A hardly contested baseball match took place on the Agricultural park, Thursday, 14th Sept., between the Dukes of Toronto, and the Cobourg team, which resulted in a victory for Cobourg by a score of 8 to 12.

Mr. A. Honny, G. N. W. Telegraph Co. line-man, is making extensive improvements to the residence lately purchased by him from Mr. Edward Lawder. A stone foundation is being built underneath, and the interior is being remodelled. It will be a very comfortable dwelling when all the repairs are completed.

That portion of Glenora-st. reaching from Lindsay to Williams-st. will next year be the handiwork of the contractor in town. Mr. Orde, Mr. Irwin, Rev. Mr. Marsh and Mr. Flood are now boulevarding in front of their premises, and the other property-owners on the street will fall into line in good time for next season. Lined on both sides with handsome rows of maples, and with velvet boulevards extending out some twelve feet, the street should prove an inspiration to property owners in other portions of the town.

Chancery Sittings. ENGLISH VS. TRIDALL.—This was the only case set down for trial at these sittings, held here on Monday, the 11th inst. The action was brought by Mrs. English and Mrs. Mitchell for the recovery of legacies bequeathed them under the will of Thomas English, late of the village of Omemee. By the will, after the testator's real and personal estate was devised to certain trustees, to hold for certain named purposes, among others to hold the lands for the benefit of Henry English during his lifetime and, after his death, for the benefit of his infant son absolutely, one subject, however, to the payment of the above legacies. Henry English took possession of the lands and rented the same and collected part of the rent, but failed to pay the legacies to Mrs. English and Mrs. Mitchell. It was contended on behalf of the plaintiffs it was contended that although the plaintiffs were entitled to their legacies, they could only enforce payment of the same out of the lands of the testator, and that upon his death at any time the lands were freed from the above legacies. On the part of the defendants it was contended that on failure of payment of the legacies at the time directed by the will, they were entitled to have the lands sold to make good the same to them. From the peculiar wording of the will the trustees asked the court to determine the true intent of the testator in the dispute between these parties. Judgment reserved. Moore & Jackson for the plaintiffs; W. B. Moore for the defendants; McIntyre & Stewart for Henry English; and J. A. Barrow for the infant defendant.

General Sporting Notes. —The famous racehorse Lamplighter was knocked down at auction in New York last week for the small sum of $25,000.

The world's pole vaulting record has again been broken—this time by Theodore Buchholz, of Philadelphia, who cleared 27 feet 2 inch. The best previous record was 26 feet 5 3/8 in.

At Springfield, Mass., on Monday last, Zimmerman, the champion cyclist, made a mile with a flying start in 2:01 3/5, a second faster than the record; Meljoris, the Australian, then made three miles in 6:45; four miles in 8:37 3/5; and five miles in 11:09 3/5, lowering the record for each distance.

Directum. "The black whirlwind" from California, on Fleetwood Park course, New York, last week, broke the world's stallion record, beat all four-year old figures, and went ahead of all marks given to trotters of five years old, and one half of his mile was the fastest ever trotted by any horse on any track. He is three-year-old.

The Kingston Whig gets off the following trenchant criticism:—"The Midland lacrosse league has fizzled out. It started off with great promise, but trickery, ringers and jealousy have killed it. The latest development has been the suspension of the Uxbridge team (which is undoubtedly superior to any of the others), for the offence of which all the other teams as well (with perhaps the exception of Whitley) have been guilty. Whitley thus wins the championship, but not by superior ability—by conspiracy and default. The whole season's work is no credit to any team in the league; every one of them has been guilty of acts which would bring the blush of shame to the cheek of any true, respectable sportsman."

RECEIPTS. Produced from the laxative and nutritious juice of California figs, combined with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds and headaches, and curing habitual constipation.

SALE REGISTER. THURSDAY, SEPT. 28th.—By Elias Bowas, auctioneer, valuable farm stock and implements belonging to the estate of the late J. R. Scott, Fenelon. Sale on the premises, S. E. cor. lot 11, com. 1, at one o'clock sharp. The stock includes three horses and four head of cattle. Terms, favorable.

Henry English took possession of the lands and rented the same and collected part of the rent, but failed to pay the legacies to Mrs. English and Mrs. Mitchell. It was contended on behalf of the plaintiffs it was contended that although the plaintiffs were entitled to their legacies, they could only enforce payment of the same out of the lands of the testator, and that upon his death at any time the lands were freed from the above legacies. On the part of the defendants it was contended that on failure of payment of the legacies at the time directed by the will, they were entitled to have the lands sold to make good the same to them. From the peculiar wording of the will the trustees asked the court to determine the true intent of the testator in the dispute between these parties. Judgment reserved. Moore & Jackson for the plaintiffs; W. B. Moore for the defendants; McIntyre & Stewart for Henry English; and J. A. Barrow for the infant defendant.
