DEAR SIR, -Owing to the lateness of the season, we find many enquiries as to he difference in price of wool if it is nnwashed. No buyer cares to give more than half price for unwashed wool.

INTERESTING STORY OF LADY WELL KNOWN IN THE CITY.

After Two Years of Suffering She Has Fully Begained Her Health, and Tells Her Story That Others May be Benefitted-The Testimony of a Leading Druggist.

From the Hallfax Critic. Camille Flammarion, the great French astronomer, in his new story "Omega; or The last days of the world," which is now being published in the Cosmopolitan Magazine, gives the press of the future very hard hit. Whether or not the great astronomer may be right in his view of the press of the 24th century, one thing is certain, the world of to-day is more largely indebted to the press for efforts to promote the highest civilization, than to any other human agency. Great discoveries in all branches of scientific research are chronicled with a faithfulness that enables the multitudes to enjoy to the greatest extent the benefits according therefrom. The newspapers of our land have for many months past contained accounts of miraculous cures effected through the agency of that marvellous medicine known to the world as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. ## MARK THIS WELL HOUSEKEEPERS!

Profits in the Grocery business are small nowadays, and competition is keen-more so, perhaps than you are aware of.

One great difficulty the progressive merchant has to contend with is the slowness of buyers to recognize the advantage of buying their goods fresh-buying from a stock that is being constantly replenished Stale and inferior goods are sold over grocery counters as well as in the dry goods business, and the profit upon them is large. We don't propose to read you a lecture upon the subject, but we do wish to impress upon you the fact than an experience of fifteen years in the grocery business has taught us that in the long run QUALITY is recognized and appreciated by the general public. When we say that our stock of General Groceries is FRESH and fully assorted in all lines, and that the prices are down to the lowest notch compatible with a desire to pay our honest debts and gain what Grain and Stock Farms the world is said to owe every man-a living-we state a fact that will be readily believed by those who have traded with us in the past, and we stand ready to convince doubters.
