OBIT.—A deep gloom was thrown over the vicinity of Peniel upon learning of the somewhat sudden death of Dugal W. Carlehael, youngest son of Dancan Carmichael. The young man was ailing for some time past from a complication of diseases which ended fatally on Sunday evening, 22ad inst. Dugal was a model as well as a very popular young man and though very young left hosts of friends here and elsewhere to mourn their loss. All through his long and tedious illness he was never known to murmur or utter com-plaints. After finishing the first part of his education in Lindsay Collegiate Institute, where he was known as a particularly brillant and diligent student, he taught school for the short space of one year in the home school, s. s. KIRKFIELD.

A DENIAL - Dear Sir, - Whereas, some DISAPPOINTED.—Mr. R. C. Brandon was at the opera house, Lindsay, this week, attending the Patron convention, but I understand their captain, Mr. Haycock, failed to appear. This is the second time he failed to shew up. What is the matter? Surely he is not getting down-hearted already? But still, in this county, he may well feel down-hearted when he has such a hustler as the doctor to contend with.

Departure—I wonder when the Gleaner special prayer, and consulting friends, I Mrs. King and her husband were among the earliest pioneers of this township, having removed here from Newmarket in 1883, and settled on the homestead now owned and occupied by Mr. Alfred Webster, her husband dying many years ago. Mrs. King was a great sufferer for a long time. She had reached the mature age of 82 years...Mrs. Hadley, sister of Mr. Richard and Mr. John Ferguson, of this place, died at the residence of Mr. Josiah Janes on Thursday, 26th inst., aged 46. Mrs. Hadley had been in poor health for some time. She was buried at the Christian cemetery, Little Britain.

Mrs. King and her husband were among the earliest place, and her husband were among the earliest pioneers of this township, having removed here from Newmarket in 1883, and settled on the homestead now over it, but our boys came cut ahead all around.

Notes.—We are out of the snow once more, and business is booming as usual.

Roads now almost impassable.

Market.—There is some talk of establishing a Saturlay market here this spring. No doubt it would be a good thing, and our city fathers should wake up and get a suitable building for it. At present we have no place except the board of trade for such a market, and that is rather small and a little out of the way.

VISITORS.—Mrs. A. A. McLauchlin and shop door has never been locked on the inside since I became the occupant of the store. At first I thought I would just wisely live such reports down, but as they seems to be going the rourds, and into so many mouths, and not being able to fasten onto any person whom I could make it interesting for, I concluded it best to set the matter right in this way. Thanking the matter right in this way. Thanking you for this space, I remain, yours, THOS, PORRITT. Kirkfield, Mar. 30th, 1896.
