All Kinds of LUMBER.

-WHEN IN NEED OF-LUMBER, SHINGLES,

LATH, BILL STUFF, LIME and WOOD

Mills at Bobeaygeon PFICE YARD, East end of

Canadian Bost. LINDSAY, FRIDAY, JULY 8, 1896,

By A. Cenan Devie, nice this dress is, papa. One feels so free in it. And isn't Clara charming? Ge to your room this instant and take t off!" thundered the doctor "I call t highly improper, and no daughter of mine shall wear it."

"Papa! Improper! Why it is the axact model of Mrs. Westmacott's." "I say it is improper. And yours also, Clara. Your conduct is really outrageous. You drive me out of the house. I am going to my club in town. I have no comfort or peace of mind in my own house. I will stand it no longer. I may be late tonight. I shall go to the British medical meeting. But when I return I shall hope to find that you have reconsidered your conduct, and that you have shaken yourself clear of the pernicious influences which have recently made such an alteration in your conduct." He seized his hat, slammed the dining room door, and a few minutes later they heard the crash of the big front gate.

"Victory, Clara, victory!" cried Ida, still pirouetting around the furniture. "Did you hear what he said? Pernicious influences! Don't you understand, Clara? Why do you sit there so pale and glum? Why don't you get up and dance?"

"Oh, I shall be so glad when it is over, Ida. I do hate to give him pain. Surely he has learned now that it is very unpleasant to spend one's life with reformers." "He has almost learned it, Clara. Just one more little lesson. We must not risk all at this last moment."

"What would you do, Ida? Oh, don't do anything too dreadful. I feel that we have gone too far already." "Oh, we can do it very nicely. You see we are both engaged, and that makes it very easy. Harold will do what you ask him, especially as you have told him the reason why, and my Charles will do it without even wanting to know the reason. New you know what Mrs. Westmacott thinks about the reserve of young ladies. Mere prudery, affectation and a relie of the dark ages of the Those were her words, were they not?" if what, then?"

"Well, new we must put it in practice. Wa ara raducing all her other views to practice, and we must not shirk this

"But what would you do? Oh, don't 199k so wicked, idal some avil little fairy, with your golden hair and mischievous eyes. I know that you are going to propose something

"We must give a little supper tonight." "We? A supper!"

"Why not? Young gentlemen give suppers. Why not young ladies?" "But whom shall we invite?" "Why, Harold and Charles, of course."

"And the admiral and Mrs. Hay Den. "Oh, no. That would be very old fashioned. We must keep up with the

"But what can we give them for sup-

"Oh, something with a nice, fast, rollicking, late at night kind of flavor to it. Let me see! Champagne, of course-and oysters. Oysters will do. In the novels all the naughty people take champagne and oysters. Besides, they won't need any cooking. How is your pocket money, Clara? "I have three pounds." "I have one. Four pounds. I have no idea how much champagne costs. Have you?"

"Not the slightest." "How many oysters does a man eat?" "I can't imagine." "I'll write and ask Charles. No, I won't. I'll ask Jane. Ring for her, Clara. She has been a cook and is sure to know." Jane, on being cross questioned, refused to commit herself beyond the statement that it depended upon the gentleman and also upon the oysters. The united experience of the kitchen, however, testified that three dozen was a fair pro-"Then we shall have eight dozen altogether," said Ida, jotting down all her requirements upon a sheet of paper, "And two pints of champagne. And some brown bread and vinegar and pepper. That's all, I think. It is not so very difficult to give a supper after all, is it, Clara?"

"I don't like it, Ida. It seems to me to be so very indelicate."

"But it is needed to clinch the matter. No, no, there is no drawing back now, nect the Westmacotts with the Hay Den-Clara, or we shall ruin everything. Papa is sure to come back with the 9:45. He will reach the door at 10. We must have everything ready for him. Now, just sit down at once and ask Harold to come at 9 o'clock, and I shall do the same to Charles."

of the plot. As to Charles, he was so two men, founded upon esteem and a accustomed to feminine eccentricity in community of tastes. the person of his aunt that the only absent, a red shaded lamp, a snowy cloth, Walker is doing something upon a pleasant little feast and the two whom | 'change." they would have chosen as their companions. A merrier party never met, his age who is doing so well. He's draw- increase in France, where exact reand the house rang with their laughter | ing ahead, I can tell you, ma'am. Some and their chatter.

"Good gracious! So it is! Now for our little tableau!" Ida pushed the champagne bottles obtrusively forward in the direction of the door and scattered oyster shells over the cloth.

"Have you your pipe, Charles?" "My pipe! Yes." "Then please an oke the New, don't argue about it, but do it, for you will ruin the effect otherwise." The large man drew out a red case and extracted a great yellow meerschaum, out of which a moment later he was puffing thick wreaths of smoke.

"That looks very nice and emancipated," said Ida, glancing round. "Now I shall lie on this sofa. So! Now, Charles, just sit here and throw your arm carelessly over the back of the sofs. No, don't stop smoking. I like it. Clara dear, put your feet upon the coal scuttle and do try to look a little dissipated. wish we could crown ourselves with sideboard. Oh, dear, here he is! I hear fresh voice a little snatch from a French enough new that that advice was unwise and that a world peopled with Mrs. soothing one. It was he who was himself to blame, and he was grieved by the thought that perhaps his hot words had troubled and saddened his two girls.

This fear, however, was soon dissipated. As he entered his hall he heard the voice of Ida uplifted in a rollicking ditty, and a very strong smell of tobacco was borne to his nostrils. He threw open the dining room door and stood aghast at the scene which met his eyes. The room was full of the blue wreaths of smoke, and the lamplight shone through the thin haze upon gold topped bottles, plates, napkins and a litter of oyster shells and cigarettes. Ida, flushed and excited, was reclining upon the settee, a wineglass at her elbow and a cigarette between her fingers, while Charles Westmacott sat beside her, with his arm thrown over the head of the sofa with the suggestion of a caress. On the other side of the room Clara was lounging in an armchair, with Harold beside her. both smoking and both with wineglasses beside them. The doctor stood speechless in the doorway, staring at the bacchanalian scene.

"Come in, papa, do!" cried Ida. "Won't you have a glass of champagne?"

"Pray excuse me," said her father coldly. "I feel that I am intruding. I did not know that you were entertaining. Perhaps you will kindly let me know when you have finished. You will find me in my study." He ignored the two young men completely, and closing the door retired, deeply hurt and mortified, to his room. A quarter of an hour afterward he heard the door slam, and his two daughters came to announce that the guests were gone.

"Guests! Whose guests?" he cried an-"What is the meaning of this ex-

"We have been giving a little supper, They were our guests.' from indeed!" the doctor laughed sareastically. "You think it right, then, to entertain young bachelers late at night, to smoke and drink with them, to sh that I should ever have lived to blush for my own daughters! I thank God that your dear mother never saw the 'Dearest papa," cried Clara, throwing her arms about him. "Do not be angry with us. if you understood all, you would see there is no harm in it." "No harm, miss! Who is the best judge of that?" "Mrs. Westmacott," suggested Ida

The doctor sprang from his chair "Confound Mrs. Westmacott!" he cried, striking frenziedly into the air with his hands. "Am I to hear of nothing but this woman? Is she to confront me at every turn? I will endure it no longer."

"But it was your wish, papa." "Then I will tell you now what my second and wiser wish is, and we shall see if you will obey it as you have the

"Of course we will, papa." "Then my wish is that you should forget these odious notions which you have imbibed, that you should dress and act as you used to do before ever you saw this woman, and that in future you confine your intercourse with her to such civilities as are necessary between neighbors."

"We are to give up Mrs. Westmacott?" "Or give up me." "Oh, dear dad, how can you say anything so cruel," cried Ida, burrowing her towsy, golden hair into her father's shirt front, while Clara pressed her cheek against his whiskers. "Of course we shall give her up if you prefer it."

"Of course we shall, papa." The doctor patted the two caressing heads. "These are my own two girls again," he cried. "It has been my fault as much as yours. I have been astray, and you have followed me in my error. It was only by seeing your mistake that I have become conscious of my own. Let us set it aside and neither say nor think anything more about it."

CHAPTER XI.

A BOLT FROM THE BLUE. So by the cleverness of two girls a dark cloud was thinned away and turned into sunshine. Over one of them, alas, another cloud was gathering which could not be so easily dispersed. Of these three households which fate had thrown together two had already been united by ties of love. It was destined, however, that a bond of another sort should con-

Between the admiral and the widow a very cordial feeling had existed since the day when the old seaman had hauled down his flag and changed his opinions, granting to the yachtswoman all that he had refused to the reformer. His own The two invitations were dispatched, frank and downright nature respected received and accepted. Harold was the same qualities in his neighbor, and a already a confident, and he understood friendship sprang up between them which that this was some further development | was more like that which exists between

"By the way, admiral," said Mrs. thing which could surprise him would Westmacott one morning as they walked be a rigid observance of etiquette. At | together down to the station, "I under-9 o'clock they entered the dining room of stand that this boy of yours in the inter-No. 2, to find the master of the house vals of paying his devotions to Miss

"Yes, ma'am, and there is no man of craze has now become universal. The of those that started with him are hull "It is 8 minutes to 10," cried Clara down astern now. He touched his £500 last year, and before he's 80 he'll be making the four figures." "The reason I asked is that I have small investments to make myself from time to time, and my present broker is a rascal. I should be very glad to do it through your son." To be Continued.]

Harold had lit a cigar, and both the girls | Efforts to Embarrass the New Marine Cove, Nfld. Government.

swarming at the Capital and Urging Fight to a Finish - Where the Liberals Made a Mit-CobdensCiub and Canadian Elections.

Ottawa, June 28 - Conservative mem continue to flock to Ottawa, Charles Tupper does not assemble them in room No. 16 and vote through the supplies. The wisdom of the Opposition last session in refusing to vote supplies for the fiscal year beginning had Sir Charles Tupper would hav hung on to office until the middle of the next winter. As it is, some of the Government supporters are urging the Government not to resign until the House meets. Sir Charles Tupper is too experienced a public man not to give in to the argument of public convenience, which stands out strong against such a course. The whole public service would suffer, and not only that, but every member of Parliament would be greatly inconvenienced, and the new and the country would be put to the expense of paying $5000 a day for a Parliament that would have to stand round with its hands in its pockets for two weeks while the new Ministers were being re-elected.

The Cabinet met yesterday and made a number of new appointments and superannuations. Mr. Webster, who is Hon. J. F. Wood's law partner in Brockville, has been apointed Chief Clerk in the Customs Department, a position kept vacant for three years. AS VIEWED IN GREAT BRITAIN.

The Canadian Election Described as a Godsend to the Cobden Club.

New York, June 28 .- Mr. Isaac N. Ford cables from London to The Tribune: The Canadian election was a godsend for the Cobden Club, which celebrated the 50th anniversary of the repeal of the corn laws by a dinner at the Ship Hotel, Greenwich. It gave Chairman Leonard Courtney his only source of consolation. In the course of a long and melancholy speech, in Mr. Chamberlain's zollverein scheme was assailed as an invention enemy of Cobdenism, Sir Charles Tupper was described as a false guide, who had inspired the Ottawa Conference and had attempted to show the way to unite the empire by surrendering free trade, but now hat the election has been held it was lear that Canada was not at his back: ir. Courtney regarded the election as a special Providence on behalf osais as double faced. With free trade the one side and protection on the strain, attacking the zollyerein scheme and denying that free trade had been in any sense a failure. Lord Kimberley also spoke of the ustoms union with colonies as an astounding proposal from a responsible minister and one that was utterly im-The assemblage at dinner was large, with many distinguished guests. But for an anniversary celebration it was gloomy and depressing affair. Nearly all the speakers were on the defensive explaining why Cobden's predictions had been falsified and the Deace millennium had been indefinitely postponed. They also united in denouncing Mr. Chamberlain's plan and revealed their consciousness of the destructive blow which he has dealt to the cause of English free trade.

WILL APPEAL TO ROME.

Quecec Liberals Will Protest to the Pope Against the Hierarchy.

Montreal, June 28 .- (Special.) -- Your correspondent has learned that the leading Liberals of the province contemplate sending a delegate to Rome with a view to have a decision from the Vatican regarding clerical influence in this country. It is also stated that Hon. Wilfrid Laurier is not stranger to this movement, which will no doubt create a stir in ecclesiastical circles. Little has been heard from the Liberals with regard to undue influence in Quebec Province since Mgr. Conroy was sent to Canada by Pope Leo XIII. to propagate the doctrine that a man can be a Liberal as the term implies here in Canada and still be considered a good Catholic. However. Hon. Mr. Laurier's friends declare that the action of Mgr. Lafleche and other members of the Roman Catholic clergy during the recent electoral campaign renders an appeal to Rome at the present time an absolute

A French-Canadian gentleman speaking to the writer yesterday, said: You cannot find very much fault with us. We have never had a French Premier at Ottawa since Confederation, and when the situation became ripe for action we took advantage of the opportunity and put a compatriot in the highest office in Canada. If you had a brother in serious danger and your clergyman was also in danger which would you seek to save first? You would naturally save your brother first, and that is just what we have done. With Mr. Laurier as Premier the Roman Catholics consider that justice is at least as certain to the minority in Manitoba as with a leader of any other creed or nationality, and with us the national feeling is stronger than our religion. Besides, Mr. Laurier is a good Catholic and the church is not likely to suffer.' Le Reveil, the successor of The Canada Review is overjoyed at the result of the election, claiming that liberty has triumphed over mande-ments, bulls and episcopal threats. The fate of clerical tyranny is sealed in this province, says Le Reveil.

There Are Now 322,000 Bicycles in Use in the French Republic on Which Taxes Are Paid.

New York, June 28 .- A London special says: Recent facts and figures from all parts of Europe prove that the bike turns are collected, is typical Three years ago, when the tax on cycles was first levied, the number in the country was 120,000. Last year the total had exactly doubled. When the estimates for 1896 were drawn up the financial officials deemed justified the calculation that there would be 40,000 additional bicycles. It turns out that through your son."

"It is very kind of you. ma'am. His is 322,000, or 202,000 more than the

Steamer Capulet Wrecked at

Effects-All on Board Taken off in the Lifeboats - Picked Up by a Fishing Behooner After Drifting Some Time. St. John, N.B., June 24.-The British bows and tearing out her bettom, and she would be at total wreck. The greatest confusion prevailed when the steamer struck, and the female passengers in the first cahin, 18 in number, were badly frightened. Most of them were suffering from seasickness and had retired to their berths and fled to the deck, attired only in their sleep-

As soon as the nature of the disaster was learned a box of rockets was carried to the ship's bridge for the pur- 17. "Well done, thou good and faithpose of signalling for assistance. A ful servant." The sermon treated of shipwrecked Norwegian captain, who the authority exercised by the miniswas among the pasengers, took it up- try, and why God had given an episally set fire to the whole lot, which explcded, inflicting dangerous wounds upon the Norwegian and seriously injuring four of the other passengers. The explosion also dismantled the bridge, tore a hole in the deck and nearly destroyed a lifeboat. Eventually order was restored and four lifeboats were launched.

The women passengers were stowed in the first and the crew and the rest of the passengers in the other three, and as soon as all on board had been taken from the steamer the boats pushed off. The passengers saved nothing but the clothing they wore. Only nine bags of mail matter were saved of the 63 on board. All the bags containing letters and registered parcels were lost. This mail constituted a fortnight's accumulations-the whole of the American and Canadian mail for the entire Island of Newfoundland. The loss is practically a colonial calamity, as it will seriously hamper business. Large sums of money, including remittances fromNewfoundland emigrants to relatives at home, were included in the mail. The snip's company were out of the vessel within three minutes after she struck. The tog was intense, but the sea was fairly open when the boats left her, and the cargo was being washed out by the waves. The boats cruised about seeking some place to land, but the whole cipitous the citrs in many places ing 20 ofeet high, and the surf breakther at their feet made landing impos-After two : hours, rowing two assengers, bleut Bartlett Stitish Mays, and a man named Tayof of Hallfax, swam ashers in a cove search for a landing place. aund it impassible to get sparated and traveled away from each Sther, fellowing the top of the rocks the boats, which drifted seaward, wind being off land. At nightfall boats sighted the Here, which took them on board and conveyed them to St. Mary's, reaching place at midnight. Mr. Taylor, one of the men who swam ashore, atter tramping several hours, found a fisherman, and they started for a search for Mr. Bartlett. Mr. Taylor and his guide then started for Mary's to report the wreck and seek assistance, having found Bartlett, who agreed to remain on watch and endeavor to sight the boats or procure help for them from passing craft. Taylor walked 15 miles to his destination, reaching there just as the other passengers and the crew were all night and followed his companion,

The steamer Grand Lake left here Tuesday and reached St. Mary's at midnight. She embarked the party there and sailed for the scene of the wreck, which was rached at daybreak this morning. Captain Ellis, who is overseeing the salvage operations, reported to-day that the ship was fast breaking to pieces, and that the cargo was floating ashore. The Grand Lake continued to Placentia and transferred the shipwrecked passengers to a train, by which they reached St. John's at 5 o'clock this afternoon, The passengers are in a wretched plight, especially the ladies, several of whom were bound on European tours, which they will be forced to abandon, owing to the loss of their wardrobes. passengers and crew regard the loss f the vessel at midday on a calm sea as inexcusable and seafaring men of the vicinity concur in this opinion, Public feeling is very strong over the loss of the mails, which, according to most of the persons aboard the steamer, could easily have been saved. The Capulet was owned by Bowring & Co. of St. John's, and was worth between $75,000 and $100,000. She left Hallfax last Saturday night, carrying 35 passengers and 32 crew. Captain Ellis has ad 30 years' experience as a shipmasand this is the only vessel he ever lost. Marine cove is a perfect grave. yard for steamers, a large number having been lost there in recent years.

Bedy of the Veteran Hunter Found Floating in Lake Niptssing is Still Unidentifled-Religious Monomaniac.

North Bay, June 26.-On June 4, a man 70 years of age registered at the Queen's Hotel as James Peters, Toronto. On Monday, the 22nd, his body was found floating in Lake Nipissing. The clothing was good. He had a lax gold watch and a hunting outfit, also a tent and necessary utensils for camping out. The only means of identification, if such they can be called, was a card of welcome to a Bible class that was held on Sunday mornings at 11 a.m. in Shaftesbury Hall, room D. On a scrap of paper found in his pocket with the card were written a number of phrases, from the Bible, among them: "Flee into the mountains," "The church in the wilderness." When the body was found the over coat pockets were full of stones and there was a severe contusion over the right eye. This led some to believe that he was a victim of foul play, and Coroner Doran held an inquest, which was adjourned. Station Agent Mo-Keown testified that the man's baggage had been checked from Brace-bridge to Callender on May 30, and from Callender to North Bay on June L. The remains have not yet been identi-

Waterloo, June 25.-About 12 o'clock Waterloo, June 25.—About 12 o'clock last night Mr. Thomas Harris died very suddenly of apoplexy at his boarding place, the Zimmerman House. Deceased was 66 years old and a bachelor, coming from England a great many years ago. He settled in Galt, where he was assistant in the postofice. He afterwards came to Waterloo with Joseph E. Seagram, M.P., as his assistant bookkeeper, a position he has faithfully held for 23 years. BISHOP OF NIAGARA.

The New Prelate Consecrated in St. James Cathedral, Toronto, With Impressive Coremonies, Toronto, June 25.

Yesterday in St. James' Cathedral was witnessed a gathering such as has not been within its walls since that dreary winter day almost 29 years ago when the remains of Bishop Strachan were laid to rest.

sadness in their joy, for, though they were gladdened at the mark of confidence expressed by the Diocese of Niagara in electing Canon DuMoulin as its Bishop, they could not but feel sorry that the gain of Niagara would be a great loss to the congregation of St. James', where for nearly is years Among the clergy present were the Most Reverend Archbishop Lewis of Ontario, the bishops of Toronto, Huron, representatives were: Messrs. Rud from Niagara; Hon. G. W. Allan, R. N. Gooch, Lieut.-Col. Grasett, D. Kemp

Very Rev. Dean Carmichael of Montreal, who took as his text Luke xix., be "leaders of thought, moulders of thought, fathers in God.' Turning towards the bishop-elect, the eloquent dean thus concluded his sermon: "Brother, friend and companion of more than 30 years, what shall I say to you? Over our friendship not a single cloud has ever flecked its way. What can I say? Nothing. As men rudely and to-day. The whole heart of the church goes with you, its love, its prayers, its praises. Every hope that brother man can give brother man goes with you; every prayer is made for you. Father in God, leader, guide, the church salutes you. All hearts salute you. All the faithful in the church of God salute you. May God fill all your needs for Jesus Christ's sake." Then followed the rest of the consecration service, the Litany being intoned by the Venerable Archdeacon Jones It was beautifully done, and the whole scene was touching and so'emn; the vast building filled with a kneeling multitude, and no other sound than that of the clergyman as he uttered the petitions; then came the musical response, "We beseech Thee to hear us.

The prayer of consecration followed. his knees the Bishop of Niagara, The ommunion office was partly choral, he singing being exceptionally good: The service came to an end at 1:05. and immediately afterwards the Archbishop had to leave for Kingston.

Bandiston, Ofe., June 25 -A section was recently discharged from the cire: Ballway and Navigation Boad, illied Airs. Hansy, keeper of the sec-Boarding car, and her resterday and then committed suicide. It is supposed he committed the crime for revenge, suspecting the woman was responsible for his timent of an old lady to her grandchild Mabel. And many a Mabel has found it to be true, and she has taken care of her health She keeps on hand a supply of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prewasting diseases, weaknesses, "dragging-down" sensations and functional irregu-'Favorite Prescription' contains no alcohol to inebriate; no syrup or sugar to derange digestion. As peculiar in its remedial results as in its composition. As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, particularly to the womb and its appendages. For feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Payorite Prescription is unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic. A Book of 1000 pages, telling how to cure these diseases by home-treatment, sent FREE on receipt of 31 cents in stamps to prepay postage and duty only. This book is profusely illustrated with wood-cuts and colored plates, also with a vast number of reproduced photographs of those cured by the use of "Favorite Prescription" and without having to go through the ordeal of consulting a doctor. Full names and addresses are given so you can correspond and learn their experiences in curing themselves. Address, with stamps, WORLD's DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y. Mrs. Jos. G. Col-Lins, (P. O. Box 187) of Alfred Centre, Allegany Co., N. Y., writes: "I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription it helped me more than all the other medicines that I had taken. Had been sick for four months with feet without any fore taking 'Favorite hardly get around at all. 'I hope this state-ment will benefit others."

Pain Killer.

Family Medicine of the Age. Taken Internally, It Cures Diarrhosa, Cramp, and Pain In the Stomach, Sore Throat, Sudden Colds, Used Externally, It Cures Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Sprains, Toothache, Pain in the Face, Neuralgia, umatism, Frosted Feet. No article over attained to such unbounded popularity.—Salem Observer.

We can bear testimony to the efficacy of the PainIller. We have seen its magic effects in soothing the everest pain, and know it to be a good article.—Oncinnati Dispatch.

Nothing has yet surpassed the Pain-Killer, which is the most valuable family medicine now in use,—Zennesses Occurs.

Organ,
It has real merit; as a means of removing pain, no medicine has acquired a reputation equal to Perry Davis' Pain-Killer,—Newport News.

Beware of imitations. Buy only the genuine "Perry Davis." Sold everywhere; large bottles, 25c. Very Large Bottles, 50c.

What is Castoria.

CASTORIA

PRACTICALLY PERFECT PREPARATION FOR CHILDREN'S COMPLAINTS. C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A

Hurley & Brady.

HOT WEATHER WANTS!

For the Home Picnic, Camp or Excursion !

During the past few seasons we have developed a large trade in supplying the wants of picnic and excursion parties, and this season we have made exceptional preparations for the outing class.

We would not bother printing the list given below did we not know that the quality of the goods is firstclass, while the price is such that we believe few can equal. Then again we pay particular attention to the packing and securing of all orders, and they are sure to arrive at their destination in good shape.

NOTE THE LIST

Canned Lobsters,

Canned Salmon,

Canned Oysters,

Canned Mackeral,

Canned Beef, Potted Tongue, Potted Ham, Cooked Ham, Lunch Tongue, Chicken, Duck, Turkey.

Kippered Herring. Preserved Bloaters,

Canned Sardines, Canned Corn. Canned Peas, Canned Tomatoes. Canned Pork and Beans Canned Fresh Herring, Canned Fruit, all kinds.

Canned Go'den Haddie, Pickles of all Kinds. Parties leaving their orders for any of the above will receive very liberal treatment-so good that they will be sure to send their friends.

HURLEY & BRADY

Family Grocers, East of the Benson House, Lindsay.

James Reith

Get your orchards sprayed and double your fruit harvest by getting the best Spray Pump

Get the Leader Churn. Acknowledged to be the Best Churn in the market

AT KEITH'S.

Also Seeds of all Kinds and Colors KEITH'S 'FEED STORE, William-st., Linosay

The Post.

THE POST JOB DEPARTMENT.

Orders neatly and promptly executed. Estimates an samples sent by mail when so required.

The cream purest Nor cod-liver of hypophosp adapted to weakest di -Almost a palatable a

Two Stres 80 cen COTT & BOWNE, Pablishers'

THE CANADIAN PO $1.00 PER 1 REMEWALS. -It is always both

CHANGE OF ADDRESS -Always and your new address when y

LINDSAY, FRIDAY,

ever seet memorable field. The Laurier arrived. The to stir the heart of paigner of the lot. hearing the speeches than half could see they were there to c and well they did it. Mr. Laurier stood knowledgments for a fore the enthusiasm to enable him to spe

pressed his gratitude

nificent reception, he terms to some of tho Richard Cartwright, Ethier, Mr. McShane others. Having recal the other provinces, the Province of Que duty most nobly. It elected 16 Conservati als. (Applause.) The en its place at the federation. We mu The fight was bitte bitter it was the m should be in the hot have now a difficult Our farming interes ebb; business is star tries are flat, and w question to settle. B ness, judgment and all these difficulties after the other. As tion, people are tired wobbling of the Gove confident that by ma the generosity and the Manitoba Govern ceed in restoring to rights which they h of. (Cheers.) As to only say that our C will have nothing not revolutionists-

(Applause.) We wi

notice to the parti

that they will not from one state to s day begins a new day all Canadians, of origin, creed or r oyal subjects of H ook ahead to the f

ada of ours, not to bec, not to the futy to the future of th from one end to the ous cheering.) SIR RICHARD Sir Richard Carty with another roar said that on this hearts from one en to the other were b n thirty eve thirty-five year he never had the thard,"I am the l of citizens of a fr that the result of th cressing such an e "On the present of from Ontario to the from the days of the present time, th have never shown thoroughly worthy day,or with a bette to no ordinary deg those foolish prejud the past divided Er Catholic from Prosileve there never in Canada more of the canada mor