We had a little excitement here on the evening of the 4th May, when Detective George H. Brown, county constable, marched from the railway station with two prisoners who had been arrested. The people thought he had Paroled. He placed his men in the lockup for the night, but on being examined by Col. Deacon they were found to be only ordinary tramps, who were sent on a freight train. They were sent to the county jail and fined $10 and costs, or ten days. Well done, Mr. Brown.
