> red last Saturday afternoon. After taking dinner the three little sons of Mr. A. E. Kennedy set out to go fishing at the upper wharf. They played and fished at the wharf for some time, when Edgar, always a lively little chap, slipped off the wharf and fell in the water three feet below. Charlie shouted to Fred, who at that moment was in the park some distance away, and hanging to the wharf, lowered imself to reach his brother with his feet. Charlie having but one hand was at such a disadvantage that he was quickly pulled in. There he struggled bravely to save himself and Edgar, who was too young to swim. Fred got over just in time to give his hand to Charlie and get him out, but little Edgar had gone under. They ran home and gave the slarm, and a number of people hastily arrived on the spot. Some half dozen commenced diving, among them the unhappy father, and in about fifteen minutes the little fellow was wharf. Drs. Bonnell and Baker tried the usual means for resuscitation, but without The little fellow was buried on Sunday, and the parents have the sympathy of the neighborhood.

-Below we publish the list of successful candidates who wrote at the Lindsay Collegiate Institute at the recent July examinations for the First Form examination. These candidates are required to make thirty-three per cent. in each subject and fifty per cent. on the total; those making over sixty-seven per cent. are entitled to honors. The number passed from Lindsay places our school among the very first in the province, and we learn that the number is very nearly as large as in the opinion of the staff of the Institute had any fair chance of passing. We ask of these young people to accept of our hearty congratula-tions on so nobly sustaining the good name of our school, and we wish them as great
