the placard and later in the day similar placards were placed on the pedestal, all of which were greeted with cheers. Throngs of hero worshippers gathered near the statue last evening and there was much enthusiasm displayed, which proves the deep hold Gen. Gordon had on the hearts of the people.

HER MAJESTY'S SOLEMN WORDS

A City's Royal Welcome to a Royal Little Lady-Industrial and Military Display Witnessed by 200,000 People With Glad Acclaim-The Burgomaster's Address - Scene of Great Festivity.

Amsterdam, Sept. 6 .- Beginning at early dawn yesterday vast crowds of people gathered in the streets, which were lavishly decorated, in anticipation of the entry of Queen Wilhelmina. The weather was bright and trains from the provinces brought thousands of visitors to the city. The stands which had been erected along the route of the procession were packed early, as was also the Damplatz. The route to the Royal Palace was lined by 35 workingmen's unions and 11 military associations, the latter comprising veterans of 1830-31 and other retired soldiers the number of 5,000. The Damplatz, the high bridge over the Amstol, the principal canals and the streets through which the Queen passed were adorned with festoons and triumphal arches. One of the most elaborate of these decorations was prepared during last winter, the work giving employment to four hundred men. A striking feature in this was a representation of Admiral De Rueyter's old flagship, the Peace.

All the Houses Draped. All the houses surrounding the Damplatz were literally covered with gay draperies and natural flewers which extended from the ground to the roof. Burgomaster's Welcome. When the young Queen arrived at the railway station in the afternoon the Burgomaster delivered an address of welcome, to which Her Majesty replied: "For a long time past I have been looking forward to this moment, which is the most solemn of my life." After Burgomaster Van Denhoven, Governor of the Province of Northern Holland, had offered the province's homage, in the course of his speech referring to the ties that for more than three centuries had bound the province and the House of Orange, the Queen replied briefly, saying: "I am happy that the great day has arrived." The Queen then briefly addressed the Washington, Sept. 2 .- News has been received here of an action brought by Senor Don Juan Du Bosc, who was secretary to the Spanish Legation at Washington prior to the declaration of war, against the Earl of Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada, for his expulsion from Canadian soil.

Du Bose is now in London, and charges the Canadian Governor-General with abuse of authority in expelling him from Canadian soil, as he was in Canada simply as a Spanish subject, a private person, and, therefore, amenable only to the civil laws, none of which he is charged with breaking, and also reparation from the British Government in the sum of $500,000. Colonial Secretary Chamberlain has not filed his answer to the suit. Track Layer Killed.

St. George, Ont., Sept. 6 .- John Hur ley, a track layer, was instantly killed here yesterday. He was working on the G.T.R. Grand River bridge drawing spikes with a heavy crowbar. The First Week of the Quebec Conference Devoted to the Work-Chances of Reciprocal Trade.

Quebec, Sept. 8 .- The first phase of the conference at Quebec ended yesterday afternoon, when the commissioners dispersed to reassemble again on the 20th. The sitting was a short one, and at its slose the usual statement that things are progressing to the satisfaction of the commissioners was made with the customary smile. All that is certainly known in regard to the seven days' work done by the commissione. 3 is that the general question of the relations of the two countries and the points of difference between them has been thoroughly discussed, and a basis laid for action when the commission reassembles.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has carried out his expressed intention of talking over the whole case before trying to settle any one point at issue, and the work so far done has been almost entirely educational.

The trade question is the one to which most attention seems to be paid south of the line, and the American commissioners have during the present week been subjected to precisely the same sort of influence that is so much in evidence when tariff legislation is up at Washington. The lobbyist is here in force and does not confine his efforts to formal hearings. It is gratifying to observe that on the presant occasion the field is not left entirely to the protected manufacturers who object to any lowering of the tariff walls, Millions of Americans who never before gave Canadian questions a thought have been informed through the press despatches that Chambers of Commerce, representing over 20,000 American merchants, have passed resolutions calling tor reciprocity with Canada. The American mechanic will learn with some surprise that Canada is the second best market he has got for his manufactures. and will think over the emphatic declaration of the Boston delegates, that Canada is too important a market to lose by un-Mr. Dingley is probably the only one

If he did he has been thoroughly undeceived. and understands now that a demand for the repeal of the preferential tariff would be regarded by the Canadian and British commissioners as an impertinence and a signal for the breaking up of the conference. Senator Fairbanks is the specially trusted representative of President McKinley at Quebec, and it is no secret that he has been thoroughly impressed with the strength of the Canadian case, especially in regard to trade relations. He will go to Washington and make a report to the President on the work of the commission, and it does not seem improbable that his report will lead the Administration in the right direction. With the Administration in the right direction, with the trade returns before them and the possibility of Canadian trade hostility in event of Dingleyism being maintained in its present uncompromising form, the Cabinet at Washington will probably authorize the representatives when they return to Quebec to agree to a limited reciprocity schedule, embracing articles that will not interfere with the preferential principle. There are a good many lines of imports of manufactures in which Great Britain and the United States are not competitors. The American commissioners, with the exception of Mr. Foster, who goes to Toronto, will go home; Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Arthabaskaville; Lord Herschell to New York, and the Postmaster-General to Toronto.

I could get no relief from my trouble and was on the point of giving up my job when I happened to hear of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I purchased a bottle of this medicine and a vial of Hood's Pilis and began taking them. Before I had half finished them I was relieved and it was not long before I was completely cured.
