LINDSAY, FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1893

THE MARTER HYPOCRISY EXPOSED.

The hypocrisy of the Marter move ment for prohibition taken up by the opposition in the local house was again demonstrated in the debate on the bill to take a plebiscite at the next municipal elections. The sudden zeal for the cause exhibited by Mr. Meredith and several of his followers excited a good deal suspicion and much more amusement as the debate on the original Marter proposition progressed, and the appearance of such well-known "champions of temperance" as Mr. E. F. Clarke, ex-mayor of Toronto, and one of Mr. Meredith's lieutenants, increased the hilarity and the suspicion. Why should anyone be so heartless as to insinuate that the hope of making some political capital influenced the change of base on the part of the opposition leaders? But somehow that idea spread abroad, and it is safe to assert that this sudden display of prohibition zeal has been the worst playing for effect ever attempted by the local opposition, and that it will result in a failure much more decided than the attempts of the last two general election campaigns when appeals were made to religious prejudices. "Marter prohibition" is less likely to catch votes than the Ross-Lynch bible cry; because the hypocrisy of the Marter-Meredith prohibition game is much more transparent. Everyone can see through go ahead," is the motto of the prudent

It is very odd that the proposed bill arranging for a plebiscite on the prohibition question should be opposed by the opposi- question. "Are you in favor of the tion in view of their new role. It seemed as if they had forgotten that they had "taken the pledge," as it were, and were determined to furnish another "frightful be decided, and the people can vote on example." It is under the existing sensible idea to have an expression of popular opinion on the question. All opposing instead of frankly supporting the proposal. His objection that it will be interjected into the municipal elections, and that municipal representatives will be elected on that issue instead of purely local issues, is not well taken. People may and to a large extent will vote on the prohibition question without special regard to municipal issues or except in so far as the composition of municipal councils may affect the question in connection with the administration of the license laws. This question is very often a leading issue in municipal elections; and in one form or another has been an issue for many years. We mean not the simple question of prohibition, but that of restricting and restraining the traffic, or of giving it pretty full swing and letting it go with an easy rein. Now, an opportunity is in sight for the people to pronounce for or against prohibition, and the earliest, most convenient and least expensive method is to take the vote at the municipal elections. Mr. Meredith's sudden harking back, his weakening as a prohibitionist, remind the public of a similar weakening in a recent general election when he started out on a vigorous anti-Rome and "No-popery" campaign, but, like Brother Foster, got a "moment of weakness" and admitted that he would not object to a little popery after all. Mr. Meredith and Mr. Clarke are harking back again, and the people have already "sized them up," just as they have "sized up" Mr. Marter, who as a temperance man is a worse fraud than Mr. Foster, though he has not made as much out of it in a political as well as a material sense. THE PROVINCIAL SESSION.

The session of the Ontario legislature was brought to a close last Saturday with the usual formal ceremonies. The long list of useful measures to which the royal assent was given shows that the session, though a short one, was by no means unimportant. The Mowat administration comes out with increased prestige and with stronger claims upon popular confidence and approval. Sir Cliver Mowat has led the ministerial forces with remarkable tact and ability, and has given the closest attention to all kinds of legislation brought before the house. Sir Oliver appeared to have renewed his youth in many ways, and has been exceedingly happy and resourceful in dealing with difficult questions.

The public accounts and general administration have stood the test of searching and minute investigation. The critics of the opposition could find no case of any kind. Mr. Clancy did indeed discover a discrepancy of two cents in two sets of accounts in the crown lands department that should have balanced, and for a few hours the outlook was very serious. The government were, however, able to avert a crisis; but it would not be surprising if that two cent question should be one of the leading issues of the next campaign. Mr. Hardy must brace up for the contest. The opposition attempt to make capital out of the Marter prohibition movement resulted in signal failure. The adoption of the Marter bill, in view of the uncertainty as to its constitutionality, would have been unwise in the true interests of temperance. "Be sure you're right, then legislator, and Sir Oliver Mowat has acted on this principle. The people will have an opportunity of expressing their views immediate prohibition of the importation. sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors as a beverage?' Before the ballot is taken the legal questions at stake will that one issue without regard to provincial, Dominion or municipal questions.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

All liberals should remember the meet ing for the appointment of delegates to the Ottawa convention on Saturday next at one o'clock sharp, in Hamilton's hall,

Dr. P. P. Burrows is being congratula ted by his many friends upon having been gazetted associate coroner for the county, and some there are who think that it is a tardy acknowledgement of his valuable services to the party in past years. This is not so, however-the worthy doctor was proffered the position long ago. but at the ime did not care to accept it. His services to the party entitle him to a position with more perquisites, and we hope he may

The Dundas Banner says: "While bonuses and bounties are being paid by the government at Ottawa for shipping and iron making, how is it that nobody thinks of offering a bonus to the farmers for growing wheat? The country could not ive without wheat, yet the farmer is the last person thought of, and in the matter of raising the revenue for carrying on the affairs of the country he has to shoulder the big end of the burden. If it is wort $2 in the shape of bounty for every ton o pig-iron made in the country -and this what the government pays—is it worth nothing a bushel in the way of bounty for the wheat the farmer grows? There never was a time when he got less for what he produces than now, the result being that his sons decline to remain on the farm. I the country can afford to pay $2 a ton in county for making iron why can it not pay 10 cents a bushel for growing wheat?"

Tuesday were confined to four loads of oats Hay and straw-The supply of hay was fair and the prices a little easier, 40 loads selling at $111to $12 for timothy, and $9 to $10 for clover;

a large attendance, though the quantity of cheese boarded was small, only 1,193 boxes, about a dozen selected factories. Curtis' bid of 910 was accepted, and two or three others took 91c. The rest of the board did not sell. A notice of motion was to the effect that the mem-bership fee to factories be 85 instead of $1 per year, the former figure to include the services of the instructor supplied by the Eastern Dairy-

MARK THIS WELL HOUSEKEPERS!

Profits in the Grocery business are small nowadays, and compet tion is keen-more so, perhaps than you are aware of.

One great difficulty the progressive merchant has to contend with is the slowness of buyers to recognize the advantage of buying the goods fresh-buying from a stock that is being constantly replenished Stale and inferior goods are sold over grocery counters as well as in the dry goods business, and the profit upon them is large.

We don't propose to read you a lecture upon the subject, but we do wish to impress upon you the fact than an experience of fifteen year in the grocery business has taught us that in the long run QUALITY recognized and appreciated by the general public.

When we say that our stock of General Groceries is FRESH and fully assorted in all lines, and that the prices are down to the lower notch compatible with a desire to pay our honest debts and gain what the world is said to owe every man-a living-we state a fact that will be readily believed by those who have traded with us in the past, and we stand ready to convince doubters.

TEAS AND COFFEES of the best brands are strong features of our business. We flatter ourselves that those who buy from us one will realize their mistake in not doing so sooner. The bouquet unapproachable.
