The Canadian Lost. IINDSAY, FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1897.

BE CAREFUL WITH THAT LAMP!

I sincerely hope that Mrs. Filmer has abandoned the custom of keeping an oil lamp burning in her room of nights. She does not say what the necessity was, but I trust it no longer exists. If possible to avoid it, no light should burn in a room whorein people are sleeping. The reasons ought to be plain enough, yet we all need lessons in common caution. This lady had hers, and was fortunate in coming out of the affair as well as she did.

Writing about it she says: "It was in the summer of 1886, not long after the death of my husband. I had been used to keeping an oil lamp burning in my room for convenience during the night. One night I accidentally overturned the lamp, and a blaze kindled in an instant. Terrifled half out of my wits, I sprang from bed, seized the burning articles and ran downstairs with them just in time to prevent further disaster. Happily for me, I escaped with sligght burns, but not from consequences of another kind.

"The fright and shock quite prostrated me. Do what I would, after the danger was all over, I was unable to banish the subject from my thoughte. My nerves appetite failed, and I had so relish for my ordinary food. There was a bad taste in my mouth, headache, distress after eating, loss of flash and ambition, with a disposition to worry and frat over things which, when I was well, had no influence with me whatever. I sought to build up my strength with beaf tea and other nutritious and digestible forms of diet, without suc-

"The doctors whom I consulted said was suffering from nervous debility and day, 21st June. After a sumptuous couple of large boxes of fish, having enweakness. They gave me prescriptions, wedding breakfast at the village the happy which the chemist made up for me; but they had no effect, and what I suffered I the train and spent their "Jubilee" in a have no words to tell you. My health appeared to have been all broken up suddenly, as a railway train goes to pleces in a collision. Month after month I struggled with this strange allment, but could find | prosperity in all their efforts. no remedy to relieve me. Not until January, 1887, did I see my way out of the trouble which followed my adventure of

"At that time (January, 1887), I chanced to come upon a little book about Mother Seigel's Syrup as a cure for indigestion and dyspepsia and the complaints attending it. Letters that were printed in that book from others who had been cured by this remedy, gave me confidence, and I got a bottle from Mr. J. H. Brown, patent medicine dealer, 15 High Street, Margate. After taking it I felt decidedly better. I could est and digest needed food; my nerves were more und r control, and l got better sleep and rest. I will merely add that, feeling sure that Mother Seigel's Syrup was helping me, I continued to take t, and eventually recovered my health. For this I thank Mother Saigel's Syrup; and if you think so singular an experience one, you have my consent to publish it. (Signed) (Mrs.) C. L. Filmer, Thanet Cottage, Drapers Road, Margate, July 24th,

Now I invite the reader's attention to a double fact: First (as is daily shown in these articles), that indigestion will disorder and disease the nervous system; new type, at THE Post. Call and see and (second), that a violent shock to the | samples. nervous system will produce indigestion of a profound and intractable type. The latter fact is illustrated by the case we are now considering. There is no space here to treat of it at length. Lat it auffice for the present that, either way, the remedy must be addressed to the digestion-not to the nerves. No competent physician treats a so-called "nervous" disease as a nervous disease. He seeks for the location of the evil force, which is commonly the stomach; corrects that if he can, and The assessment is reasonable. The leaves the nerves to right themselves, as they always do. This is what Mother Seigel's Syrup did for Mrs. Filmer, and will do for you, in case (which Provide co letter was forwarded to a member of the forbid), you are ever overshrown in like Jubilee committee :

Take it Easy. There ain't no use o' sorrowin' 'Ith trouble 'at we're borrowin', Distress is mighty sure to cling To them 'at court that sort o' thing. But if we will drive care away We can, an' that's jest why I say There ain't no use o' sorrowin' Ith trouble 'at we're borrowin'.

There' no excuse fer worryin', There ain't no use in hurryin', We ain't got very fur to go An' might as well jest take it slow An' laugh, an' sing along the way An' 'joy ourselves, far, as I say, There's no excuse for worryin', There ain't no use in hurryin'.

"The only one of them," said Sir Mackenzie Bowell, speaking of the nest of traiters who undermined him, "with whom I have passed the time of day since I have been in Ottawa is Sir Charles Tupper, with whom I spoke on one occasion ; I have no leader in the house of commons to direct me, and more particularly the gentleman who is now leader of the opposition." The old man is not so for-Johnson used to say that he dearly loved a good hater. Perhaps he wants the party to call him back to the leadership.

Never have we handled a Tea that gave the all-round satisfaction of the Kolona brand. We recognized its excellence and took the sole agency, and we're not sorry. The Tea possesses a magnificent boquet, is formed of selected, well-cured leaves, and was picked by white-uniformed Indian laborers. Those who have seen the Chinese tea-pickers at work say the sight is not a pleasant one.

We carry other good brands besides Kolona, don't forget. We aim to suit all tastes, and offer the best for the money in every instance. We wouldn't be justified in calling this a Family Supply Store unless we kept many lines They're all leaders.
