-Mr. Gec. Armstro g, cf Orillis, agent for the British & Foreign Bible Soc ety for the countles of Victoria and Simcoe, was in town Tuesday making a house to house cauvass. Mr. Armstrong informed us that last year the scc'ety turned out 1 000,000 more bibles than the year previous and now prints 13,000 per day for every working day in the year, in 325 languages. One seventh of that immense output goes to Russia. Copies of the bible are sold as low as 33, and many are given away to those who have not the money Mr. Armstrong is a former resident of this town, having been engaged in the milling business here many years ago. -Mr. Frank Jordan met with a very unpleasant experience last week and he was lucky to jescape more serious conse-quences. While driving towards Reaboro he came to a spot where a culvert crossed the road, but which was apparently covered a few inches deep by the water rushing through the opening. To his great surprise, when he urged his horse to cross the animal was swept off its feet instantly, and he realized at once that the roadway had been washed away by the rushing tor-rent. Jumping out of the buggy before it was upset he ran along the bank, guiding the horse by means of the rains, and eventually managed to pilot the beast ashore.

-Mr. W. J. Nott, the fearless Port Perry correspondent for the Whitby Chronicle, had a red-hot article in last week's issue on the subject of incendiary fires in that towr. He refers in very plain terms to a couple of recent instances where guilt was well established, and charges that the detective sent down from Toronto, being a friend of one of the parties, had his hand well "greased" and made no report. Mr. Nott also states that the great fire of 1884 was caused by a firebug, and of 42 fires that have occurred since, many have been of suspicious origin. It the charges are well-founded Port Perry citizens will speedily acquire a very unen-viable notoriety unless they take some steps to clear their skirts.
