WILSON & WILSON, - PROPRIETORS.

ONTARIO DAIRY FARMING.

Princess and Premier may wed—at least dame rumor says that the Earl of Rosebery, the Grand Old Man's successor, and Princess Maud, the youngest daughter of the Prince of Wales, are engaged. The princess is by far the best looking of the three sisters, and would be considered quite pretty even did she not belong to the royal family. But, though 24 years of age, thoroughly well educated, a good rider and fencer, her most estimable quality and useful accomplishment is that she is as excellent a maker of butter as her mother. She comes honestly enough by that talent through her Danish mother—the little sea-girt kingdom in Northern Europe being justly famed as the home of the best butter-makers in the world. What a splendid example as a prospective wife the Princess Maud sets the young women of this great farming country.

It does not necessarily follow that every pretty girl who can make the best butter—even beat her mother at it—will catch a premier for a husband, though that would be none too good a thing to happen her, but her chances in the matrimonial market of getting a prize should and undoubtedly would be immeasurably increased.

Dairying—the making of butter and cheese—is the agricultural art above all others that modern science and invention, coupled with the distance-destroying steamship of to-day, have placed in the very fore-front as a profitable branch of farming in Ontario. Deep-set milk pans, power cream separators, the Babcock milk-tester, improved churns, new apparatus and processes for cheese-making, as well as a better system for packing butter for shipment to far away markets, not to mention minor details in which decided advancement has been made, have practically revolutionized the dairy business.

Then the slow but sure "breeding-up" process going on in the average milch cow of the province through judicious blendings with the best blood of well recognized milking strains of cattle, is an element of extraordinary value in estimating the present worth of this important branch of the greatest industry in the country.

The World's Columbian exposition at Chicago, with its swooping successes for Canadian dairying, is of enormous benefit to us in Ontario who will profit by the lessons taught thereby, and follow up the tremendous advantage such an advertisement as that was of the province's capabilities in the production of the finest butter and cheese.

It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that the 17th annual conventions of the two Dairymen's Associations, those of Eastern and Western Ontario, dealing with cheese making, and that of the Creameries Association of Ontario, covering the whole province in its scope as a gathering of butter-makers, should this year have been brighter and better than any ever held before.

This hopeful condition of things is evident to anyone who will look through the 240 clearly printed pages containing extended verbatim reports of the speeches made, the papers read and the interesting discussions thereon at these meetings, which has been published under authority of the minister of agriculture, Hon. John Dryden.

Incidental to the invaluable technical information for butter and cheese makers imparted by these expert dairymen in their essays, addresses and talks across the table, is a perfect treasure mine of general agricultural lore—useful knowledge to any farmer who wants to keep abreast of the times in his profession. The book will be found good reading by all who have at heart the welfare and progress of agriculture in Ontario.

All that has been said about the above publication as of especial interest to the farmers of Ontario just now is applicable with intensified relevence to another emanation from the same governmental source—a special bulletin dated Toronto, May 1st, 1894, entitled "Dairying in Ontario," prepared by the department of agriculture. A simple list of the questions treated in it with exhaustive care and minute exactness as to facts and figures, must suffice to what the appetite for this opportune and presently precious pamphlet. Here they are:

Have dairy products decreased in price in Ontario as much as grain?
Is dairying less exhaustive upon the soil than other methods of farming?
Is Ontario adapted to dairying?
Have the dairy exports of Canada been increasing or decreasing?
What about the exports from the United States?
With what countries other than the United States do we compete with in the British market?
In what way has Denmark got such a hold upon the British market?
What has been done in Ontario in the way of making butter in creameries?
What is the difference in price between different grades of butter?
Will the use of improved methods increase the quantity of butter?
Are there any other advantages in the co-operative system of butter or cheese-making?
What will be the cost of a factory, with plans for a centrifugal creamery, capacity 500 cows; or one on the cream-gathering principle with a capacity for 500 to 700 cows?
What will it cost to equip a factory?
What is the best way to start a factory or creamery?
What is the best method of conducting the business?
How may a dairy company become incorporated?
What acts have been passed by the Ontario legislature in regard to creameries and cheese factories?

Application to the department of agriculture, Toronto, will bring copies of these two publications by the Ontario government to all who will take the trouble to write on a postal postcard their names and address.

The committee are using their best endeavors to make this the most attractive anniversary of the season. See bills for particulars.

AT LAST.—The long disputed site for the new school-house in s. s. STOCK NOTES.—Mr. Richard Western, one of our most enterprising and progressive farmers in this locality, has added to his excellent herd of thoroughbred and grade cattle a pure-bred Durham bull from the justly celebrated herd of Wm. Shire, of Sunderland. This animal is pronounced by competent judges to be the best in the county. Mr. Western deserves the patronage of his neighbors in this enterprise.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received by Mrs. Moore, president; Mrs. Ham, treasurer; Mrs. Winter, secretary, or by any of the committee.

PALESTINE—ELDON.

[Special Correspondence of THE POST.]

AN EXPLANATION WANTED.—Mr. John Campbell, the patron candidate for West Victoria, is saying, when canvassing among the farmers, that he claimed a farmer should have been appointed to the registrarship of Victoria. At a recent political meeting, Mr. Campbell contended that a farmer should have been appointed to the registrarship. Dr. McKay stated in reply that he wanted the position given to a farmer, and recommended a farmer, when Mr. Campbell strongly opposed it because he wanted a near relative of his own appointed, who was not a farmer and who was not even a resident of the county. This charge Mr. Campbell flatly denied in the writer's hearing, and stated that Dr. McKay called him into his office, and then Mr. Campbell asked if A. C. Campbell could not be appointed, now Mr. Editor, there is a wide difference between the statements of the two candidates, and I, for one, would like to know the truth before I cast my vote at the coming election, as I have no more confidence in political men who tell falsehoods to further their own ends than in social falsifyers. I hope some person will explain this matter more fully, for we believe that the patron candidate, Mr. Campbell, is only trying to hoodwink the farmers so as to get their votes.

A. FARMER.

[Correspondence of THE POST.]

PERSONAL.—Miss Katie Holmes, Miss Annie Fraser, and Mr. John Holmes, of this place, paid a brief visit to friends at Cambray last Sunday.... Mr. John Moran and Master Archie McMillian, of this locality, enjoyed a pleasant visit with friends at Islay, Fenelon, last Sunday.

THINGS WE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW.—Where were Geo. K. and Rod. M. on Sunday last, and who did they see while attending church service in one of our southern hamlets when they gazed around?..... Who was the two young men from this community that drove south and east, on Sunday last, at a 2.40 gait? The last report heard of them was they were supposed to have been seen in the neighborhood of Cambray. Possibly are this time those young men may have returned to their native land, Palestine..... Who is the dangler of the community..... Who is the gentleman at Hartley that acts as general adviser for the county president of this new-fangled order known as the Patrons of Industry? John's head seems to be chuck-full of P. of I. knowledge just now. What about equal rights now, John? We have it in history that kingdoms rose and kingdoms fell, so the equal rights ere rose and fell, and now we have the Patrons of Industry, an order imported from across the American borders by a few disappointed office-seekers in both our two great political parties. But the order is like the mushroom—it springs up very fast throughout the country for a while, but having no backbone of its own, the intense heat of the great political sun at the present time is very hard on the tender plant..... What has happened our Sabbath school picnic that was to come off on the 24th of May? Who overturned the programme after the teacher had it arranged in full? It has been postponed for 375 days to give the committee sufficient time to prepare the tables for the occasion, and it is hoped that the committee appointed will make a first-class job of them by that time.

A IMPORTANT ERRAND.—Mr. William Tinney, of this place, left here on Tuesday morning, the 1st of May, for his native home, Valentia, Mariposa, on very important business. Nobody knew what William's business was until evening, when he returned home with one of Mariposa's fair daughters, in the person of Miss Mary J. Jordan, daughter of Mr. James Jordan, of Valentia, who volunteered to share William's joys and sorrows through life. We wish them many years of happiness and all the enjoyments a married life can bring them.

PREACHING.—The Rev. D. McDonald, of Glenarm, will (D. V.) preach in the schoolhouse here next Sabbath, in the afternoon at four o'clock. PRO BONO PUBLICO.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

—A World's fair Esquimau has made an elaborate pipe out of a walrus tusk as a gift for the president.

—Phil. Armour, of Chicago, denies that he intends to give $500,000 to found a school for manual training in San Francisco.

—Mrs. Hetty Green is more watched and dreaded in her ventures on the street than most of Wall-st. kings. She is reputed to be worth over $40,000,000.

—A tank of benzine exploded in the Akron Varnish Works Saturday last and the works were destroyed by fire. Loss $60,000. Two employees were killed.

—The past was a record-breaking week for suicides and homicides in New York. Since last Sunday there were eight suicides, and a dozen bodies of men were picked up in dark hallways and alleys. Deaths from casualties, such as falling from windows and accidental shooting, and from alcoholism, were unusually numerous.

—A Swiss lunatic, of the name of Tabottier, was left for half an hour in a hot bath at the Bicetre hospital, Paris, and was boiled to death. The man was subject to violent fits, and it had been the custom to fix him down in a warm bath in order to calm him. The hot water was turned on by mistake.

—A warrant was issued late Tuesday evening for the re-arrest of Dr. Ransome Andrews and his wife on a charge of malpractice, Nellie Lafontaine, a witness in the recent charge of murder brought against the same couple, being the victim. The Andrewses left town as soon as acquitted and are supposed to have gone to Buffalo. It is not likely they will be pursued.

—A shocking tragedy was enacted on Tuesday in Buffalo, when Eugene Brady, a young roofer residing on Vine-st., lost his reason and stabbed his mother to death with two butcher knives. He then sprang from a second-storey window, but escaped injury. It required the combined efforts of six policemen to shackle him and put him into a patrol waggon. Mrs. Brady only survived half an hour after the tragedy. Another woman named Kelly, who was also stabbed by the maniac, is in a critical condition. A man named Rice was also seriously stabbed.

—Rev. Dr. Talmage's new tabernacle, at the corner of Clinton and Greene avenues, Brooklyn, was burned Sunday. The Hotel Regent adjoining, and several dwelling houses in the vicinity, were also destroyed. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000. This is the third time Dr. Talmage has lost his church by fire. He was in the church when the fire started, surrounded by a number of his congregation, but all escaped. He was moved to tears as he witnessed the destruction of the edifice. Four firemen were injured during the fire, not fatally, however, and there were great excitement and scenes of panic as the fire progressed.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

A sitting of the high court of justice (without jury), opened at the court house here Monday last. Mr. Justice Street presiding. There were a number of cases on the calendar, but they were speedily disposed of. Following is a list:—

Neelands vs. Middleton—An action upon a mortgage. Trial enlarged until fall assizes. McIntyre & Stewart for plaintiff; Hopkins & Chisholm for defendants.

Ryan vs. Smith—An action on a promissory note. The debt was not disputed, but the defendant, who is a merchant at Prescott, contended that the time had been extended and that the action was brought too soon. Judgment for plaintiff for amount claimed. R. Bell, Toronto, for plaintiff; F. A. Knapp, Prescott, for defendant.

Bank of Toronto vs. Stevenson—An action by the Bank of Toronto to set aside an unjust preference, a mortgage made by the defendant Stevenson to the defendants, the Bank of Montreal, for securing $1'0,000. Trial enlarged to Toronto. F. D. Moore for the plaintiff; Allan S. Macdonell for the defendants, the Bank of Montreal.

Waterloo Manufacturing Co. vs. Fanell.—This action was brought to recover the possession of a threshing machine sold by the plaintiffs to one George Downey, who had given the usual lien notes in payment. The machine had been seized by the defendant for rent and sold, but had not been taken away by the purchaser. The plaintiffs contended that the sale was abortive, and that the defendant had converted the machine to his own use, which he could not lawfully do. The judgment was in favor of the defendant, with costs. Geo. H. Hutchison, of Waterloo, for the plaintiff; Hugh O'Leary, Q.C., for the defendant.

Hardy vs. Campbell.—An action from the county of Hastings to establish a claim against an important estate. Settled by the parties. E. Gus Porter, Belleville, and A. A. McDonald, Hastings, for plaintiff; R. C. Clute, Q. C., for defendant.

Glass vs. Glass.—This action was tried before Chief Justice Armour on the 27th of March. Judgment then reserved, has since been delivered in favor of the defendant Edward Glass, the judge having found upon the evidence that the bond and deed were not absolutely delivered, but were subject to the condition that the sale was not to be final until William Glass, son of the defendant, then in Manitoba, for whom the property was intended, should approve of the purchase. F. D. Moore for plaintiff; D. J. McIntyre, Q.C., for the defendants.

Cresswell vs. McConnell.—An action to recover possession of a dwelling house and lot at Bobcaygeon. The plaintiff's father owned the property and is said to have conveyed to one Kennedy by deed, which was lost. Kennedy conveyed to Jas. McConnell, sr., and about two years after that the plaintiff's father died, never having quit possession, and leaving his widow, the defendant, Mathew McConnell and three children in possession. Two years afterwards the defendant, Mathew McConnell, married the widow, his co-defendant, and all continued to reside upon the property. Afterwards, in 1890, James McConnell, sr., conveyed to trustees in trust for Martha McConnell until the Cresswell children became of age, and after that for the children. The plaintiff and his brother and sister continued to make their home with their mother on the property until their marriage; the plaintiff was the last to marry, and married in 1883. In 1892 the dwelling was burned and the plaintiff bought the shares of his brother and sister and rebuilt the house. The defendants disputed the plaintiff's title, and claimed title by possession. Judgment for plaintiff, with costs of suit, which defendants are to pay. McIntyre and Stewart for plaintiff; Moore and Jackson for defendants.

The Canadian Wool Clip for 1894.

The following circular, issued by Mr. John Hallam, of Toronto, a large dealer in wool, will prove of interest to our country readers:—

"With reference to the prospects of the coming clip of wool and the prices to be realized, there is nothing definitely known. The delay at Ottawa in settling the tariff on woollen goods has created an industrial uncertainty and a want of confidence in the future of the trade. The proposed change in the tariff from compound to purely ad valorem duties will seriously embarrass the tweed, blanket and yarn manufactories. They will not be able to successfully compete with the shoddy goods of Huddersfield and Dewsbury under the proposed change unless the government takes the duty off coal, machinery and other articles now taxed and used as raw material. This is having a very depressing effect on the price of our domestic wools and on the woollen trade in general. Home competition has reduced the price of Canadian tweeds, blankets and yarns to the lowest possible point, and if Canadian mills are subjected to the keen competition of these goods under an ad valorem duty with England, France and Germany where machinery and all raw material are free of duty, it simply means shutting up some of the mills. In my opinion this change in the tariff will only benefit the importing and ready-made clothing trade.

The passing of the Wilson bill will not affect the prices of Canadian wools as the domestic wools of the United States are now as low, if not lower than in Canada, but notwithstanding this, I am afraid there will be some speculation that may raise the price of our domestic wools beyond their present values, relying on the expectation that when the duties are taken off in the United States, the price will rise. The Americans are not changing their tariff on wools to give the Canadian wool growers more money for their clip, but simply to give the manufacturers of the United States free wool, at the lowest possible price in competition with English and foreign wool markets, and if the dealers and manufacturers through the country can only realize this fact, the clip of 1894 will be bought at fully 10 to 15 per cent. less than in 1893.

Most of the clip of 1893 is still in the hands of dealers and unsold. During the last twelve months large quantities of wool and sheepskins, the product of the United States, have found their way into Canada at prices much lower than our domestic wools and sheepskins could be sold for here. I would advise caution in buying the Canadian clip, as no money has been made out of Canadian wool for three or four years past.

The trend of the trade goes to show that the coming clip should be bought with more care and at the following prices:—

WASHED FLEECE WOOLS.

Combing Fleece, including Leicester, Cotswold and Oxford Down and all long haired bright wools	15 to 16
Pure Southdown free from tags and chaff	18 to 20
Shropshire of good sound staples	18 —
Fine clothing, wool	18
Rejections, including black, chaffy, and cotted wools	11 to 12

UNWASHED FLEECE WOOLS.

Leicester, Cotswold and other bright wool	8 to 9
Shropshire, good sound staple	10 to 11
Pure Southdown	11 to 12
