POINTERS FOR THE FARMERS Bicycle Shoes

THE SYLVESTER Agricultural Implement Works commenced operations in the year 1869, now nearly thirty years ago, and we are still energetically pushing on our work and yearly enlarging and increasing our facilities for the manufacture of our goods, so as to enable us to meet and satisfy the growing demand. The unscrupulous tactics of some combines in our line of manufactures, who have inspired their agents to prophecy the downfall, not orly of ourselves, but of others who, like us, refused to enter the combine, have not been successful in driving 13 to the wall. These tutored agents have gone so far as to shed hypocritical tears over the poor farmers who were buying implements from a firm from whom they. gould not be able to get the repairs, and who, according to their inspiration, must

This line of opposition is only worthy of mean men, and we leave them monopoly of such tactics. If the combine were ten times as strong we propose standing out and doing a legitimate business in our own way. The farmers of Canada know whether the combine was made in the interest of the farmer, or shether it was not rather to enable the combinesters to squeeze a larger price for the The opposition of a combine has given a healthy stimulus to our trade, and although competition is keen and prices cut fine we welcome fair rivalry. We trust to the excellence of our manufactured goods—a fair field and no favor; we meet competition by bestowing greater energy in making use of the most approved appliances, e xercising more rigid economy, and always giving to our farmer friends honest goods at honest prices. Our trade on these lines has grown and increased so that we are now in a position to furnish every line of agricultural implement of the very best qualities at a lower figure than ever before.

We herewith give you a few of the thousands of similar testimonials which we can produce to testify to the merits of our machines from the farmers who are using them throughout this and other provinces. If the coming season finds you in need of a Binder, Mower, Sulky Rake, Pea Harvester, or Plows, single or two-furrow, and you buy a Sylvester, you will be well-pleased with your selection. More than this, we predict you will bear testimony with the many others who are using them, that they are the best on the continent. It is in the actual work of the Machines themselves in the field that the right to this claim is exemplified :

Mr. G. W. Beall says he Obtained Goods From Him on False

Last Monday evening our citizens were greatly surprised to learn that Mr. Beverley Ross, a former well known resident for several years, had been arrested on the complaint of Mr. G. W. Beall, jeweller, on a charge of having obtained goods under false pretences. It seems that Mr. Ross arrived from Port Hope the pravious variety of styles. All grades his numerous friends in town, all of whom were glad to welcome him after an absence of some months from town. The arrest was made by County Constable Foster, and Mr. Ross refused ball, which

Hop-kins as counsel, and Mr. Ross by Mr. H. O'Leary, Q. C. Mr. Hopkins asked for an adjournment until Friday in order to allow the complainant time to procure necessary evidence. Magistrate MoIntyre offered cept $200 ball, but Mr. Ross refused, and was taken to gaol again in the evening. The case came up again this afternoon at 2 p.m. Mr. Beall told of Ross procuring a sett of knives and forks on May 10th. 1895, worth $21; on May 29th, a diamond ring worth $186; and on June 4th a gold | will regret to learn of the death of Mr. watch worth $20. than to say he had not procured the goods by means of false pretences. Magistrate McIntyre, in summing up, said he agreed with Mr. O'Leary that the grounds on which the case was brought were slim indeed. He felt like extending a word of warning to merchants not to give reckless young men credit for diamond rings and silver knives and forks, but the fact remained that the goods had not been paid for, and he felt compelled to commit the prisoner for trial at the next competent court.

LINDSAY PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Annual Report of the Secretary-Treas-To President and Members of the Lindsay Public Library:

The annual report of your Sec. Treas. for has decided to open out for himself on the year 1895 96 will be found to contain no very striking features of encouragement or discouragement. The library has been moving along the even tenor of its way, making progress in some directions and perhaps losing a little in others. The year has been one of considerable financial depression, which has affected us, as it has affected other institutions. Some of our members have dropped out and some have reduced the amount of their subscription. To balance this somewhat we have received saveral new members. The circulation of the books is considerably in increase of last year's report and covers a better variety of literature. In history and science especially, the circulation has been, for us, fairly satisfactory.

A better knowledge on the part of the publie of what good things our library contains will do much, I believe, to increase the circulation in the now somewhat neglected departments. Your directors have had several meetings, though probably too few. Various matters pertaining to the conduct of the library have been discussed. The principal business done has been the purchase of new books on two occasions, the furnishing of the periodicals, and the ordering of covers for the magazines in the Reading Room. Receipts. Jounty grant 50 60

A Wonderful Freak of Nature Mention was made in the Peterboro Examiner some weeks ago of a monstrosity in the shape of a calf which was secured by George Horkins near Campbeliford. The animal has just been mounted by taxidermist E combe, and it is said to be one of nature's strangest freaks. It was given birth to by a cow, and slightly resembles a calf in general appearance The legs, however, are those of a pig and being very short would never have been of sufficient length to support the animal if had lived, as they do not reach below the body. The fore legs are bowed like a bull--Several of the maples on the town | dog's and the face is emphatically emble matic of the bulldog, the snout being blunt and slightly turned up and the jaws would tend to improve very much the rounded. The advance has induced larger shipments from Canada of late, and we learn of considerable freight engagements by the first boats leaving this port, and if the market keeps steady a good export trade, at fairly profitable prices, will continue to be done. The fluctuations in the price of bacon in England during the past season have been as much as 3c to 31 per 1b from highest to lowest rates, which is something extraordinary when it is considered that previous to that 1 to 1 decline or advance was thought quite a loss or gain.
