The Strong Men of Ops. [To the Editor of THE POST.]

SIR,-Will you kindly grant me space to say that I have heard it insinuated that the township of Mariposa contains five strong men who think they can outpull in a tug of war any five men to be found in the township of Ops. That is a mistakecapable of jerking the banner township men out of their boots, and propose that the contest take place at the agricultural park on jubilee day. [To the Editor of THE POST ] SIR,-In looking over the proceedings of the Ops council meeting I was much pleased to note the loyalty evinced by that august body in their resolution to purchase plank to lay down sidewalks in the vicinity of Reaboro by way of commemorating the sixtieth anniversary of her majesty's most illustrious reign. I rejoice to see loyal sentiment running so high, and hope that the council will see fit to further commemorate that event by fixing about fifteen rods of the leading Bobcaygeon road, between what is known as Goheen's corner and the residence of Mr. F. Porter, which has been miring the horses and rigs of this township for the past three years, compelling rigs to take the sides of the road, tearing every vestige of grass into shreds and not even leaving for the pedestrians of this locality the sidewalk which nature has so kindly provided for them .- Yours,
