Fitzgerald of the Collegiate staff with reading a paper entitled "Light reading" at the high achool convention held in Toronto last week. It should have read "Sight reading," our error being due to a misprint in the Toronto papers. At the convention Mr. Reszin, P.S.I., West Victoria, read a paper on "The restriction of inexperienced teachers to the lowest grades of schools, as classified by the P. S. Inspector;" and Dr. Curry, P.S.I., Haliburton, discussed the "Evils of unequal taxation and the remedy sought." Miss Fitzgerald was elected a councilior of the Classical association.

Methodist society, was next called upon to read a paper on "The young Christian in society," the gist of the paper being strict attention to the pledge. "The young Christian's personal influence," was then read by Miss Bowen of the Christian Eudeavor, which was ably handled, and no doubt much good will result from a thoughtful perusal of this paper. Miss J. King read a brief but interesting paper on "The young Christian in the church." The conventor of the nominating committee, Mr. W. H. Coombs, read the report, which was finally adopted as follows: President, Rev. N. Hill; recording secretary, Miss H. Mimms; corresponding secretary, Mr. J. L.
