but be the head, just as in the present council he is the promoter of everything from a simple motion to a committee of the whole on the second reading of the by-law to appoint a street overseer.

On the vote being taken the resolution was carried. Yes: Messrs. Crandell, Horn, Mallon and Wilson; nays, the balance of council.

What About the Market Pen? Moved by Coun. Mallon, seconded by Coun. Crandell, that the sanitary inspector instruct all parties having unlicensed pig-pens and stables abutting on the street to remove the same at once, -Carried.

Funds for the Mayor. On motion a further sum of $25 was placed at the disposal of Mayor Taylor for petty orders.

A Philanthropic Idea. Moved by Dep-reeve Wilson, seconded by Coun. Mallon, that this council consider the advisability of allowing the free use of vacant lots for the cultivation of potatoes by the poor of the town.

The Last Extension. Moved by Coun. Mallon, seconded by Coun. Crandell, that the time for the collection of outstanding 1897 taxes be extended to June 6th.-Carried.

Money Wasted on Streets. Coun. Burrows rose to a question of privilege. He said the street was making a vain effort to improve the streets, and was wasting money. The street leading to the gravel pit was a mass of earth and coal gravel, and he wished to enter an emphatic protest.

A Grave Occurrence. At this stage of the night's proceedings Coun. Mallon handed in a written resignation of his seat to acting mayor Smyth. In explaining his action he said one man in the chamber would be pleased to hear the step he had just taken.

Overseer Walker, interrupting: "I don't want Coun. Mallon mentioning my name, or I'll..." Mayor Smyth: "Let us have order."

Coun. Mallon went on to explain that last January every man in the council said "we must get rid of Walker as overseer, or we'll never get good work done." The chairman even then was in favor of doing so.

Coun. Crandell said the matter had been arranged in the council with eleven members of council present, and he was sorry to see a change of opinion.

Coun. Gilgoly: "The present company has always contended they were giving us light at a loss; if so, when we receive an offer from another company to give us double light for double the number of hours, and every night in the year instead of 300 nights, we should not hesitate to secure a contract for the longest term possible."

On motion Mr. White-Fraser was heard. He felt it a pity that the members of the council that when they were offered four times as good a contract as the present one they might consider their duty to the company that the present company last fall, and if we had done so where would we be now?"

Mr. Culverwell pointed out that in their first communication to the council they had solicited the contract in the light of a loan; if so, when we receive an offer from another company to give us double light for double the number of hours, and every night in the year instead of 300 nights, we should not hesitate to secure a contract for the longest term possible."

Mr. Burrows was requested to give his opinion. Personally he thought it would be a pity to hazard the success of the scheme by refusing to accept the longer term. The offer made to the town was very much more than could reasonably be expected, and was made partly because the power would be used at night when not wanted by other takers.

On motion the 10.30 adjournment rule was suspended. Coun. Horn: "There's no use having 55 lights if less will do. We get no benefits from lights away out in Ops township; by cutting them off we will save the town so much money."

Mr. Culverwell pointed out that at the committee meeting and all along he had been led to understand that the number of lights required would be 55, and the offer had been governed by that understanding.

Coun. Baldwin: "There'll be trouble if we cut off any lights. In the night light over worse than in town." This view was also concurred in by Dep-reeve Wilson in a speech that apparently captivated the audience.

Mr. Burrows: "If satisfactory to contractors I would like to see the number of lights placed at 45." Mr. Culverwell: "Make the number at least 40 gentlemen."

Coun. Burrows: "We are really haggling over a very small matter. We know that in the experience of other municipalities manufacturers follow cheap deals in personalities or I could make you ashamed."

Coun. Burrows: "No, you can't." Coun. Crandell: "Well, then, you're wrong even than I thought." To the council, Burrows originated this scheme and procured the signatures, but he has never given any interest as to the benefits to be gained. I do not want to think just as Burrows does-if I did I would be considered foolish.

The town has been as well governed for the past 25 or 30 years as any town in Canada, and the only exception being the matter of good roads, and we are now learning how to get the better. The town has been well looked after by twelve men and a mayor, and it is nonsense to say that seven will do better work. The promoter would not alone like to be one of the seven, but he is the promoter of everything from a simple motion to a committee of the whole on the second reading of the by-law to appoint a street overseer.
