REFORM MEETING.

We have been requested by the president of the reform association for South Victoria to announce that an informal meeting of the members of the party for Sonth Victoria will be held on Saturday, the 3rd day of June, proxo., at one o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the grand convention of the party from all over the Dominion, to be held at Ottawa on the 22nd of June following. We trust our friends will accept this invitation and as many as possible will make it convenient to attend, so as to make the selection of our representatives as general as possible. The Ottawa convention is expected, and no doubt will be one of the grandest political events in Dominion history. The The farmer can get relief; the mean enthusiasm and unanimity of the reform press upon the event is remarkable, and press upon the event is remarkable. the independent press of Canada regard appeals to prejudice. the occurrence with unusual interest. Let all who can come to Lindsay on the 3rd of June and meet in Hamilton's block, the old reform rooms.

A DISGUSTED TORY FARMER.

Under the appropriate heading of "A Warning to the Government" the Mail of Monday last publishes the following letter from "A Disgusted Farmer," who declares that he is and always has been a conservative, but that at the next election he and | error on the part of an audit clerk. his sons shall vote and work against the present Dominion government:

A DISCUSTED FARMER.

Our disgusted farmer's protest against the hole-and corner meetings with monopolists and red parlor men held by Messrs. Foster and Bowell is timely and wellframing of the the tariff by Mr. Foster and seven per cent interest upon his money, but the combinesters and railway monopolists consider themselves ruined if being is weak because too many cattle are coming interests have been promptly and hand-simply protected by the N. P. ministers.

TOURISTS,

Whether on pleasure bent or business should take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs. as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowel are there for. As an American would put it, the red parlor has "got the pull" on the monopolitical sense, and is quite by all leading druggists.

In the consulted as to the investor is usually satisfied with, five, six one extreme farly and in the combines of the combines of the combines of the same in the combines of the combines o safe to come out first, just as the American monopolists "got the pull" on the Republican party and secured the high protection known as the McKinley bill. Mr. Foster declares that he is going to stand by the "old policy," and he and his colleagues will endeavor to hide its enormities behind the "old flag." Some new delusion will be propounded, some new catchword will be invented, some new device will be brought out to protect the poor "infant industries" that the red parlor have patriotically brought into struggling existence; and the hard-worked and heavily taxed farmer and consumer will keep on bearing his wearisome burthens. If the farmers voted as one man against the monopolists and combinesters they could could "settle their hash" in one day; but too many will be misled by side issues and appeals to prejudice, cunningly devised in the interests of the combines, and will vote for a continuance of the policy that fosters combines. Our Ancaster friend is evidently a devout old tory, for it is only lately that he seems to have get "disgusted." He has seen light at last. His proposed remedy is the proper one, and it can be made efficacious. Let others of his state of mind come out in a manly, determined way, and in a very short time they can obtain the desired in the sidewalk with stones is not a safe measure of relief. We presume Disgusted Farmer" has been paying tribute to the combines ten or a dozen years. Would the red parlor man have quietly submitted to that kind of treatment for so long a period. He has been able to get what he wanted; he has had everything fixed up at the hole-and-corner meetings complained of; but if he had not would he have continued a patient COMMUNICATIONS. A Negligent Council. [To the Editor of The Post.] Sir, - Complaints are heard upon all sides in regard to the shocking condition of our sidewalks. It is useless to attempt publication of the different grievances. There is no doubt that the condition of the sidewalks is most dangerous. Already two accidents to old ladies have happened, and in one case, it is said, the accident is not unlikely to hasten the death of the injured woman, who has arrived at a very old age. Residents can testify to the fact that in the south ward, in the vicinity of the Roman Catholic church, huge holes are everywhere to be met with in the sidewalks, and it is exceedingly dangerous for pedestrians to walk out at night without a lantern. It may be said that words of this kind are ill-advised because they publish the degradation of our own town, but the reputation of Lindsay's sidewalks has become so extended that any words we may use are not likely to carry the information where it has not been before. Some of our citizens complain that the overseer is careless and inefficient, that complaints made to him are answered with a joke to the effect that the sidewalks were good enough. So far as this officer is concerned, whether he is competent or incompetent, it is unfair to lay the blame upon his shoulders unless he is given the material and the opportunities to do the work; but we certainly would suggest to him that the filling up of holes way of preventing accidents to padestrions.

O bers there are again who find fault with the chairman of the street and bridge committee. Complaints have been made that, when he is appealed to, his answer in the past hes been, "You must present a petition asking for the specific work re-Now, this is all wrong; it is ridiculous for the committee to shelter themselves behind petitions, and it is more than ridiculous to suppose that the committee would do upon a petition that which they would not do without a petition. The system is rotten. But what appears to me to be the most and devoted supporter of the government? | serious complaint made is that the councillors have been heard to say it would pay

Draw public attention to the dangerous condition of the sidewalks, so as not only to warn pedestrians to be careful but also to enable citizens who may hereafter be injured to show in a court of law that the attention of the authorities was called to the condition of our sidewalks

by "THE Post" newspaper.

Another complaint made is that while some our citizens are compelled to remove Mr. Clancy's still hunt for evidences of thus carry it away where it interferes with nobody, others are permitted to deposit the garbage and refuse on the roadways and besides the unsightly sight of burning gar-bage, and the disgusting odor therefrom, there are left upon the spot seeds of cafferent kinds which spread noxous weeds
