It cost the people of this country $4,441 during the last five years to supply the members of parliament with penknives. It is needless to point out that

The convicts in the Kingston penitentiary "protected" combine to the extent of 331,009 lbs. of binder twine last year. This is something. But our paternal government should extend the principle to other matters which affect the people.

Last year the gross debt of Canada was $304,690 814; this year it has been increased to $316,026,502. The next debt statement excludes many public works that bear no interest, and are not likely ever to prove remunerative. It is far too large. The country needs a change.

Sir Hibbert Tupper's protest against the voluminousness of the auditor-general's report is amusing, coming from a government that has printed 10,000 pages of the report of the labor commission, which wilderness of printing has not resulted in a solitary scrap of legislation in the interest of the working classes; from a governspectators that Hamilton made a mistake | ment which has, up to date, printed 8,000 pages of the report of the liquor commission, a still more useless expenditure -Stacey, on first base, dld some fine playing, and received great applause of printer's ink and printer's time.
