> -The telegraphic despatches announce the death of Mr. James McCarroll of New York. Many years ago, in 1842 and after, Mr. McCarroll was editor of the Peterboro Chronicle and Despatch. He was afterwards connected with the Toronto press, and was a leading contributor to The Grumbler, a comic and satirical paper published over thirty years ago. Mr. Mc-Carroll was a man of fine talents, a clever prose writer, a poet of marked originality and power. He was witty and humorous, a talented musician, and a most genial companion. He was a frequent visitor to Lindsay in the earlier days, and a few of the older residents will remember him. He must have been about 75 years of age.

Who how talk of pneumatic tires and appoint safeties it is likely that Lindsay will possess a strong bloycle club this season. At present there are some ten or a dozen machines in the town, and a club should be formed at once so set to encourage the sport.

—All lovers of baseball are requested to assemble at the Simpson house Friday evening at eight o'clock to talk over the prospects for a club the coming season. There should be no difficulty in getting together a "nine" that will again place the Lindsay club in the van as champions of the Midland district.

The Boundary Bridges Question. The disputes which have existed between the counties of Victoria and Peterborough for the past thirteen years, respecting the maintainance of the Bobcaygeon bridges, resulting in litigation, have been settled by the legislative assembly. The Harvey Act passed in 1879, by which a small portion of the township of Harvey, in Peterborough, was annexed to the township of Verulam in Victoria, and which had the effect of placing the county boundary in the middle of Pigeon Lake, as interpreted by the courts, and consequently the whole expense of maintaining the Bobcaygeon bridges was thrown upon Victoria. The amendment to the bridges in dispute, and the Pigeon Creek floating bridge, by the two counties. In the event of the counties not agreeing as to the proportion each shall pay, the question is to be submitted to arbitration.

According to announcement Miss Phelps, the well-known Canadian temperance worker, lectured for the W. C. T. U. in the lecture room of Cambridge st Methodist church on Monday evening. The audience was good as to numbers and still better as to character, representing the cultured Christian life of the community. The lecture was worthy of the audience and worthy of any temperance occasion. It was accurate in historical statement, it was logical in argument and it was eloquent and earnest in uttersance.
