In view of the recent agitation for a House of Refuge for Victoria County, the following item from the Orillia News-Letter, relative to the new Beeton institution may prove interesting: The exodus from the House of Refuge at Beeton continues and already there is probably not a man or woman about the place able to do farm labor of any kind. For many years there it was an injustice to put the poor in | rule for good and all, and hark back to ail and that a more congenial abode | the policy of Whiggery, tempered by Imshould be prepared for them. The governor is powerless to prevent them for as the law stands they can go and come when they like, and it is likely they will all come back again next winter. The question of the detention of inmates under conditions of work will be threshed out at the next meeting of the county council.

HERE'S A TIMELY WARNING

How to Fight Against the Coming Plague of Caterpillars

This section of the country, is again liable to a caterpillar piague. Pecestrians who walk about the outskirts of the town and through the country will notice that on most of the bushes by the roadside are the small white tents of these insect scourges. A closer inspection shows that each tent is filled with a crawling lump of small caterpillars, rapidly maturing, which | fringe in any way the sovereign rights of will strip and destroy an immense China or existing treaties, will not fail amount of vegetation in the next few

The danger is serious and the following circular from the Dominion entomologist at Ottawa will prove of great service to the people of this district: (To The Editor of The Post.)

Sir,-During the spring of 1897 and 1898 serious injury was done to forest, fruit and shade trees by the large Tent caterpillars, which in many parts of Canada stripped the trees of their foliage. Such people as tried remedies, as a rule, began the work much too late. The caterpillars are just now hatching from the bracelet-like eggclusters, which may be found on the twigs of trees and shrubs, where they were deposited jast July by the moths that came from the caterpillars, which did so much harm last spring.

Will you allow me to suggest to your readers the necessity of AT ONCE attending to this matter if they wish for the outrages at Szechuen, where a to save the foliage and fruit of their French mission was burned by Chinese

Remedy.-The proper remedy is to spray the trees at once with the following mixture: Paris green, 1 ounce; Quicklime, 1 ounce; Water, 10 gallons; There are two kinds of these Tent caterpillars. One spins a conspicuous white web in which the whole colony the tents may be cut off and the co!-

onies crushed under foot. Prempt attention to this matter is of great importance, not only to the owner of trees but to every citizen who has to put up with the inconvenience of having these caterpillars swarming everywhere as they did last year and the year before .- Yours, etc., JAMES FLETCHER

Former Liberal Leader's Appeal to Throw Home Rule Over.

The Earl's Remarks So Cryptic in Their Character That The Times Is at a Loss to Say Precisely What They Mean-Whiggery With Imperialistic Sauce Now the Program.

London, May 8 .- Politically, the feature of the week was the speech of the Earl of Rosebery before the London Liberal Club Friday evening. The speech part of the Earl, who expressed his desire for a revival of the old Liberal spirit that prevailed prior to 1886, and said that he regretted the division occasioned by the home rule question. His onslaught on "hideous political apathy" and his tracing of the decay of the Parliamentary Liberalism to home rule, it is thought, may be the forerunner of his return to the head of a united Liberal party. The stress which Lord Rosebery laid upon Imperialism has given the impression that he would be willing to give it home rule's place in the Liberal programme, quietly dropping home rule. Press Opinious,

The Times says that his remarks "were of so cryptic a character that plain men may conceivably feel somewhat at a loss to say precisely what they mean." The Standard says: "If we read Lord Rosebery's words aright, he decides that lot." home rule must be dropped, and that the The rebels have an outpost about a The Daily Telegraph says: "Whiggery Neither Major-General MacArthur nor afford some indication of the extraordinated from the Liberal party by three, as significant at the present juncture. things: Fear of extremes, home rule bogey and a dislike of Little Englandism. It asks what Chamberlain will do, since Rosebery now reverts absolutely to the position which Chamberlain deliberately adopted nearly 15 years ago. The Pall Mall Gazette says that Lord Rosebery tells the members of the party that "they have been all in the wrong, and that they must drop home perialism." The Globe applauds Lord Rosebery's ambition, defining it as "no less than to reconstitute the Liberal party

The Note Made Public-Yangtse Valley Recognized as British-Northern China Is Russian,

London, May 8.-A Parliamentary paper has been issued containing the identical notes exchanged between Great Britain and Russia relative to the spheres of influence in China. The preamble declares that "Great Britain and Russia, animated by a sincere desire to avoid in China all cause of conflict on the question where interests meet, and, taking into consideration economic and geographical gravation to certain parts of that Empire,

A second note, forming an addendum to the first, commences: "In order to complete the notes exchanged respecting partition of spheres for concessions for railways in China," and then proceeds to record an agreement regarding the Shanghai, Kuan & Newchwang Railway protecting rights acquired under the loan contract and providing that the railway must remain a Chinese line subject to the Central Government, and cannot be mortgaged or alienated to a non-Chinese company.

France Encroaching Again. London, May 8 .- A despatch from Shanghai to a local news agency says that the French claims for compensation for the outrages at Szechuen, where a fanatics and a number of missionaries were maltreated, comprise territory 33 miles wide along the Yangtsekiang. This demand, the despatch says, challenges British supremacy in the Yangtse Valley.
