and adherents of Methodist church, Victoria Road circuit, assembled in mass meeting, desire to place upon record our disapproval and disappointment of the government to redeem their pledges. We shall watch with interest the stand taken upon the measure, and hereby pledge ourselves to stand by the prohibitionists of Ontario in their united effort to have the mandate of the people given in the plebiscite obeyed, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the secretary of the Dominion Alliance and also to our representatives in the Ontario legislature.

A TROUBLE THAT IS MAKING THE LIVES OF THOUSANDS

MISERABLE. It Brings in Its Train Nervousness, Pains in the Back and Side Head aches. Heart Palpitation and Results Fatally Where Efficacious Treatment is not Resorted to. From the Sussex, N. B., Record There are many ways in which people may prove benefactors of the human race. There are those who of their abundance spend large sums in erecting public buildings and beautifying public parks. Others spend their money in charitable work, and in alleviating the sufferings of less fortunate fellows, and for these acis these people are honored. The person who, having obtained relief from sickness and makes public the means by which health was regained, is none the less a public benefactor. Among these latter is Miss Elena O'Neill, daughter of Mr. Jas. O'Neil!, a well-to-do farmer living near Millstream, Kings Co., N. B Miss O'Neill was attacked with anaemia (poverty of the blood) a trouble unfor tunately too common among the young girls of the present day, and one which is certain to terminate fatally if not prompt ly checked, and the blood enriched and renewed. Having discovered a remed that will achieve this happy result, Mis O'Neill is willing that less fortunat sufferers may reap the benefit of her ex perience. To a correspondent of the Record, Miss O'Neill related the story ber illness and cure. She said: " believe that had I not begun the use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills my troub would have ended fatally. My illne came about so gradually that I can scard ly say when it began. The first sympton were a loss of color, and a feeling tiredness foll wing even moderate extion. Gradually I became as pale as corpse, and was extremely nervous. The I was attacked with a pain in the sig which daily grew more and more inten-I coughed a great deal and finally grew weak that if I went upstairs I had to re when I reached the top. My appet forsook me. I was subject to spells dizziness and severe headaches, and gradually wasting away until I lost interest in life. I had tried a number medicines but found no relief. In t apparently hopeless condition, wi reading a newspaper I saw a statement a young lady whose symptoms were alm identical with my oan, whose health been restored through the use of Williams' Pink Pills. This staten was so encouraging that I determi that I would try this medicine In
